GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM.

Special Attraction at the Pan-American Exposition.

The Exposition has made a contract with the Grand Trunk Railway for the production of an elaborate water carnival on the lake in the Exposition grounds on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays of each week during August, and probably September as well. The carnival will end with a brilliant fireworks exhibition, concluding with the bombardments of the forts at Lake. The carnival will include a ballet and water pantomime, brilliant illuminations and mid-air acrobatic performance.

Victim of a Nuisance.

Everyone who has occasion to go to Yonge-street will complain of the nuisance of crossing the Esplanade. Yesterday a number of people mistook the car for a train and were subjected to clouds of dust raised by the accumulation of vehicles which had been caused by the wait.

One man who had on a smart looking new suit, made for him by Archambault, the popular tailor, 125 Yonge-street, was exceedingly wrathful.

However, Archambault's clothes will

SOME URGENT CITY NEEDS.

As the holiday season is nearly over, the World appeals to the city's worthy aldermen to lay aside their shirt waists and duck trousers and put on up-to-date business garments. The aldermen have been holidaying practically ever since the first of the year. Things have happened that the mayor and the St. Lawrence Market improvement. There has been a lot of talking, but little has been accomplished. There are a score of projects, some of minor, some of greater, importance, that we know should be done and must be done. The World desires the attention of the Mayor and aldermen to some of these, and trusts that a number, if not all of them, will be taken in hand at once and wiped off the slate.

Among the questions awaiting settlement is that of providing terminal facilities and right of way for suburban railways. This matter is one of urgency. Every day it remains unsettled means the loss of a great deal of profitable business from the farmers of York County and the merchants and consumers of farm products in Toronto. We know that the necessary facilities and machinery must sooner or later be provided for the extension into the city of suburban railways. Why don't the Mayor and Council recognize this fact and shut themselves up in a room until they settle the question? What is required is the settlement of the terms and conditions under which suburban railways may use the tracks of the Toronto Railway system to reach the centre of the city; the percentage to be charged on freight business; the establishment of terminal facilities at the new market or other place to be agreed upon as a union passenger and freight depot for the suburban lines; and such like details. Information that would help the Council in settling these details could be obtained from the different cities in the United States where the problem has been solved.

Closely connected with the development of the suburban lines is the extension of the city system towards the city limits. If we admit that suburban railways will benefit the city then we should encourage their construction by the extension of the city lines to such points as will afford the suburban lines a satisfactory connection with the city system. Two new suburban lines would be started almost immediately if the city tracks were extended to the limits. The only thing that blocks the immediate construction of a suburban line from York Township to the city is the fact that the City Council has refused to authorize the extension of the Avenue-road line to the city boundary along that thoroughfare. The distance between the present terminal and the city boundary is only a few hundred feet. If the Council would authorize the laying of tracks on this short gap, the extension of extension to Upper Canada College and Mount Pleasant Cemetery would be immediately undertaken, with extensions before long westward along St. Clair-avenue and northward to Forest Hill Road. The City Council has only to say the word, and a suburban line serving the needs of the west part of the township will be started at once. The plans for going ahead with this line are perfected, and the authority of the Council to lay a few yards of track is all that is needed to see the work undertaken in a practical way.

Another extension of the city system that should be ordered at once is the East Greenway extension. This extension was specifically set out in the agreement of 1891, and there is no justification for the long delay that has taken place in regard to it. The completion of this work would mean the early construction of a suburban line from the City to the Danforth Road, Little York Village, and the Township of Scarborough, and ultimately to Calverton, Markham and Stouffville.

One of the most urgent needs of the city is an overhead bridge at the foot of Yonge-street. The bridge need provide accommodation for street cars and pedestrians only. Such a structure would not be expensive, and it would involve no land changes. There is more traffic across the tracks at this point than at any other point on the line or without the city traversed by the railways. We have bridges and subways at a dozen different points to avoid the danger and inconvenience of level crossings. Why shouldn't we have a bridge at the place where the traffic is most dangerous? The City Engineer says that the street is a picture of confusion, and that the most annoying and dangerous feature is the crossing of the tracks. Not only are the citizens of Toronto obliged to put up with this ever present nuisance, but thousands of tourists are daily delayed, sometimes to the extent of missing the boats, by reason of passing trains. There is only one way to overcome this evil, and that is by an overhead bridge. The work is an absolute necessity. Why shouldn't the Mayor and Council deal with the matter at once and be done with it?

