wheat and the strength of Western wheat.

Beaver Flour is a perfectly balanced flour. It makes baking easy because it is always the same in strength, quality and flavor. Your grocer has it. Try it.

Address to Rev. Father Sheehan.

From the Parishioners of Admiral's Cove, Fermanagh.

On the 22nd May, having learned with regret that Fr. Sheehan was about to remove from this Parish, a deputation awaited at the schoolroom and presented him with a useful gift and the following

ADDRESS:

Dear Fr. Sheehan—

It is with feelings of heartfelt regret we have learned that in a short time duty will call you to labor in another field. We could indeed, wish that your stay amongst us would be permanent as during the short time you have laboured in this Parish you have won our hearts' warmest affections.

In you have been realized the highest ideals of your sacred calling.

Coming from the Emerald Isle—The Land of Saints—you represent all that is best and dearest in the Irish Soggarth.

Though still young, you have manifested a zeal for our welfare worthy of the noble priests, who have labored on this shore. Like our late much-lamented Fr. Walsh, you have taken the liveliest interest in our every-day life. You have made our joys and sorrows your own, and in parting with you we feel that we are losing a true and devoted friend. Let us assure you that you take with you the best wishes of the people of Admiral's Cove for your happiness and success in your new sphere of duty.
We hope and pray that you may be long spared to labor in the Lord's Vineyard in Newfoundland to edify the old, to encourage the young and to dignify the church of which you are so worthy a priest.

We ask you to accept the accompanying gift as a mere token of our love and esteem, and beg of you dear Father a remembrance from time to time in the Holy Sacrifice.

We beg to sign ourselves, on behalf of your parishioners:

FRANK O'NEILL,
WILLIAM TREANOR.

Fr. Sheehan was taken by surprise and made a most touching reply, saying that while he appreciated the kind sentiments of the address, he valued far more their esteem and regard, than any gift that could be tendered him, which would be as a happy remembrance to him in future years.

If your child has an impression of

FORD'S LINIMENT and SWEET OIL, English Sparrows.

Of course we swat the flies, but then that sphere is rather narrow; all loyal patriotic men should swat the English sparrow.
Oh, soak the sparrows with a brick, the sparrows and their litters; Great Britain played a low down trick in sending us those critters. They are the loafers of the air, all honest effort dodging; they do not earn their daily fare, they do not pay for lodging.
They're nifty, sassy little brutes that rob the honest tillers; they swipe the costly grains and fruits, and pass up caterpillars. They do not rustle after grubs, like honest birds and thoughtful, so let us fashion wet elm clubs and take the warpath, swatful. They drive our native birds away, the birds that sing and frolic and punish bugs day after day until they have the colic. These British birds the farmer hates, and curses as he harrows, so let us rise, like heavyweights, and swat the English sparrows. "America for native birds" should be our motto; let's paralyze the feathered herds from pauper countries winging. We want no birds beneath our flag that pinch our precious cherries; we want no birds that bullyrag our robins and canaries. It's well to swat the flies, I say, and crush them bone and marrow, but we should take an hour a day to swat the English sparrow.

Penalties of Genius.

Genius and ill-health, it would seem, often go hand in hand. At any rate, many of the greatest deeds that the world has seen performed have been accomplished by men physically infirm.

Darwin suffered so acutely from nervous exhaustion that he could only work for two hours a day at the most.
Thackeray was frequently ill; Johnson nearly always in poor health; Dickens at the age of fifty-five was an old man, with shattered nerves; whilst Sh. Walter Scott, a subject to spasms, was a chronic invalid during the later years of his life, and died at the age of fifty-nine.

Milton, William Morris, and Charles Keane, the actor, all were slaves to gout, and Milton was further handicapped by being blind. The poet Keats died of consumption when still quite young. Elizabeth Barrett Browning was an invalid for the greater part of her life.

Insanity claimed Dean Swift; whilst Rousseau, Cowper, and King George III. all were insane during periods of their lives.

Egg is Cause of Railway Strike.

London, July 4.—The untimely laying of an egg in a crate caused a strike at the London and North-Western Railway station here yesterday.

A porter, in moving a crate of live hens, noticed that one of the fowls had laid an egg. Slipping his hand through the bars of the crate, he took the egg out and placed it on his harrow for safety. A railway detective immediately arrested the porter and took him and the egg to the railway police station.

Within a few minutes all the railway staff on duty ceased work until the district superintendent was informed of the incident and ordered the man's release. The staff then returned to work, but the officials are still considering the fate of the egg, which for the present remains in the superintendent's office.

May Build Channel
Tunnel After All.

London, July 4.—The proposal to drive a tunnel under the English Channel between England and France, which for years was opposed by military men on the ground that it would destroy the isolation of England, is now being taken up seriously with a better chance of going through than ever before.

The advance in flying made in recent years has already virtually taken away the advantage of isolation, but even more than this the good relations now existing between England and France have overcome the opposition to the scheme. The government is being urged to take the matter up seriously; people who cross the channel frequently favor the plan, and the railways, who have to keep up costly steamers for the channel service, are not opposed to the tunnel idea, for they know that with the abolition of the much traded channel crossing by sea, passenger traffic would increase immensely.

Advocate Women Police

Congress in London Testifies to their Value.

London, July 5.—The advisability of establishing women police in this country to help fight the white slave traffic was discussed at to-day's meeting of the National Congress for the Suppression of the White Slave Traffic.

Miss Eliseaem, of Norway, said that her country already had women police and was well satisfied with their work. Miss Leather, of Canada, said that women police had for some time existed in Ottawa and other cities of Canada. A woman delegate from Sweden said that in her country women police had been found of immense value. They are called "police elsters."

Police Commissioner Bullock, of Scotland Yard, also spoke of the great assistance which had been given by women to the police in white slave traffic work. He believed it to be essential that the police should so be assisted, but doubted if such assistance would be better for being actually official rather than voluntary.
He already had a woman assisting him in the work but she was not a "policeman," not having taken the oath of a constable.
