Imprinted legibly upon the hearts of our people are the memories of the sufferings and hardships which have been and are being endured. For five long months the eyes of the nation have been centered upon your actions, and it is a pleasure to say that the great heart of the American people throbbed in sympathy with you. It is, of course, a source of deep regret that the millions of underpaid workmen in our great cities should be the most acute sufferers by reason of this contest between ourselves and our employers. But, strange as it may appear, hundreds upon hundreds of those who suffered most from lack of fuel sent words of commendation and encouragement to us, and in many instances declared the men will get back the positions that they would endure any privation they occupied before the strike began. in order that the miners and their families might secure a sufficient wage to enable them to enjoy a little happiness and sunshine, instead of the gloom and sadness which has been their lot

for many years. NO MALICE.

The debt of gratitude we owe our fellow-workers in this and other lands, the debt of gratitude we owe a generous and friendly press, who have supported and sustained us during this memorable strike, can never be adequately repaid. For our opponents we entertain no feeling of malice. While they have maligned our characters, impugned our motives, sought the victory by methods which we should scorn to use, yet on this day when we secured an avenue of redress, on this day when the realiing of the reports was concluded, and zation of our hopes and ambitions seems near, when the prospect of a brighter and happier future seems assured, we should hold out to them the hand of friendship and ask them to join us in providing for such business relations as shall for all time establish peace and tranquility in the coal

The day is past when great organizations of capital can maintain the false position that their employes shall be denied the right to organize into compact bodies and speak through the organization of which they are members. We recognize the right of capital to consolidate, to federate and to speak and act through its organization, but in according these rights and privileges to capital we demand and shall assert the same privileges for those who toil. Between the combination of capital on the one hand and the organization of paper of President Mitchell's labor on the other there should be and need to no irreconcilable conflict; each is a factor in the economic develop- region. ment of our civilization, and the application of business judgment and plain common sense by each would enable them to work in harmony.

RECIPROCAL INTERESTS.

While the interests of labor and capital are not by any means identical, they are, nevertheless, reciprocal; each is dependent upon the other and under our form of government one cannot prosper without the other. That this fundamental principle will be recognized by the tribunal selected by the President of the United States,

I have no reason to doubt. The grave question which you have been called upon to consider today demands and must receive your most careful thought. Personally I should have preferred an adjustment of the difficulties existing in the anthracite field by conference with the anthracite mine owners, and without the intervention of agencies not directly volved, but I recognize the fact that relations between ourselves and the mine owners have become so strained as to render direct negotiation at this time impossible. If the consequences of this strike affected only the interests of the operators and mine workers there would be less reason for the intervention of a third party, but the fact that a coal famine was upon the people of eastern and seaboard states and threatened to become a national calamity justifies the action of the chief executive of our nation in his earnest effort to bring about an early

I believe that the prompt acceptance of this proposition will secure to the mine workers a greater degree of justice than they have enjoyed in

A phase of the situation that is causing much discussion among the men today is the status of the mine engineers and firemen. According to an explanation by a miner about 2,000 of this class of employes struck with the miners or have since gone out. Having cast their fortunes with the strikers, they are concerned over what seems to them a possibility that the miners will return to work leaving them unprovided for, because the nonunion men who were hired to keep the pumps going will be retained. It has been suggested that the mine superintendents can be communicated with, and that the status of the striking engineers and their return to work can thus be made clear at once. There was some talk, while the convention was assembling, about the engineers and firemen from the convention an accurate statement of what is to be done respecting them. The seriousness of this point is readily admitted, but there seems to be no feeling whatever that they will try to prevent the acceptance of the

The Pinch of Poverty Severely Felt - Food Is Dearer and Wages Lower

London, Oct. 20 .- The British Gov ernment is considering the expediency of dispatching Indian troops to Somaliland, to deal with the mad Mullah. The British vice-consul at Bebera, Somaliland, in cabling to the foreign office here the substance of the later dispatch which he received from Col- this perior in the last ten years. Addonel Swarne, commander of the British force operating against the mad Mullah, referred to the Mullah being in communication with the "Kail Inger." in the direction of the Webbe River. He apparently meant "Karl Inger," the former officer of the Austrian-Hungarian army, who has several times been mentioned in connection with the Mullah's movements in Somaliland. Inger is also said to caused the British authorities trouble numbered 353, which was 74 more than in the Soudan some years ago.

General H. W. Manning started from London for Somaliland some days ago in consequence of bad news from there and will hasten the dispatch of reinforcements from Berbera.

HARD TIMES IN LONDON. The outlook for the coming winter is most gloomy for the the poor of London. In the main essentials of food, fire and work the prospects are the least hopeful of recent years. Both coal and bread are higher than they were last year, but it is when the trade and labor conditions that have to be faced at the outset of this winter are examined that the most real anxiety is aroused. Lord Meath, presi-

* of the Church Army, have issued an appeal to the public to help the army in its relief work, in which the situa> tion is described as a hard winter, when bad trade and general distress seem inevitable. The King's illness, with the censequent postponement and curtailing of the coronation festivities, ruined many and dislocated trade. This was closely followed by the return from South Africa of large numbers of reservists, time-expired men, who were thrown upon the already overcrowded labor market. Where the former soldier does not drift into the ranks of unemployed, he frequently throws another man out of work. The Church Army, with its large system of labor homes all over the country, is a most sensitive barometer in such times of depression, The number of the deserving unem-

A SORROWFUL TALE. The board of trade's last official eport of the labor department, which has just been issued, also tells a sorrowful tale of the general state of employment. It says: "The continued decline is now not only worse than a year ago, but is below the average for ed to this, rates of wages everywhere are tumbling down. The effect of recent alterations in wages, when considered collectively, is surprising. The changes of rates which took place last month affected 134,997 workers in this country, of whom 107,850 had to sub-
