FROM THE CHURCH TO LITERATURE. In his new position Mr. Kegan Paul strove hard to improve the condition of the church.

Other books, such as "The Nun," by Mrs. Sherwood, and the tale, "Father Clement," meant to inspire him with a horror of Catholic practices.

But the little church was not always to escape unscathed. One of the Ursuline nuns prophesied that it would be ultimately burned by the British, who would finally conquer, and, in the bombardment of Quebec by Wolfe's batteries in 1758, it severely suffered.

The old church was the oldest in the city, and was situated in the market-place, but covered with all the superstitious devotion of the habitants.

The pious veneration, like the creed, of these simple-minded people is the same to-day as it was before the British conquest of Canada.

There are men who, by the grace of God, have in them a natural and ingrained purity of soul, a fervor and earnestness of heart, which preserve them in ignorance of the world.
