

Uncle Walt THE POET PHILOSOPHER.

I often drop my helpful book to watch fair Arabella cook. No weary kitchen drudge is she; she cooks with gladness. I've seen her take some flour and grease, and then produce a masterpiece. With soul inspired and glowing eye she makes the pudding and the pie; when from the oven she will take some lovely and triumphant cake she feels the rapture that is known by geniuses, and they alone. And when we gather round the board and view with joy the tempting board of things that make our stomachs gay, we hand the cook a large bouquet. Jemima hasn't learned to cook; she paints large pictures of the brook; and pea green cattle stand therein, beneath bughouse trees with leaves of tin; and crimson crows are soaring by, beneath a stretch of brindled sky; the sun, that shines on bird and beast, is sinking slowly in the east. We turn away, with sinking heart, from fair Jemima's stunt in art, give her the jolt that she deserves, and watch sweet Arabella's curves.

LONDON, Sept. 1.

German resentment of the part that England, rightly or wrongly, is supposed to be playing in growing space, and the persistent enmity of Britain towards Germany is the keynote of many newspaper articles.

The Vossische Zeitung, after declaring there is no virtue in concealing the fact that Germany is now full of anti-English feeling, asserts that England cannot wonder at the state of affairs in face of such visits as General Sir John French and other British officers are now paying to the French fortress on the German frontier. Such a tour of inspection at the present critical juncture, the paper says, can hardly be looked upon either as international or innocent, especially in view of the fact that General French was once named as the future Commander in Chief of the allied Anglo-French armies which are to operate against Germany.

There is a disposition here to consider the German attacks upon England as a red herring drawn across the trail. The octopus, when alarmed, hides itself by discharging an ink cloud, says the Daily Mail. Germany has adopted this ruse, and in recent negotiations with France, has made it the occasion of another outbreak against Britain. The assaults may be a good omen. If they are continued to cover a retreat, we shall not regret their injustice, our conscience is clear and void of offence for we know, and German statesmen know, that Premier Asquith spoke the whole truth when he said that any statement that we have interpreted to prejudice negotiations between France and Germany are mischievous inventions without the faintest foundation in fact.

An inspired statement by the Lokal Anzeiger, that the acquisition of territory in Morocco was never contemplated by Germany, is one of the most hopeful signs of the situation. The Berlin correspondent of the Standard refers to it as a plain indication that the Kaiser's Government is preparing the way for, at any rate, a partial retreat.

RANS, Sept. 1.

The real difficulty in the way of early settlement, it is said at the Foreign Office, lies in the special commercial and mining guarantees which Germany may be given in Morocco which Great Britain does not possess equally. Anything like this would afford endless occasions for the re-opening of the controversy on questions of interpretation. The Cascarets Work While You Sleep.

Salts, Calomel and Cathartic Pills are violent—they act on bowels as pepper acts on nostrils.

Take a Cascaret tonight and thoroughly cleanse your Liver, Stomach and Bowels, and you will surely feel great by morning. You men and women who have headache, coated tongue, can't sleep, are bilious, nervous and upset, bothered with a sick, gassy, disordered stomach, or have backache and feel all worn out.

Are you keeping clean inside with Cascarets—or merely forcing a passage every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil? This is important. Cascarets immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gasses; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the decomposed waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels.

Remember, a Cascaret to-night will strengthen you out by morning. A violent box from your druggist means a clear head and cheerfulness for months. Don't forget the children.

A Heavy Rain Storm.

Early yesterday afternoon a southerly wind blew and in a short while rain began to descend. The wind increased in violence and the rain in volume, until by 9 p.m. a regular old storm was on with the wind blowing a gale and rain descending in torrents. This continued until about 2 a.m. to-day, when it ceased. The rain was a godsend to the farmers and also had the effect of thoroughly extinguishing the forest fires which have raged for the past two weeks, not alone in the suburbs of St. John's, but also in different parts of the country, notably at Bishop's Falls and Trinity Bay. In the city last night the drains and gutters became choked in several instances and the Council had men at work all night clearing them.

THEY MAY STRIKE.—For some time past certain of the sanitary staff have been discontented with the rate of wages which they received and last night the rumor was about that the whole staff would go on strike to-morrow night. Such a strike would mean great inconvenience for most of the poor people of the city.

The Son's Sweetheart.

(By Gladys H. Berry.)

Why is it that the nicest woman in the world will pick holes in an offensive girl just because her son has chosen to fall in love with her? When the son gets engaged a difficult situation arises. His mother knows that when her son marries he is lost to her for ever, and she takes an unreasoning dislike to the girl who has just snatched her from being first in her boy's heart.

Yet it is inevitable that the son should marry sooner or later. He is only doing what his parents did before him, and what his children will do in their turn. As the situation cannot be helped, a wise father and mother, will put the best face that they can on it, and with a view to the future, will try to welcome the girl, while she is still a stranger, to whom their kindness means a good deal. Later on she will have her own life and her own interests and if the habits of affection and confidence are not early formed the son will soon drift away into a circle of his wife's choosing, and the home ties will gradually grow weaker and weaker until they almost cease to exist.

