freely here. We think, as we said this morning, that the wheat market is stronger than the bulls and bears like it. The market has been fought around 65c and the fight has not been profitable. The crowd don't believe in any crop damage. They have watched their opportunity to make the bulls sell out their wheat below 60c. Some of the bulls sold out, but a good many did not, and it looks as if the bulls may turn the tables on the bears.
