

ENEMY REGIMENTS FIGHT EACH OTHER ON ITALIAN FRONT

Headquarters of the Italian army in northern Italy, Wednesday, Nov. 29.—(By the Associated Press)—Details have been officially received of one of the most sanguinary fights in the northern zone, in which two Austro-Hungarian regiments fought until they almost exterminated each other. The fight was back of Asiago during one of the main attacks against the Italians.

The enemy advanced from the two flanks and toward night a regiment of Hungarian Czechs became engaged with a regiment of Galician Poles, both wearing a different uniform and speaking a different dialect. The rifle fire was followed by a bayonet charge and then hand-to-hand struggle with grenades lasting throughout the night, until the two regiments were disintegrated after heavy losses, when it became known that they belonged to the same side.

The general situation is not materially changed tonight along the northern and Piave fronts.

ATTACKS REPULSED
Rome, Nov. 29.—Tעות attacks against the Italian positions in Albania at a point ten miles northeast of the Adriatic Sea port of Avlona were repulsed yesterday with heavy losses, the Italian war office announced today. The text of the statement reads: "Albanian troops. Enemy attacks at the confluence of the Susica and Voyksa rivers at dawn yesterday were repulsed with heavy losses."
