Charles O'Regan was killed in St. John, N.B., Monday evening, while engaged in a boxing match with Fred Morthrop.

At River John, N.S., Monday, Pearl Thomas, fourteen years old, was almost burned to death. While standing by the kitchen stove her clothing caught fire. Her father who extinguished the fire was also seriously injured by burning.

Through the upsetting of a lamp at her house in Montreal, Monday morning Mr. Louis Cadron was so badly burned that she died a few hours later. Her husband who endeavored to rescue her was terribly burned. The woman was preparing her husband's breakfast at the time.

It is stated by the Patriot that the plans for the new railway station for Charlottetown have been received by Superintendent Sharp. The proposed building is to be three stories with modern fittings and appliances. It is to be erected on the corner of Weymouth and Water Street (east side), opposite the present station. It is to have a frontage of 118 feet on Weymouth Street, and 43 feet on Water Street.

Mr. A. Wright of Toronto, who is one of the Canadian vessel owners of the great lakes, has written to the Railway Commission, Ottawa, complaining of what he terms an intolerable situation at the Georgian Bay Railway terminals with regard to the movement of east-bound grain traffic. He complains of a shortage and discrimination in favor of American grain. Elevators are full and the railway facilities are insufficient to keep the grain moving.

An Ottawa despatch of Friday says: The department of militia is advised by the War Office that the control of the militia garrison will be handed over to the Canadian authorities on November 15th. There have been annoying delays in bringing this about, but it is understood to be now finally settled and Canada will be in control on the date mentioned. Some of the Canadian Infantry are waiting service since the first of July. The War Office moves slowly.

We extend to Mr. and Mrs. John Sinnett of St. Peter's Harbor, our warmest congratulations on the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage, which they celebrated on Thursday last. They were surrounded on the occasion by all the surviving members of their family except one son, who is in the Northwest. Their son, Rev. Dr. Sinnett, Secretary to the Apostolic Delegate, Ottawa, was present on the joyous occasion. The guests included, the pastor of St. Joseph's, Rev. A. J. McIntyre, and Rev. Mr. Mr. Doyle and Rev. Dr. Monaghan.

Mr. McNamara, the Canadian Commissioner at Manchester, reports to Ottawa the arrival of 95,628 barrels of Canadian apples at Liverpool to October 7, against 127,650 barrels last year. They are bringing prices greatly in excess of last year, which is natural, owing to the comparative failure of the English crop and the decline in foreign arrivals. The Canadian apples have been examined by Mr. McNamara at the auction warehouse, and he reported them of good quality, well packed and properly guarded.

On Thursday evening last a bad stabbing affair took place on Pleasant Road near Carleton Place. The parties implicated are John Aban McDonald, about sixty years of age, and his son Murdoch, about thirty. It appears that there has been bad blood between them for some time and the father had been away in Boston. He recently returned and was staying with a daughter, Mrs. Peter Nicholson. There was some kind of a frolic at Nicholson's, and the father stabbed the son several times, inflicting severe, if not fatal wounds. The father was arrested and brought before a magistrate, when he was remanded for trial and sent to Georgetown jail.

A sad and fatal accident occurred in this city about three o'clock Saturday afternoon, by which Mr. Joseph Taylor, carpenter, lost his life. Mr. Joseph Taylor was a carpenter by trade, and although over eighty years of age was in the enjoyment of good health, and was quite content. He was engaged in doing some work on the roof of Mr. Alfred Laro's house, Mrs. Laro being his daughter, when the staging gave way and he fell down the roof and to the ground, a distance of about 25 feet. He was instantly killed. Deceased had been for many years sanitary officer of this city. He leaves to mourn, besides a widow and one daughter, Mrs. Laro, six sons, of whom Mr. James D. Taylor, bookseller of this city, is one.

Mr. John F. Robertson, a well known and respected resident of this city died of apoplexy on Wednesday evening last, 29th, in the 65th year of his age. He was well known for many years as the managing partner of the firm of James Danon & Co., in the days when shipping was an active industry in this Province. He was for a time a representative of the Belfast district in the Legislature and also a member of the Dominion Government. He leaves to mourn a widow and one son, a member of the faculty of the University of McGill, Montreal, besides four brothers, and three sisters.

"I need not tell you that we have learned something in the course of journey from the Atlantic to the Pacific," said the eminent English jurist, Sir Frederick Pollock, Bart., to a large gathering of the members of the Montreal Board of Trade the other day, "I think we should be exceedingly conceited or stupid people if we had not learned a good deal, and one of the things we have learned is that for various political reasons I need not now discuss, the time is not ripe for the formation of a new body to be styled an Imperial Council to have a definite official character."

