KLONDIKE NUGGET.

THE RECENT ORDER.

It is to be greatly deplored that the government at Ottawa should have made such a glaring error as is now feared has been made in connection with the Klondike water grant to Treadgold and his associates.

The right subject to no payment except the royalty prescribed upon output, to enter upon, make entry for and work all mining locations now or hereafter abandoned on Bonanza, Bear and Hunker creeks and their tributaries.

The above section cannot be construed to mean other than that it embraces all land on the creeks mentioned and their tributaries that has or may hereafter be abandoned, and taken literally it embraces everything in the prescribed territory in the way of quartz that may be discovered in the future.

If the order is rightly interpreted the time for the most vigorous protest by the people, every official and private citizen of whatsoever country, in the history of the Yukon is in order and the Nugget believes it will be made and made in a manner that will forbid any misconstruction of its motive.

It is expected that the intended interpretation of the full order, and especially of section will be received from Ottawa within a week or ten days, and if it is as believed from the wording of the order it will be, then will the time be ripe for a protest that Ottawa cannot ignore.

THE TWO FLAGS.

While our esteemed but narrow-minded friends on the other side of the line were engaged in their favorite pastime of pulling down British flags wherever one could be seen, the commissioner of the Yukon territory was setting an example of tolerance which we are afraid will be entirely wasted.

An extraordinary feature was the compliance of Governor Ross with a petition from American residents to declare the day a public holiday. Inasmuch as this is Canadian territory, the declaration of a public holiday by a Canadian governor was exceptional.

Public offices did not all close, but many did, and Canadians as well as Americans celebrated. The population of the camp is two-thirds American. The occurrence was not extraordinary at all. There was a time when the Fourth was celebrated in Victoria quite heartily. British people like to rejoice with all who are rejoicing when there is any sort of excuse for it.

dividual at Buffalo who removed British flags because they destroyed the artistic effect of a pavilion has been compelled to undo his work. He has discovered that it was all a mistake. A frothy gentleman of the same calibre at Unalaska was seized with a spasmodic fit of the 4th of July at the sight of a British flag on a British ship.

While the matter is an extremely delicate one we feel it our duty, in view of the statement made in the published prospectus of the Daily Sun relative to the high moral tone—the family journal air—that would cling like the aroma of orange blossoms to that publication, to suggest to our neighbor that it eliminate Vassar bathing stories from future Sunday issues.

Caused Gossip. London, July 25.—Much gossip in American and English society has been caused by the presentation to King Edward yesterday by some American ladies of a medal commemorating the Maine's work, with a request that the king transmit the medal to Queen Alexandria.

Was Not Poor. London, July 23.—Although reputed to be poor, the will of Hon. Eric Lascelles, who was found dead in a show wagon at Cheltenham on June 27, proved today by the Earl of Desart (husband of the Countess Desart, who was half sister to Lascelles), shows that Lascelles left an estate value at £37,000.

Must Fight Alone. Capetown, July 23.—It is reported that Gen. Delarey has informed the Klerksdorp commando that there is no longer any chance of European intervention, and that they must fight the war out to the bitter end entirely on their own account.

STROLLER'S COLUMN.

While W. D. Bruce, the popular fire insurance agent, is not much addicted to telling stories he tells a very good one in which Tax Assessor and Collector E. W. Smith and a Winnipeg sheeny constituted the cast of the play. It seems that being tax assessor in Dawson is not Ward Smith's first offence, as for 18 long years he held the same office in the city of Winnipeg.

when the proprietor who had just completed the sale of an old overcoat for 'hallelu' a dollar, approached him and said: 'What can I done for you sletty?'

'I was just sizing up your stock,' said Ward in a meek and lowly tone of voice as became a wily tax assessor whose heart is supposed to be as hard as a petrified potato, 'and I estimate that your stock is worth from $200 to $300.'

'Atch,' said the son of Abraham, 'Dot stock worth only $200 or $300! You see dot shell dot. Vy, mine cracions, mine vrent, on dot shell! alone der ish $500 worth-ov goods, an' under der gontler der ish $500 worth more goods, and mine frent, in dot cellar (there was not a cellar, within two miles of the place) ish von tonsant tollars worth of goods, vile in dot back yart ish anudder tonsant tollars worth in boxes. I haf tree tonsant tollars worth ov goods here if I haf anytings. But vy you want to know?'

'I am the assessor,' said Ward. 'Der yat?' said Abraham. 'I am assessing property to find out the amount of taxes each person will have to pay,' said the complacent Ward.

'Atch, mine got!' said the sheeny wringing his hands. 'I was von liar. I only half goods worth $50 unt gif me dot unt dake der store. I was only lying to you because I belief you vas von insurance man.'

'Your own statement of $300 goes,' said Ward as he noted down the amount in his book. The Hebrew merchant fell down and died, and, fearing he would be hauled up on a charge of murder, Ward Smith came to Dawson. A few days ago a big Swede called on Manager Fulda at the A. E. store and pulled out of his pocket a few chunks of 'crystallized' quartz which he wanted the A. E. assayer to examine. Mr. Fulda knew they were of no value but to humor the fellow he took the specimens and said he would turn them over to the assayer. The rocks were left on the manager's desk and all thought of them passed out of his mind until two days later when he noticed the same big Norwegian hanging around the store. Still he thought nothing of the matter until finally the Swede butted into Fulda's presence and blurted out: 'Don't you tank you kape my jewels long enough?'

'I don't know what you mean,' said Fulda. 'Ac mean Ac want my jewels,' said Ole.

Then Fulda tumbled that the fellow was referring to the crystallized quartz as jewels, and to make him feel good bragged on the staff and requested that he be allowed to keep a piece of it as a sample.

'How much you give?' said the Norwegian, and Fulda in an irritated tone, thinking he had jollied sufficiently long, said: 'Why, I should think you ought to

A Word to the Wise.

YOU WILL NOTICE the chill in the air for the past few days. It marks the departure of summer and hints at approaching frost. Now is the particular time when the body should be comfortably clothed. Possibly sickness and death await the careless who pay no attention to the warning nature gives of the change in season.
