THREE MEN KILLED IN RIOT OF STRIKING MINERS

Mob Were Celebrating Easter Monday and After Much Liquor Had Been Used Broke Loose in the Town—More Trouble Feared.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., April 15.—Three men have been shot, a boy fatally wounded and a mining engineer, Eugene Delaney, taken to the hospital in a serious condition, as a result of a riot at Windber among the striking coal miners tonight. The place is in a state of terror. Sheriff Begley has been summoned and an appeal has been made to Governor Pennypacker for troops. There are several others who have sustained the death of a man and most of the injured are foreigners and their names cannot be obtained. The bodies are lying in the streets tonight, where they tell the strikers refusing to allow the undertakers to remove them. The foreign element has been celebrating Easter Monday in the mining section and much liquor has been used. The streets have been thronged all day with a boisterous crowd, but no sign of trouble appeared until tonight. A body of strikers was assembled in front of the Windber jail discussing the mass meeting that had been held during the afternoon and which had been addressed by three Catholic priests. The discussion grew into an argument and soon there was a free for all fight. Deputies that had been sworn in when the strike in the coal mines was first inaugurated, made their appearance and a number of arrests were made. All of the arrested men were union men, and their colleagues set up a cry that they were being discriminated against and were imposed upon. The arrested men were marched to the lockup door, but there a mob had formed and an attempt was made to take the men from the officers. Forced back from the jail door, the mob grew more violent every minute. The crowd threatened the deputies until the officers fired. The mob hesitated, apparently not expecting the deputies would resort to firearms. When the smoke had cleared away and the victims of the shots were viewed by the crowd there were cries of anger and the miners that were armed returned the shots of the deputies. The firing ceased almost as soon as it began, however, and the crowd fled away from the jail. A state of terror exists tonight because of the prevalence of liquor, and the angered miners. There is much dynamite stored here, and it is feared the strikers will resort to the explosive in revenge.

Shortly after midnight the town quieted and the crowds began to disappear from the streets. The state constabulary had been summoned from Greenburg in the meantime and were being rushed to Windber in a special train, but about a mile west of the city the train was held up by a freight wreck and it is not expected the constabulary will reach Windber before early in the morning. Trouble is anticipated, however, when the constabulary arrive at the mines, as the foreign element are very antagonistic to the state officers. When something like order began to appear in the town, it was learned that the names of the dead men were Pietro Martini, Paul Sills, leader of the rioters, and Antonio Masaca. The boy, who was fatally wounded, is Charles Foster, 12 years old. Engineer Delaney was hurt by being struck on the head with a brick. An eye-witness of the riot in describing the affair tonight, said the trouble started at five o'clock when Deputy Sheriff Wm. McMullen went to the mass meeting held by the striking miners in a wood at the edge of the town. Many of the miners had been drinking and the sight of the deputy made them furious. The officer was quickly surrounded by the maddened miners who threatened to kill him. McMullen, realizing that his situation was desperate for his life, finding refuge in the house of Councilman Charles Davis. Practically every man who had gone to the mass meeting joined in the chase after the fleeing deputy, and soon after the latter had entered the house and surrounded by the mob of 2,000 shouting, cursing miners, who challenged McMullen to come out. When McMullen failed to appear the mob attacked the house and literally wrecked it. The deputy sheriff was roughly handled, but again managed to escape. The members of the Davis family fled to the homes of neighbors for shelter. The deputies who had been on duty guarding the property of the trouble party had been notified of the trouble by this time and twenty of the rioters were landed in the lockup at Windber. The mob, headed by Paul Sills, then set to work on the jail with the purpose of releasing the prisoners. A great crowd of the strikers, with Sills at their head, marched to the centre of the town and prepared to storm the jail. The deputy sheriffs fixed bayonets to their rifles and surrounded the jail. The members of the fire department were also called out to help restore order. The foreigners were urged to be orderly and to leave town, but inflamed by liquor they refused to listen, greeting the efforts to pacify them with hoots and jeers. At a signal the mob began to close in on the jail, shouting to the deputies to throw away their guns and give up the prisoners. The officers first tried to keep back the mob with bayonets, but the effort was ineffectual, and when it became certain that the little band of deputies could not stand against the mob, they opened fire. Those of the foreigners who were close to the jail had already begun using knives in the attempt to disarm the deputies, while others flourished revolvers. The deputies fired but one volley and the foreigners broke and fled in wild disorder, leaving three of their number dead in front of the jail. Those who were entertained that the strikers will make another effort to free the rioters now in jail. At a mass meeting this afternoon the men had decided to return to work on operators' terms when Deputy McMullen appeared. It is said that an intoxicated striker made an insulting remark to the deputy, and that when the latter warned the miner to keep quiet the trouble began. Deputy sheriffs are now guarding the streets of Windber, pending the arrival of the state constabulary, and all who are unable to give a satisfactory reason for being out of doors are stopped and compelled to go home.

TORONTO BOARD OF TRADE ACTIVE

Over Question of Immigration to Canada

Will Oppose Dumping of Undesirable Immigrants in This Country— Matter Getting Serious

(Special to the Sun.)
TORONTO, April 15.—The Toronto board of trade is taking up the question of the dumping of undesirable immigrants in Canada. A prominent member of the board who returned to Toronto from England in March for-warded to Frank G. Morley, the secretary, clippings from British papers reporting the poor law guardians there as sending paupers to Canada. Mr. Morley was instructed by the board to bring the matter to the attention of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. The premier replied stating the complaint had been referred to the minister of the interior. The superintendent of immigration, W. D. Scott, wrote on April 12th that the complaint had been sent to the high commissioner in London. The board of trade followed the correspondence up by securing the co-operation of Dr. Sheard, medical health officer, who says that the arrival of helpless or indigent immigrants in Toronto is getting serious. Mr. Morley later received a letter from Dr. Sheard furnishing a list of 67 persons of eleven nationalities who have applied as indigents for hospital maintenance chargeable to the city since Jan. 1, 1905.

The letter adds: The number of applicants for relief other than hospital relief, who have been less than three months in Toronto, number 350. More than a large number of immigrants daily infest the casual ward of the house of industry over and about town included in the list. Mr. Morley says that the board of trade will, if necessary, follow this matter up to the high commissioner's office in London.

ANOTHER ANTI-JEWISH UPRISING FEARED

Lower Classes of Peasants Are In High Pitch of Religious Excitement

WASHINGTON, April 15.—The state department has been in cable communication with Ambassador Meyer at St. Petersburg relative to the possibility of anti-Jewish disturbances on a great scale in Russia. The fact that the lower classes of the peasants and laborers are at this season wrought up into a pitch of religious excitement approaching fanaticism, which feeling intensified as the Russian Easter draws near, has caused great apprehension among the Jews in this country that there would be a repetition of the Russian massacres of last year. These fears were communicated to the state department, and Secretary Root interested himself in the matter to the extent of calling upon Mr. Meyer for a statement as to the probabilities. He has received the assurance that every possible precaution has been adopted by the Russian government to prevent an anti-Jewish uprising, and all the reports in hand indicate that such an uprising is no longer to be feared. Not only the governors of provinces, but subordinate officials down to the municipal commandants and mayors have been officially informed that they would be held responsible for the safety of the Jews in their charge, and it is believed that these measures will prove effectual. The fact that the Russian government itself is now endeavoring to float a large loan is cited by officials here as an additional reason why it should do everything in its power to repress internal disorder, that would tend to shake the confidence of the foreign investors.