THE GERRARD-ST. EXTENSION.

Editor World: Your articles on street car extensions and the late moves of the Street Car Company caused me to make enquiry regarding the extension of East Greenway. The City Engineer says that the Railway Company will not lay that, and he cannot make them do it. How is this, when it is part of their agreement? They claim that three years having passed, they are not compelled to make the extension now. That is a very flimsy excuse. The City Engineer says that the extension is a breach of faith towards us, and altogether a very small piece of business. As agreement is an agreement, and should be fulfilled to the letter, otherwise it is amenable to the law, which is not a necessary recourse between honest men. We laid out money on improvements in expectation of prompt action of the company, and have been losing thereby. Our houses have stood empty for a year at a time, waiting for the cars. We have paid thousands of dollars on subways and street openings to no purpose. Many owners have lost their property because the street has been a charge without fulfilling its purpose, the introduction of city improvements. Hoping you can help us by representing our case.

Toronto, Aug. 19 1901.

ad without the expenditure of any money? If the triangle is acquired it should include all the property east of River-street. The two dwellings on the site could be moved to some other vacant property. In any event, the acquisition of the property is a small matter, and the Council should take the question in hand at once and conclude the deal.

It goes without saying that the St. Lawrence Market improvements should be hurried on. The architect should be given a time limit for having the work completed, and he should be held strictly to account.

There are various other civic questions awaiting settlement, such as the trunk sewer, the railway, the St. Lawrence street railway extensions for legal needs, etc. We have referred in detail only to the most important of those that demand immediate attention. All that we have mentioned are works of urgency, and the Mayor and Council should lose no time in having them, one and all, completed as speedily as possible.

CONUNDRUMS.

The Ottawa Journal, in trying to discover the reason of Canada's small increase in population, demands answer from protectionists, and goes far afield in a rather doubtful effort to score a point for free trade. After pointing out that "the showing is the worst Canada has made since Confederation," The Journal says:

Despite the fact that the population is larger, the country weather and national expenditures enormously increased, the addition to population has been smaller in actual numbers during the past ten years than during the previous decade; and was smaller during that decade than in the preceding one. Despite a nominally considerable immigration, Canada cannot show an increase of population equivalent to what should be the excess of births over deaths, and the immigration, taken together. Excepting France, we show the smallest rate of growth in numbers of any country in the world.

It is not so easy to answer either of the "whys." But there are people in this country who believe that the Liberals, while in opposition during the first half of the decade just closed, did enormous harm to the country by shutting out from one end of the country to the other that the Conservative government was running the country, and that our young men were being driven across the border in thousands to earn a living. That, doubtless, had a good deal of influence. The fact is that young men of the best of address and change and will seek fortunes away from home in any event, unless the way is open to good things in their own country. The exodus does not seem to have stopped even yet, when the country is prosperous. Another reason may be found in the fact that the industries have been protected in Britain and on the Continent, and for Canada, the larger number went to the United States.

Instead of following the flag, it appears that people follow capital and enterprises. With a title of the amount of capital which British moneyed men poured into the United States last century ago brought into Canada our greatest resources would be developed and population would speedily follow. The British capitalist is very conservative and fears to take risks, and so it is that the large industries now being developed in this country are due to United States capital to a large extent. It is a good deal easier to ask why than to tell why.

ONTARIO JUDGES.

Hon. David Mills, Attorney-General for the Dominion, is back from Europe, the courts of Ontario will open in a few days, and the Postmaster-General is back from Australia: why not catch up with the vacancy in the Superior Courts of Ontario and have the judges of the Ontario Bench re-appointed?

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

Another sphere, which has heretofore been exclusively allotted to the stern sex, has been invaded by woman, and the innovation took place in France. At a ball held on Sunday two female dancers killed between them five bulls. After a while it will be a misnomer to speak of women as gentler sex if the sort of thing goes on. Another incident calculated to make a man nervous is the report from Paris of a woman throwing her husband into a safe and locking him in, where he died, and all because he objected to her going to a ball.

