LAST WEEK We inserted from the Sackville Post a story of the adventure of Mrs. Johnston, or Dawson, the wife of the 'two cent barber.' Since then we from Sackville, Dawson tried to per suade the woman to go with him Gaspe where he expected to get employ ment with his brother. She refused however, declaring her intention of re-turning to the Island. After bidding Dawson and three of the children good-bye, she left them at Painsec Junction and took the train for Point du Chene, and took the train for Point du Chene, accompanied by the youngest child, Sharpe's. Instead of crossing to the Island, however, she again took the train and started for Sussex to find her first lover, Sharpe. She said she intended to get money there and go to Boston.

Within the last three weeks we have received more complaints from country subscribers not receiving their papers than in the whole preceding twelve months. The bundle of Henanes postod last Wednesday evening for John-ston's River, had not arrived up to yesterday, and subscribers from that section called at our office this morning to enquire the reason and to receive th to enquire the reason and to receive the papers. This is very annoying. We strive to send our papers regularly to all our patrons by the first mail after publication, and they will certainly not hold us responsible for their safe carriage after we deposit them in the Charictetown Post Office.
