HYDRAULIC OPERATIONS

Big Plant Installed on American Creek

By Means of Hydraulic Elevator Will be Enabled to Handle 1000 Yards Daily.

So quietly has the firm represented by Dr. Green, late of Evanston, Ill., conducted mining operations during the past three years on American creek that he has thoroughly developed a large area in that section and installed the first real hydraulic mining machinery in the country, expending $75,000, and scarcely any one has heard anything of it.

Dr. Green arrived last night on the Sybil and will remain until Mrs. Green joins him which will probably be by Thursday of next week. Though the plans he has laid out and which are now being pushed to completion require the expenditure of many thousands of dollars and is what would be termed a big deal, the doctor has not one partner, one associate. His firm is in no sense a company or a corporation, the only person interested in the success or failure of the scheme being R. D. Shepard, also of Evanston, president of the State bank and business agent and treasurer of the Northwestern University.

SAM LEVY IS IN DURANCE VILE

Equally Charged With Max Steinfield With Robbing Isaac Bros. Warehouse - Arrested at Fortymile on Way Down River in Small Boat.

Sam Levy was before Mr. Justice Macaulay in police court this morning on the charge of robbery, it being alleged that he is implicated with Max Steinfield in stealing goods from the warehouse of Isaac Bros. on Fifth avenue during the months of May and June. Sergeant Smith appeared for the prosecution and N. F. Hazel, K.C., for the accused. The case was enlarged until next Thursday. Bail was fixed at $6000, Levy's own guarantee, and two sureties, that must be satisfactory to the court in the sum of $3000 each. Levy was returned to jail pending the raising of the required bail.

Levy was arrested at Fortymile at 11 o'clock Thursday night while passing down the river in a small boat. On Steinfield being committed without bail Thursday morning it is supposed that Levy who had not then been mentioned in connection with the robbery, developed a longing for the green fields of America with the result that at 2 o'clock that afternoon he put off down the river alone in a small boat. Several other small boats were going down that night and all, with the exception of Levy, pulled in to the police post to register and have their boats numbered. Levy kept on and to call his attention to the fact that he would be required to stop a shot was fired across his bow. Still he ignored the challenge but when a second shot rang out in the night air he turned in. A wire from Dawson had been received that evening instructing the arrest and detention of Levy and as he talked, exactly with the description given he was taken into custody as soon as he landed and four hours later he was on board the Sybil en route back to Dawson in charge of Sergeant Beys.

Levy is well known in Dawson and for two or three years has been engaged in various houses as a clerk, being lately employed as salesman by Isaacs Bros. The firm he is charged with having robbed. For some months last year he was in the employ of the Ames Mercantile Co. He has always been considered a good salesman by his Dawson employers.

Already goods to the value of $850 and alleged to have been stolen by Steinfield and Levy and sold in job lots to local merchants have been recovered and it is reported that when the "returns" are all in the amount will be much higher than that already known. It is also said that one merchant, in South Dawson, bought as high as 50 suits from the pair within the past few weeks.

When arrested at Fortymile Levy had only a few bites of provisions with him and an overcoat in addition to the light clothes he had on, he having evidently left in a hurry on learning that his alleged partner in crime was held without bail. The offense with which Steinfield and Levy are charged is punishable by imprisonment not to exceed six years.

COMMANDER CUTHBERT

Returns From a Visit to Fortymile

Saw Rock That Looked Good to His Miner's Eye - Deserted Post to be Razed.

Major Cuthbert returned yesterday afternoon on the steamer Sybil from his first official visit to Fortymile, where he reports the post as being in good condition. With his little son he left Dawson at 3 o'clock Thursday morning and made the trip to Fortymile in six and a half hours. The major visited the old fort across the river from Fortymile, which was abandoned some years ago. He ordered that the old fort be razed as it has passed its stage of usefulness. Major Cuthbert is firmly of the belief that there is good gold-bearing rock along the Yukon and especially at a point about 13 miles this side of Fortymile where there are unmistakable indications of gold, the porphyry streaks being very apparent to the experienced eye and very similar to what the major has frequently seen in the rich quartz mining regions of California. Being familiar with quartz the only thing that prevented the major from stopping and going to prospecting was the fact that he was on a hurried official trip and could not spare the time. Speaking of the duties of the police stationed at Fortymile, Major Cuthbert said that at all hours day and night a watch from a point commanding an extended view of the river is maintained and that all small boats are hailed and made to stop. The travelers' names are then registered and their boats numbered. This is done as a protection to the public and as an aid to identification in case of mishap or disaster afterwards. In case an occupant or occupants of a small boat show no disposition to stop, as was the case with Sam Levy right before last, a shot is fired, not at the boat, but as a notice to the same to put in. In case no attention is paid to the first shot another is fired and if it is disregarded a third is fired and the third shot is a signal to two other officers stationed a short distance below to take to a small boat and head off the blockade runner. The result of this system is that the man who passes Fortymile on the river without registering must travel as a submarine boat. Major Cuthbert says the trip to Fortymile in a canoe is a most delightful one at this season of the year.