The last meeting of the Cheese Road was held on Friday last with a fair attendance of salesmen. The buyers were Messrs. Spiller, Biffin, and Horne Harnard. The following bulletins were read: Montreal, steady; Montreal 11 to 11½; Montreal western, 11½ to 11¾; Hamilton 11 3/8. The following factories boarded: Stanley Bridge 200, Lakeville 100, Red Point 64, New Glasgow 185, Union 110, Kensington 100, Red House 80. All were sold with the exception of New Glasgow to R.E. Spiller at 11 7/8. The small number of factories contributing to the board was then referred to, and Messrs. Spiller and Biffin declared that they would pay board fees, and hoped that other buyers would do the same. Votes of thanks were tendered the chairman, Laurence MacDonald and the salesmen for their satisfactory work during the year.

LOCAL AND OTHER ITEMS.

The writ for the Fort Augustus election has been issued. Nomination on the 15th, last, and polling on the 22nd.

Dr. Oswald the famous Boston surgeon was stricken with paralysis while performing an operation yesterday and is not likely to live.

There was not a large market yesterday, and prices were the same as last week, except pork which was a shade higher. The price was 7½, as shown in the price list.

Robert Laird Borden, Esq., Leader of the Opposition was banqueted at the Halifax Club last Monday night by the Bar Society on the occasion of his final leave taking from the Province before going to Ottawa where he will reside permanently in future. The banquet was a happy affair.

Rev. Father Strubbe, of the Redemptorist Congregation, and pastor of St. Ann's Church, Montreal, died on Thursday last. Deceased was well known here, as he had taken part in two missions given by the Redemptorists in the old St. Dunstan's Cathedral.

Dr. Fraser will be in Georgetown Nov. 6th to 9th. All dental work attended to. His office in Montague will be closed all that week.

The officers of the Caledonia Club for the coming year, elected at the regular monthly meeting last evening are: Chief—Alexander MacDonald; President—James Paton; 1st Vice—James Calder; 2nd Vice—Archibald MacKay; Treasurer—John MacEachern; Financial Sec.—John MacEachern; Recording Sec.—D. R. MacLennan; Corresponding Sec.—Alex. MacLeod; Pipes—Peter Ferguson. It was decided to hold the usual soiree on St. Andrew's Day, and a committee to make the necessary arrangements was appointed.

The Government cable steamer Tyrant arrived at Sydney last Saturday night with the news of a fatal explosion that occurred on the steamer while off Cape North early Saturday morning. A plug in one of the boiler tubes blew out, filling the engine and boiler rooms with steam and gas. Fireman Patrick Purcell and trimmer Patrick McGrath were engaged in cleaning out the fire at the time of the blow-out, and before leaping to the deck were horribly scalded. After consuming about seven hours in making temporary repairs to the boiler, Capt. O'Leary headed the steamer for Sydney at full speed. Purcell encountered while the steamer was coming into dock and McGrath died Sunday morning. Purcell was sixty years old and McGrath forty. Both were Halifax men. In this connection a Sydney despatch of yesterday's date says: All the firemen and trimmers on the steamer Tyrant on board of which the fatal explosion occurred on Saturday refused to go to sea in the steamer unless the damaged boiler was proved safe by a competent inspector. Several of the men left the vessel and Captain O'Leary wired to Halifax for instructions as to what course he will pursue. The repairs to the damaged boiler will not be completed before Wednesday.

Revolution in Russia.

The Whole Country on the Verge of Civil War

St. Petersburg, Oct. 27.—That the present situation cannot end without bloodshed is the conviction prevailing in the higher government circles which from moment to moment are expecting a conflict between the troops and the revolutionists in St. Petersburg and news of trouble in the provinces, especially at Kharkoff, which has been declared in a state of war. The governor of Kiev has been instructed to take all necessary measures to restore order which the local government and the commander of the troops are unable to maintain. One of the most prominent members of the emperor's council received the Associated Press to day and said with every evidence of deep emotion:

