

FOR-SIGN INTELLIGENCE.

FRANCE.

PARIS, Friday, March 21.—The student "manifestation" continues to show itself in a quiet and harmless manner...

The state and prospects of the Rattazzi Cabinet are treated in the political article of the last number of the Revue des Deux Mondes...

We hope that M. Rattazzi will be more fortunate than his predecessor, but it is difficult to deny the unfavorable impression which the change of Ministry already produces...

A man with vast brain was at that time the leader of Italian destinies; a daring, scheming man, conscious of unbounded resources...

But, alas! Cavour died; and it soon appeared that Italy's soul was not as freely out of the enemy's toils as the haters of the Power of Darkness toiled imagined...

Enraged and baffled at all points, Napoleon III. took up his stand at Rome. So long as he garrisoned St. Angelo he felt Italian Unity was all a dream...

See now what is the condition of the Southern Kingdom. In spite of the presence of the strong-minded and hard-fisted La Marmora...

It is as if the Emperor's mind, and if that mind ever was revealed to or guessed by Rattazzi, what resolution has this knowledge led the latter to?

MILAN, March 25 — Garibaldi, at a meeting to-day of several Frenchmen, Hungarian, and Poles, said that the future of Italy depended upon her strict alliance with other nations...

TO THE ITALIAN PRIESTS.

Genoa, March 12.—You have made Rome a den of wild beasts thirsting for the destruction of Italy...

Turin, March 20.—It fares but indifferently just at this moment with Italian patriotism. It faces with Italian patriots as with the pain and patient student who, by years of toil, want, and misery...

A man with vast brain was at that time the leader of Italian destinies; a daring, scheming man, conscious of unbounded resources...

But, alas! Cavour died; and it soon appeared that Italy's soul was not as freely out of the enemy's toils as the haters of the Power of Darkness toiled imagined...

Enraged and baffled at all points, Napoleon III. took up his stand at Rome. So long as he garrisoned St. Angelo he felt Italian Unity was all a dream...

See now what is the condition of the Southern Kingdom. In spite of the presence of the strong-minded and hard-fisted La Marmora...

It is as if the Emperor's mind, and if that mind ever was revealed to or guessed by Rattazzi, what resolution has this knowledge led the latter to?

MILAN, March 25 — Garibaldi, at a meeting to-day of several Frenchmen, Hungarian, and Poles, said that the future of Italy depended upon her strict alliance with other nations...

of the French Emperor's plan. Italy will only then be "free to the Adriatic" when this emphatic promise may be achieved agreeably to the original conception...

Rome.—La Patrie says:—"A despatch from Rome, dated the 18th ult., informs us that Montalto and Civita Castellana have been occupied by French detachments...

PARIS.—It is with great regret that I report the following lamentable events, which took place in Naples on Saturday last:—"One of the Lent preachers, Giuseppe Coccozza by name, was holding forth in the church of San Severino to a crowded congregation...

MADRID, March 25.—The Official Gazette of to-day says that orders have been transmitted to General Prim to negotiate upon the part of Spain only after the entry into the city of Mexico shall have taken place...

On Monday last, the Roman Catholic priest and the Episcopal minister of Nashville were notified that unless they desisted from praying for Jeff. Davis and the Southern Confederacy...

On Sunday night the enemy were in full retreat, and the Confederates in hot pursuit. I write from the enemy's camp and on Federal paper...

A second despatch from Corinth, dated yesterday, (Sunday), says the great battle commenced this morning at daylight. The Yankees were driven back two miles. The victorious columns are still advancing...

been made, it cannot be expected that matters will rest where they are. The Liberals, irritated and disappointed in their expectations, take up the great question of the day as political and ecclesiastical...

A letter from Verona states that the Austrian Government has received information of the departure from the shores of England of a considerable quantity of arms, intended for the expected Hungarian insurrection...

A letter from Vienna states that the Emperor Francis Joseph has written to the King of Prussia with the view of assembling a congress of German Sovereigns, asking also the King for his individual opinion upon the project...

The situation of affairs at Berlin, as it to-day presents itself, viewed by the light of all the information that up to this time has reached us, is peculiar and complicated. We behold a vacillating King, a divided Cabinet, a dissolved Chamber...

On Monday last, the Roman Catholic priest and the Episcopal minister of Nashville were notified that unless they desisted from praying for Jeff. Davis and the Southern Confederacy...

Drunkness in Boston is increasing at a fearful rate. In 1851, with a population of a 140,000, there were 2,500 liquor shops, and 1,876 cases of drunkenness...

Southern Account of the Battle of Pittsburg.—Beauregard's Despatch.—The Richmond Whig contains despatches, dated 6th, giving accounts of the Sunday fight only. Gen. Beauregard says:—"We have this morning attacked the enemy in a strong position in front of Pittsburg...

A despatch to the Mobile Advertiser, on the 7th, says:—"The battle was very fierce, the enemy stubbornly resisting their fate, while the Southerners continued to press upon them with relentless determination, slowly but surely forcing them back..."

On Sunday night the enemy were in full retreat, and the Confederates in hot pursuit. I write from the enemy's camp and on Federal paper. Large numbers of prisoners have been taken...

A second despatch from Corinth, dated yesterday, (Sunday), says the great battle commenced this morning at daylight. The Yankees were driven back two miles. The victorious columns are still advancing...

direction of Harrisburg, four miles north of Pittsburg Landing. Four thousand men of General Prentiss' division were attacked by the enemy...

At six o'clock the attack had become general along our whole front. The enemy, in large numbers, drove in the pickets of Sherman's division...

A letter from Verona states that the Austrian Government has received information of the departure from the shores of England of a considerable quantity of arms...

A letter from Vienna states that the Emperor Francis Joseph has written to the King of Prussia with the view of assembling a congress of German Sovereigns...

The situation of affairs at Berlin, as it to-day presents itself, viewed by the light of all the information that up to this time has reached us, is peculiar and complicated...

On Monday last, the Roman Catholic priest and the Episcopal minister of Nashville were notified that unless they desisted from praying for Jeff. Davis and the Southern Confederacy...

Drunkness in Boston is increasing at a fearful rate. In 1851, with a population of a 140,000, there were 2,500 liquor shops...

Southern Account of the Battle of Pittsburg.—Beauregard's Despatch.—The Richmond Whig contains despatches, dated 6th, giving accounts of the Sunday fight only...

A despatch to the Mobile Advertiser, on the 7th, says:—"The battle was very fierce, the enemy stubbornly resisting their fate, while the Southerners continued to press upon them with relentless determination...

On Sunday night the enemy were in full retreat, and the Confederates in hot pursuit. I write from the enemy's camp and on Federal paper. Large numbers of prisoners have been taken...

A second despatch from Corinth, dated yesterday, (Sunday), says the great battle commenced this morning at daylight. The Yankees were driven back two miles. The victorious columns are still advancing...