Another Boy Mr. George D. Munro of the gold commissioner's office is the proud father of another son, which was born on the 27th day of February, and weighed eleven pounds at birth, but almost cost Mrs. Munro her life as she was unconscious for hours at the time of baby's birth. Through the skill of Dr. Boyle of Vancouver, and a trained nurse, Mrs. Munro had fully regained her health in one month's time.

Mrs. Stevens Married Invitations have been received in Dawson to the marriage of Florence J. Sapp to J. Floyd Hammond, M.D., which was recently solemnized in Chicago. The interesting part of the invitation is in knowing that the bride was formerly Mrs. M. I. Stevens of Dawson. Stevens was an erstwhile newspaper man and had a meteoric career here three years or more ago. He deserted his wife here and later she returned to her former home in Chicago and secured a divorce.

"Dibbs" a Winner Another good crowd greeted "Dibbs" at A. B. hall last night and everyone there was amply repaid for attending. Another big success of the highly entertaining production is promised for tonight, the last opportunity for seeing it.

Calderhead Boats The steamer La France of the Calderhead line is due to return from Stewart river points tomorrow and will sail on her return trip Monday evening with freight and passengers.

The Thistle is crossing LeBarge on her way to Whitehorse this afternoon and is expected to arrive in Dawson Tuesday morning. She will leave on another trip to Whitehorse Tuesday evening in case she arrives before noon of that day.

STEAMBOATS ARE COMING

Where Not Enjoyed by Sand Bars

Whitehorse Due Tomorrow Afternoon With Many Passengers and Beer.

At 11:38 o'clock this forenoon the long month of 31 days had been laid away on the "shill of eternity" since the ice broke in the Yukon at Dawson, and yet no boat has arrived from Whitehorse, the southern terminal of Yukon navigation.

However, the steamer Whitehorse of the White Pass fleet left Whitehorse yesterday evening at 7:30 o'clock. She left with no cargo except passengers and 125 sacks of mail. Her object is not bringing any freight from Whitehorse was to enable her to pass safely over the bar at Upper LeBarge which, owing to her light draught, she was able to do. Once over the bar all danger was past, therefore a cargo of 325 barrels of beer was taken on. She made her way safely through Lake LeBarge in which the last ice broke up yesterday, yielding to the hot sun which raised the temperature to 80 in the shade, and at 2:30 this afternoon she passed Big Salmon and Agent Rogers thinks she will reach Dawson by two o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The Whitehorse carries the following passengers:

Commissioner Fred T. Congdon, Mrs. Congdon and their children, E. B. Bushy, Canadian collector of customs, A. B. Newell, vice-president and general manager of the White Pass & Yukon, D. Jarvis, United States collector of customs, Mrs. Wickersham, wife of Judge Wickersham of Alaska, J. B. Charleson, of the Dominion Telegraph service, accompanied by his three daughters, A. B. Hegg, agent of the service at Whitehorse, accompanied by J. E. Goebel, B. Y. Rochester, C. H. W. Rogers, son of General Agent Rogers of the White Pass, R. Menzies, A. Brewster, the Misses D. and G. Browning, Mrs. Barlow, Mrs. McTear, Jean Foulon, Mrs. Foulon, M. Lenz, Jerry Marymont, Mrs. Letnes, Mrs. Elmer, J. T. Rook, Mrs. Rook, Captain and Mrs. Clayton, Mrs. Arndt, Miss Arndt, P. C. Charles, John Lamb, Mrs. H. N. Ford, Mrs. Wickersham, Misses S. and L. Thompson, Mrs. Rupp, Mrs. Darud, George Perry, Mrs. Perry, Miss L. Adams, Mrs. F. G. Nelson, August Bedding and partner, J. J. Routledge, Mrs. Routledge, Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Nelson, Mrs. S. Colton, Mrs. R. Goldstein, Herman Elberg, Victor H. Zarrowski, J. L. Lammeister, Mr. and Mrs. Kallen, Mrs. H. Gishen, H. Malstrato, M. McMullen, Joe McMullen, Mike McMullen, Louis Stord, John Yussell, Sam Nixon, Thomas Hogan, C. H. Klives, Thomas Ailish, H. H. Welch, F. O. Barker, A. J. Morris, Mrs. Harlan, Mr. and Mrs. Harkin, D. Peacock, Charles S. Martin, W. Mirechant.

The Whitehorse also carries 33 second-class passengers. The steamer Columbia left Whitehorse for Dawson at about the same time as the other steamer. The Columbia was less fortunate than the Whitehorse in that she arrived before noon of that day.
