

Here and Away.

ALL quiet!

COLLEGE closed on April 6th.

THE thirty or forty University students left in the residence are "grinding" for exams.

As we go to press invitations to several marriages, in which recent graduates take a prominent part, come in to relieve the monotony of editorial work. We are not permitted to give particulars at present.

FIFTEEN members of the graduating class succeeded in passing their first examination before the Presbytery of Toronto. They are now preparing for the second.

It must be encouraging to the Church to know that the sum of $200,000 for the Endowment Fund is so nearly raised. Two or three years ago the idea of raising $150,000 was regarded as rather wild. Already more than that sum has been paid; and the $200,000 net will soon be placed to the credit of the College.

THE Treasurer is puzzled to know what to do about unpaid MONTHLY subscriptions. He is anxious to hand the books over to his successors. This will he do; he will jog the memory of the great "unpaid." A word to the wise is sufficient. It is, however, a matter of greatest importance that the new magazine be begun on a sound financial basis. We must look to all our friends for their strong support.

THE joint committee of the Missionary Society and the Alumni Association met last week to perfect the details of the scheme respecting our sending out of a foreign missionary. The choice of a field was discussed, but nothing definite was done. A. J. McLeod, Knox College, Toronto, was appointed treasurer pro tem. and will receive all payments made during the summer months.

KNOWING that the class of '87 is the largest and best ('87 says "the best") that has ever graduated from the College, and is bound to become famous, it was but a fitting thing that a photo of the class should be left in the college to be an inspiration to succeeding classes. This large picture of the graduating class, the professors and the College, artistically executed by "Bruce," adorns the walls of the dining hall. Each succeeding graduating class is expected to add to the collection. By and by we'll have a sort of gallery of antiqua—that is, of distinguished men, celebrities.

DR. McCURDY proposes forming two classes for the study of Hebrew during May of this year, if a sufficient number of ministers and students offer to take part in them. The junior class will study the principles of the grammar and read simple passages. The advanced class will take up the prophesy of Micah and the earlier chapters of Isaiah and read the text in
