The essential object of this treatise is to point out, the fearful consequences result.

The essential object of this treatise is to point out, the fearful consequences resulting from certain habits, irregularities and excesses, which have produced more misery in youth, degredation in manhood, and premature decay at all stages of high than perhaps, any other class of disease known to modern pathologists. Its perusal is particularly recommended to persons extertaining, and who are conscious of having hazarded the health, happiness and privileges to which overy human being is entitled.—

The contents embrace the origin effects, prevention and treatment of the deplorable catalogue of maladies connected with nervous debility, exhaustion of the vital enervous debility, exhaustion of the vital enervo vous debility, exhaustion of the vital energies, prostration of mental and physical capacity local and general weakness, acute and chrome spermatorrhea, and their endies modifications. The and their endies modifications. less modifications. The treatment adopted determined to produce a book which shall is founded on experience gained in the most present to the reader, not only the dry celebrated schools of medicine, and by the details which a mere hiographical sketch most eminent practitioners, both in Great would afford, but a comprehensive work.
