

ARGUMENT WILL BEGIN MONDAY

Tobique Salmon Club Superintendant Last Witness In Inglewood Case

Thos. F. Allen Speaks of Value From Fishing Rights Standpoint

Evidence in the arbitration proceedings between the Inglewood Pulp & Paper Company and the New Brunswick Electric Power Commission was concluded before Mr. Justice LeBlanc in the Equity Court room yesterday afternoon. Argument by counsel will begin on Monday afternoon at 2:30.

Thomas F. Allen, superintendant of the Tobique River Salmon Club, was on the stand most of the afternoon. He was called by the company to give evidence concerning the value of salmon fishing rights. Mr. Allen said that if the conditions on the Musquash were such as had been described in the proceedings the rights should be worth at least $100,000.

The cross-examination of F. S. Clinch, who had been recalled at the morning session, was finished shortly after the noon recess. Mr. Allen was the next witness. He said that his club exercised protection over practically the whole of the Tobique River.

Much of his evidence was of a technical nature having to do with the habits of salmon. Apart from its value as evidence, his testimony was of great interest to those in court who were interested in fishing.

INCREASING DEMAND

The witness told of the increasing demand for salmon pools and fishing privileges and gave instances of high prices which had been paid for rights.

In one instance, he said, he had gone to bargain for fishing rights prepared to pay $135,000, but had been outbid. The rights in question were now being held for $200,000. The water he spoke of was on the Matapeia River and was nine miles in length.

Mr. Allen said that he had no personal knowledge of the Musquash but had examined maps of it. From knowledge so obtained and from hypothetical questions, which were put to him as to the use that could be made of the Musquash as a salmon river if there were no artificial obstructions, he gave answers to estimate its value from that standpoint.

TAKE THREE OR FOUR YEARS

He placed the time necessary to re-establish the stream as a good salmon water at three or four years. If it were stocked with spawners or fry they would go out to sea and return as grise. On the representations made to him he would not hesitate to advise expenditure of $100,000 for the fishing rights. Regarding obstructions, he said that salmon would follow the main stream to its headwaters, shunning the tributaries that fed it. The limit in height for fishways should be 12 feet. The rise should not be more than one foot in ten. To put a fishway in a 40-foot dam meant that the entrance should begin 200 feet downstream. If the entrance were so far down he thought the fish would ignore it, thinking that it was the mouth of a small tributary.

SPAWN WASTED

The fish would swim up to the dam and along it looking for an opening. When the spawning time came they would still be there and the spawn would be wasted as a means of restocking the stream.

SECOND APPEAL TO LEAGUE PRESENTED

Report of Greco-Turk Dispute Followed By Poland-Lithuania Protest

Canadian Press

GENEVA, Feb. 27.—Following closely the action of Greece in appealing to the League of Nations to settle a boundary dispute between Greece and Turkey, a conflict in the Baltic suddenly loomed on the League horizon when Lithuania filed a vigorous protest against Poland, alleging that the recent Polish frontier action constituted a "new invasion of Lithuanian territory by Polish troops."

Lithuania urgently demands intervention by the League to avoid bloodshed. Liberation of Lithuanian soil and the release of imprisoned Lithuanian militiamen are asked. Poland insists it was Lithuania that began the frontier disturbance by occupying a forest situated on Polish territory.

Both communications have been transmitted to the members of the council, and it is understood M. Vittorio Scialoja, of Italy, who is acting as president of the council until Viscount Ishii of Japan takes over the chairmanship at the March session, will send messages to both governments urging direct negotiations to settle the controversy.

GIRL ABLE TO WALK AFTER 12 YEARS

Surgical Operation and Expert Treatment Given For Infantile Paralysis

LONDON, Feb. 27.—After being unable to walk for 12 years, Miss Bertha Johnston of Newcastle, is now able to walk around her ward in the Royal National Orthopaedic Hospital, Great Portland street, W., with the aid of a stick. She has been suffering from infantile paralysis since the age of seven. Admitted to the hospital in March last, she has since undergone five operations and received other expert treatment, and recently the surgeons' success was first tested. She was taken from her bed and put on her feet, with a small knee support and crutches. A few days later she was walking around the ward.

MONCTON POLICE SAY BEGGARS BUY LIQUOR

MONCTON, Feb. 26.—Peter Burke, who was given a six months' suspended sentence for theft about a week ago, was fined $10 or two months for vagrancy here today.

Frederick Godose, charged with begging, was remanded to jail in order that the prosecution might secure additional witnesses. Both Godose and Burke, it was alleged, had liquor in their possession when they were arrested.

Hanford Berry was sentenced to a $10 fine or two months for vagrancy and George Mackay was sentenced $10 or one month for begging.

The police report that vagrants and beggars are increasing in the city and vigorous measures may have to be taken with them. Most of the money received, the police say, goes for liquor.
