warfare and diplomacy are peculiar, and unfor-tunately she imposes on her allies her ideas and methods. She adopted the policy of sinking merchant ships at sight ar to sever diplomatic relations. her allies have followed suit. She do and neutral ships, nor do her allies she denies she has torpedoed her, and her allies do likewise. If she is convicted of the crime, she then formulates a series of subsidiary falsehoods about the sunken ship and its vic tim. This course she has been fol-lowing with unholy consistency for the past twelve months. The wonder that President Wilson and his colleagues in the Washington adminis-tration can seriously continue negotiation with Germany and her allies on this question. The latest instance is the case of the French steamer Sussex sunk in the English Channel. Germany has denied that any of her submarines, sunk this steamer. She however admits that one of her sub marines was in the vicinity of the Sussex when she was struck, but

Two Men Missing. Our Returning Soldiers

STEAMER GONE IN SEARCH OF Last evening the following messages were received from Mr. S. Roberts, J. P., at Change Islands:—

TO THE PREMIER. "Alex. and Frank Scammell, belonging here, drifted from little Fogo Saturday last, probably reached the Funks, otherwise adrift on ice; suggest send sealing steamer immediately in search."

TO MINISTER OF MARINE AND FISHERIES.

"Men were at Eastern Fogo Island n'quest of seals. Left there in punt Saturday morning to reach the ice. Wind Saturday increased to gale at noon from S. W. to W. Sunday, strong N.-W. till noon. Punt identified as theirs picked up Sunday evening two miles north of Offer Wadham. Information reached us only to-day from Joe Batt's Arm when men from there returned from Little Fogo."

Minister of Marine Piccott arranged for Cabot to go in search of the miss-ing men. The Cabot left here in charge of Capt. Jacob Kean at 9 o'clock this morning.

Torpedo Secrets.

At the torpedo's head is an explo od which, on contact with the walls squall that struck the ship when son ering the distance in water on its errand of destruction. Next comes the wonderful gyro-copic control of the air-motor by which the rudders are adjusted. This is where the intricate mechanism of the torpedo is so clearly demon-trated. Should it rise or dip in the water, this gyroscope actuates a mo or which in turn operates rods reated with the rudders, and at once readjusts any deflections from the course originally set.

The motor mentioned is but a few thes in length, yet the power it exerts by means of compressed air is such that the pressure of ½ oz. oper-ated by the steering gear produces a pull of 160 lb. on the rudders. This terrible fish's tail holds wheel gear for the driving of two propellers and the manipulation of the rudders. The propellers revolve in opposite direct tions, thereby preventing the torpedo describing a circle.
