

Canadian officials have continued to maintain fruitful contact with various non-governmental organizations (NGOs) about the human rights situation in China. These contacts allow us to exchange information about specific cases of human rights violations. We intend to pursue such contacts in the future.

10

11

12