In moving his motion respecting the establishment of registration districts in the province, Dr. Ellis said that he felt convinced that the subject required no elaboration to would commend itself to the House. It was not inconsistent with the policy of the Government announced last session when Mr. Lamont statable of handling the business the government would provide a remedy establishing a better service. The tendency seems to be, notwithstanding the statements of the leader of the House, toward centralisation, and it occurred to him that now the judicial districts are being formed, that the boundaries would do for both, at least for the present. The argument of convenience appealed very strongly to him and he thought this would be a workable scheme as a solution of the registration lands titles registration problem. Regardurge that in his opinion the amount of the tenders for the Regina building would construct another five a least throughout the province. Lamont Objects

Mr. Lamont took objection to the motion first of all on the ground that it embodied a wrong principle If the Government were to accept this motion whenever in future a new judicial district were created a registration district would have to ac company it. With regard to the pre sent service he stated that there are two registration districts in the judicia't district of Saskatoon and one in the two judicial districts There have been no complaints of late and the rvice has been greatly improved. He believed that the ininterests of the people demands that these offices should be conveniently situated. The principle consideration, in this matter should be ease, speed and inexpense. He believed that for many years to come the registration offices of the province will do a vast mount of work, and the time will soon demand more new offices in the Redberry Cut Up Mr. Langley complained that the $1 SATEEN UNDERSKIRTS 65c. judicial district schedule had cut his constituency up, and the federal redistribution has hacked it addy. He would like to know why his territory was thus trisected.

It is a characteristic of the west that people are enterprising, and he felt sure that the business of the country will soon demand many more land titles offices to properly accommodate the public.
