

ye soldiers of the cross to-day ! if you are to obtain glorious victories you must not rest satisfied with one man in a hundred going to battle. Every man of you must fight the good fight of faith, every heart must be stout and every arm must be strong ; every follower of Christ must march forward with the courage of a hero and with the strength of God, to do battle against the common enemy of mankind. Thus, and thus only, will a true, real and permanent revival of religion be experienced, will sinners be seen flocking to Jesus as doves to their windows, and will the glory of the Lord cover the whole earth.

And, lastly, let us never forget to give God all the glory. Whatever instrumentality he may employ, the work is all his. It is only where the Sun of mercy shines that the fruits of grace will grow. Without the Spirit of God the best arranged means are useless—lamps without oil, sails without wind, coals without fire. Underrate this truth, and you cut yourself off from the very fountain-head