Duluth News Tribune: Philadelphia and New York supply the horrible examples of municipal mismanagement in America. Chicago has not much to brag of, and there are others. The effete monarchies

How Will She End?

Just budding into womanhood, so fresh, so fair and fine, that we turn to watch her as she passes, she slips along the street in a picture of health and beauty. Among the passing crowd of worn and wrinkled women, she looks like a flower from another world. Will she ever be like them? Could they once have been as fair as she? No beauty can stand under the strain and drain of female weakness, from which the majority of the women suffer in a greater or less degree. They might preserve their face and form if they would cure the disastrous diseases which affect the woman.

Women are cured of these diseases by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It cures the woman of all the diseases of the female system, and restores the system to its normal condition. German women have started a movement to compel men to abolish beards, and make the horrible threat to reintroduce hoop-skirts unless the men comply. The Emperor's barber opposes the idea, and looks upon the horrible adornment of man's face as the bulwark of the nation's greatness.

Similkameen, B.C., Star: When Big Bill Gallagher gets a little spare time, we would suggest that he ask the Hon. Mr. Malloch to at once give his decision about the increased mail facilities for the Similkameen, which have been recommended by the provincial postoffice inspector. We have waited for a long time now, William, and our patience is nearly exhausted.

Princeton, B.C., rejoices in the prospect of a private bank, the establishment of which it looks upon as an evidence of the confidence of capitalists in the future of the place.

Ottawa Journal: Of course the fewer people there are on this half of the continent the more the assets for us are here—if we can get them. There was really no hurry needed about the announcement of that census. A few years more delay wouldn't have been so bad.

Altho gold dust continues to come down from the Yukon there are no reports of much dust.

The Ottawa Journal prints a letter from an Ontario man who went to Manitoba to work in the harvest. Men who have been in the West for some time, and who have returned to Ontario, are as follows: "This warning comes to a few. And apparently Manitoba needs to moderate its future its following about the number of harvest hands necessary to save it from destruction. Men from Ontario and Quebec who go up there to get it work are only too likely if they fail to get it drift over to the neighboring states and stay there, which is not what we want. Canada wants to see its young men doing."

Port Hope Guide: "Music hath charms to soothe the savage breast," and a northern town is advertising for a bandmaster at a salary of $5 a month. How prolonged are people are when their tastes are in question! Let's listen to the band, and hang the expense!

The London Advertiser makes a bid for more cabinet representation for the great West. Pointing out that the Maritime Provinces, with 583,000 people, have four Ministers, all holding important portfolios, while the West, with one-half the population of the Dominion and 680,000 of a population, has only one representative in the cabinet. And that one in the West has caused more agitation than any two of the other Ministers, excepting, perhaps, Mr. Tarte.

Another evidence that the correct policy with the United States is to meet them with their own tariff weapons is found in the fact that the Saginaw Lumber Co. has been forced to establish a mill on the Canadian side to save Canadian logs, or lose their business.

At Aldershot, England, a brigade of 1400 military bicyclists was sent to attack Staines, ten miles away. The experiment is reported to have succeeded admirably, and without confusion. This might be done in a settled country where the roads were good, but how would it succeed on the African veldt or in the hills of Afghanistan?

The Consumers' Gas Co. has ordered $500,000 worth of machinery from the United States, because it cannot get the same machinery in Canada. The material is in this country, only awaiting the capital and enterprise to make use of it.

One place on the Canadian side is going ahead faster than its rival, the United States side. Mr. H. L. Frankland of the Inland Revenue Department, just returned from the Soo, is surprised at the way the Canadian town is going ahead.

Le Soleil of Quebec goes into ecstasies because the Provincial accounts show a surplus of $50,000. This is something so remarkable that Mr. Proulx's joy is pardoned, and credit is due to the administration that could lift it out of the hole it fell into during the Mercier regime.

Since 1815 the Rothschild family have paid for Great Britain alone more than $1,000,000,000; for Austria, $250,000,000; for Prussia, $200,000,000; for France, $400,000,000; for Italy, $200,000,000; for Russia, $125,000,000; for Brazil, $70,000,000.
