

The University Gymnasium, erected within fifty yards of the College, is open to the students upon the payment of a small fee.

The Library contains at present 8,000 volumes, and additions are made to it from time to time as the funds permit. The students have also access, upon the payment of a small fee, to the Library and Reading rooms of the University in the new building just completed to the south of the College. The University Library contains over 50,000 volumes; and the Reading room, lighted by electricity, open both in the day and in the evening, affords every facility for study and research.

The generosity of benefactors has provided a number of Bursaries available for those needing this assistance. The College would be greatly strengthened by further benefactions for this purpose.

The teaching staff of the College consists of four theological professors. This is supplemented by the appointment from year to year of Honorary Lecturers upon special subjects.

The very important department of Practical Theology has been strengthened by the appointment of two subordinate teachers—one in Elocution and the other in Church Music—both contributing elements of greatest value in the practical training of students, and fitting them to be more efficient preachers and leaders in the service of prayer and praise in the house of God.

The work in this department is also supplemented by practical parochial work carried on under the supervision of the Professor of Practical Theology, with cottage meetings and Bible-class work in the city, and the supply of missions in the country from Sunday to Sunday during the long summer vacations. This work, duly limited and supervised, is of great importance. It is analogous to the clinical instruction and hospital practice so essential in the study of medicine. It constitutes an indispensable factor in theological education, if it is to be practically efficient in the moulding of pastors and workers who are not merely theoretical theologians.