"The situation is a grievous and a painful one and I see no way out of it except by the employment of armed force. Please do not misunderstand me. I look upon the prospect with tears, but it is becoming more and more evident that the troops will be compelled to fire. I can see no other possible outcome. The revolutionists and terrorists are absolutely bent on forcing a conflict upon us and nothing we can do will satisfy them. The extension of the suffrage and the right of assembling will be nothing to them. They are determined to have bloodshed and we cannot avoid the issue. It is a frightful disease from which Russia is suffering and sad and painful as it is the government must act with force." The minister said that the law creating a responsible cabinet will probably be promulgated and Count Witte's nomination a premier announced to-morrow. Under the statute the premier may or may not hold a special portfolio. Count Witte spent almost the entire day with the emperor at Peterhof, and he has not confided to his colleagues whether he intends to take the ministry of the interior or the ministry of finance or no portfolio at all. The whole of the ministerial body is also in ignorance as to whether they will retain their places under the new leader. Realizing that any attempt to interfere with the monster meeting at the university would inevitably lead to a bloody outbreak, General Trepoft, who announced during the afternoon that he intended to prevent the assembly, instructed the police to close their eyes to the fact and the meeting, which was attended by between 15,000 and 20,000 persons, passed off without a conflict. The troops stationed around the building were withdrawn, but in the court the city bourse, and other nearby buildings, half a dozen companies of Cossacks and strong forces of infantry and dragoons were in readiness to rally forth if necessary.

Big meetings were also held in the Technological and Art Colleges, and in two engineer schools. The students at neither of these meetings took a prominent part in the deliberations, yielding to the hospitality of the college buildings without attempting to cloak the meetings with the guise of student assemblies. With the hope of avoiding further meetings at the university, Gen. Trepoft placed halls in three different parts of the city at the disposal of the people for meetings, thereby practically conceding the demands of the agitators the right of assembly.

The scene inside the university beggars description. In the great open air court, with no light except a few flickering candles on a hastily constructed tribune, from 4,000 to 5,000 workmen, students and professional men stood wedged together in the cold and a wet snow fall, listening to revolutionary harangue. Another great meeting was held in the central hall of the university and scores of smaller meetings of the separate trades and professions were held in the other rooms of the building. A room was set aside for non-commissioned officers of the army, but only half a dozen of these were present. In all sections a strong minority urged conversation, but these were carried from their feet by the general enthusiasm and resolutions for a general strike in every branch of social activity were adopted with a hurrah. Even the Chinovniks in the government service, whose meeting was largely attended, were possessed of the same spirit and passed resolutions to stop all work in the government departments tomorrow.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 29.—While the day passed quietly without blood shed in the Russian capital, and while the city is outwardly calm, to-day's developments all indicate that a crisis is imminent. Although the streets are filled with troops and reinforcements are now pouring in from Finland, the government seems utterly powerless to cope with the situation, and many calm observers seem seriously to believe that the present regime is tottering to its fall.

All the military reserves are kept closely in barracks under arms, and at the Horse Guard barracks back of General Trepoft's chancellery the horses are kept constantly saddled, ready to emerge at a moment's notice. The Russian capital is like a city in the possession of a foreign army. Tonight again the soldiers are bivouacking in the darkened and otherwise deserted streets. The Nevsky Prospect alone is flooded by the glare of the great searchlight fixed on the spire of the admiralty building. The curious are drawn like moths to a candle, and the sidewalks are thronged while the government clerks scurry along the roadway, threading their way through the infantry and cavalry patrols. Even in the Nevsky Prospect many windows of the shops are boarded up. Although electric light has been restored in some sections, the streets are dark forbidding, and deserted by all save the patrols. Occasional fires are kindled by janitors in the middle of the streets, which gleam red and smoky in the deep October darkness.

Subsidy Increase.

A Montreal despatch of the 30th, says: It has transpired that the Provincial premier have agreed upon a common basis as regards the coming representations to be made to the Federal government. Hon. J. Gossin and party have returned from the west after securing the co-operation of Premiers Whitney and Roblin. There will be no conference of Premiers as they have already agreed upon a plan of action. As soon as the tariff commission concludes its labors and returns to Ottawa, an interview between Sir Wilfrid's Cabinet and the local premiers, will take place. "If," said Premier Gossin, "we want to succeed in our efforts to have the financial relations between the Dominion and the Provinces re-adjusted all party prejudices should be discarded. The Conservatives, five local governments should in my opinion come to Sir Wilfrid with the conviction that he is of a liberal turn of mind and will do right by the Provinces. If you read my interview to the Winnipeg journalist you will think I am meditating an assault on Sir John A. McDonald's career. There is nothing further from my intention. I may have referred in a general way to Sir John's well-known ideas about Confederation, but whatever my political differences may be, it is my privilege to say that Sir John A. McDonald was a most remarkable and strong-minded statesman."
