NEW MEN'S STORE AT A KING ST.

OPENS ON SATURDAY.

A. E. Henderson's new Custom Tailoring and Ready to Wear Clothing Store opens its doors for business Saturday morning. This store is going to be one of the best furnished stores in the city. Its fixtures are all made in mahogany, with the latest ideas in tailoring. When speaking to the Telegraph Mr. Henderson said that on his way home from the west last fall he stopped off at Toronto, Buffalo, New York and Boston, and looked up the latest ideas in men's wear stores. After looking into it very carefully he found that the stores that are the biggest success are the ones that get the right location and then specialize in some particular line. "I consider that I have the location and I'm going to specialize my store as a men's suit and overcoat store, both as made to order and ready to wear," said A. E. Henderson.

The Brussels street Baptist church was broken into recently and $10 taken from the missionary offerings box and the long rubber boots worn by the pastor with his baptismal gown, valued at $15, were stolen also.

MORE COLORED POPULANS FOR $100.

This firm has just received another supply of these Populans and customers who were disappointed in not being able to secure the color wanted at the recent sale will be permitted to select now at the same price of $100 a yard, in the Silk Department, second floor.

TRICKED HIS FIANCE INTO SHOOTING HIM

Bridgeport, Conn., April 29—Arthur Hearn Cowl of New York, a grandson of James A. Hearn, dry goods merchant, died at midday in a local hospital from a bullet wound in his head. According to the story told to the police by his supposed fiancée, Miss Emily Wheeler, she played an innocent part in his death.

The police version is this: Cowl, who was twenty-two years old, came from New York today and went at once to the residence of Arthur DeForest Wheeler in Stratford, near here. He spent the evening with Miss Emily Wheeler. He gave her an engagement ring, but before she could say anything he handed her the end of a ribbon. The other end of the ribbon was attached to the trigger of a revolver which Cowl had concealed under his coat.

Miss Wheeler asked what the ribbon was for and Cowl replied that it was "a surprise." At his urgent request she pulled the ribbon, which caused the revolver to explode and the bullet crashed into Cowl's brain.

SOBRIETY AND CREDIT

Discussing the relation of the drink habit to the prosperity of a community, a Puget Sound business man says:

"For years I was a resident in a Colorado city of about 15,000 people, my business being in connection with a department store in that place. There were ten saloons in the city, all of which were respectable places, as no dives were permitted. This department store had among the many names carried on its books 800 debtors whose accounts were marked off as 'bad.' There came a time when the saloon was voted out, and the city became 'dry.' Within sixty days of the date on which the saloons were closed, 360 of those whose accounts were marked off as 'bad' had their accounts in full. Within an additional brief time 800 more came in and 'paid good.' Thus in a short time, 560 of these 800 debtors paid their debts and their credit was re-established when that city became dry."