Mothers and fathers should never forget, though the girl's ways may not be your ways, they supply some want which your son has been feeling. If he has been brought up in a very quiet home the chances are that he will be attracted to a lively girl, whose brightness and good spirits he will admire. Don't for that reason think that she will make him too frivolous. When people have lived together for a little while they begin to influence each other, and the young, high-spirited wife will become quite staid enough to be a good housekeeper, while your steady going son will brighten up and escape the dullness which might have come upon him if he had married a less spirited woman.

Years ago you and your husband went through much the same process, perhaps you have forgotten it by now, but think a little and you will be sure to recall the fact that you were not always perfectly the balanced pair that you are to-day.

Perhaps a word to the sweetheart may not be out of place. Many girls start with the idea that their husbands are people can't help being disagreeable. "I'm quite sure they will never like me," the young bride will say plaintively to her adoring husband. "Do you think we need go and see them to-day?"

"Not unless you like, sweetheart," is the reply. So they stay away, and the old people are hurt and deeply offended by their neglect. It is always worth while to make friends with your sweetheart's people. It won't give you much trouble to put on the frock that you know they like best, to defer to their opinions and to consult them in little matters, and it will give your lover a great deal of pleasure. He may not say so, but he is always a little disappointed if you fail to "get on" with his mother or sister, and remember that any compliment to them is a compliment to him also.

THE PATIENT BRAIN

A tireless worker so long as supplied with rich, red blood.

The brain is one of the most patient and industrious organs of the body. It can be induced, by good treatment, to perform prodigies of work. Not it is sensitive and will not brook abuse. It responds to the lash at first, but if the lash is laid on too hard it balks.

Nervous trouble is generally brain trouble, and no suffering is to be compared to mental suffering, with the accompanying dread, suspicion and melancholy. One-fifth of the blood in the human body is consumed by the brain, so make the blood rich and red by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and you will overcome diseases of the nerves. Headaches will disappear, irritability will go, digestion will improve, and weakness and despondency will give place to new hope and courage, new vigor and energy.

Dr. W. Chase's Nerve Food will enable you to avoid such extreme nervous trouble as prostration and paralysis. $10 cents a box, 6 boxes for $25.00; at all dealers, or Edman & Bates & Co., Toronto.

THE SEA.

How gently now thy ripples rise
And fall how peacefully!
O'er thee what clear and cloudless
skies,
Thou calm majestic sea!

Yon white-winged boat that sails so gay,
Trusting herself to thee,
Never again will see this bay,
Thou cruel, treacherous sea!

For now, e'en thy waves dash high
Against her heaving sides;
And gathering gloom obscures the sky
Whence swift the tempest rides.

No pow'r of man can stay thy rage,
No king can govern thee,
Thy might must rule from age to age,
Thou stern, relentless sea!

Special Hints on Gas Cooking.

The joint must hang downwards with its lowest part well above the level of the gas-burners. If the joint is too long, lay it flat on one of the gridiron shelves with the browning shelf close over it.

Meat shrinks with cooking, so there is no fear of it touching the shelf. If preferred, lay the joint on a trivet in a baking-tin and place this tin on a grid shelf, but many advise no baking-tin, merely the bottom pan that slips in along the floor in the bottom of the stove under the burners. If this plan is adopted, see that the bottom pan is clean, or, gravy or dripping will be spoilt.

If baking pastry and roasting at the same time, put the joint on a grid shelf below the pastry, and the browning shelf close above the pastry, as the latter needs a sharper heat than the meat.

After the meat is cooked it may be necessary to turn on more gas for a few minutes to finish browning the pastry.

OBITUARY.

MR. E. McHALE.

We regret to record the death of Mr. Edward McHale, which sad event occurred at his residence, Hamilton Street, last night. Mr. McHale was well known and popular in St. John's, and since coming here, 34 years ago, has been a member of the B. I. S. being very popular amongst the members of that institution. The deceased was born in County Mayo, Ireland, and was one of those sturdy sons of the Emerald Isle who are remarkable for integrity and honor. Mr. McHale worked as foreman of construction work with the late R. G. Reid, Esq., for over 15 years; worked later in the same capacity at the building of the Grand Falls plant, and only a few years ago built a salmon ladder for the Government on the Exploits River. Some few years ago he was attacked with paralysis, from which he never thoroughly recovered. A widow is left to mourn him, to whom the Telegram extends its sincere sympathy.

Household Notes.

To prepare a painted wall for papering, wash it first with a solution of half a pound of washing soda in a gallon of water, and then apply a warm mixture of half a pound of ground glue dissolved in a pail of water.

Wash leather furniture very gently with warm water in which there is a little vinegar wipe with a dry cloth and then restore the polish by mixing the white of two eggs and a little turpentine, which is applied with a flannel.

When working on velvet use only the finest pins or needles to pin, so as not to injure the pile, and when hangings are essential do not draw the thread tight. Clip each stitch with scissors before pulling out the bastings.
