

THE WIDE, WIDE WORLD.

WHAT IS GOING ON IN OTHERLANDS AND PLACES.

Brief and Interesting News Nuggets Special- ly Prepared for the Edification of our Readers.

High license has reduced drunkenness one half in Philadelphia.

The Eiffel Tower was visited by 36,000 persons one day last week.

Stanley has been heard from again. He reports that Emin is well.

Henry George is the conspicuous figure of the Socialist convention in Paris.

The opinion grows in London that the race for the America cup will be postponed.

President Harrison will be the guest of Mr. Blaine at Bar Harbour some time in July.

The Prince of Wales made a movement to erect a monument to Father Damien, the leper priest.

The Bishop of Chester, who is a bicyclist, presided at a meeting of an athletic association in London Monday.

The vice-president of the Total Abstinence Society of England, Wm. Dawson, was arrested in London for intoxication.

Emperor William's body is so seriously attacked by disease that he cannot sleep without the use of drugs.

Luchow, a Chinese city, was recently destroyed to a great extent by fire, and the loss of life is estimated at ten thousand.

My Mrs. Kirby, who is accused of having caused the death of her husband by poison, was committed for trial at Liverpool.

England and the United States have come to an understanding whereby no seizures of British vessels will be made in Behring Sea this season.

The handsome memorial erected at the grave of the late President Arthur in the cemetery at Albany was unveiled on Saturday.

The trial of General Boulanger will begin in August. It is believed the indictment is weak, but it will suffice to secure a sentence rendering the General ineligible to office.

The strike of dock laborers along the Clyde shows no signs of weakening, and there are now 6,000 men who have quit work.

Princess Eugenie Eberthazy, a leading Vienna beauty, died on Wednesday, it is said, of grief for the late Crown Prince Rudolf.

The race for the Manchester cup, one of the sporting events of the season, valued at 200 sovereigns, with 2,000 sovereigns added, was won by Rosedale Cottling.

Patrick A. Ward, President of the Irish American Club of Indianapolis, a prominent member of the Clan-na-Gael, has committed suicide.

Col. Dennis De Courcy, of New York, who was one of the leaders of the Fenian invasion of Canada, tried to poison himself on Friday with arsenic because of unsuccessful real estate transactions.

While Mr. Gladstone was passing through Wadebridge, Cornwall, a missile, supposed to have been a cartridge, was thrown at his carriage. The police, who appear to be more alarmed than the veteran, are making an investigation.

The German Baptist Convention, sitting in Harrisburg, Va., having decided that no man using tobacco was eligible as a committee man or delegate, came to the conclusion that it was a sin to raise tobacco or work in a tobacco factory.

The International Typographical Convention has accepted the offer of the citizens of Colorado Springs of eighty acres of land near the city as a free grant, on condition that a home for invalid and indigent printers be started within two years and completed within three years.

Gladstone on Disestablishment. Gladstone has at last made a speech in the course of his southwestern tour, which even his friends in the London Home Rule press praise. Cornwall's enthusiasm has aroused him, and at St. Austell he spoke on a subject which profoundly interests the English people. He spoke on disestablishment.

The cumbrous word sums up in English politics all the questions which lie at the root of the connection between church and state. It cannot be said that Gladstone, though he spoke on it, spoke out. He is used to everything a churchman—English churchman—and devoted his fortune to establish the church in Scotland and almost prepared to disestablish it in Wales. He is not prepared to do the same thing in England. The reason is the same in all three cases. He would divorce church from state in Scotland, because the people of Scotland are ready. He is almost ready in Wales, because the Welsh are almost ready. He is not ready in England, because in his curious phrase, "the most sanguine among you would not presume to say that there has yet been in England a distinct pronouncement of the national voice upon the subject of disestablishment."

The Drowning of Lord Cecil. Lord A. P. Cecil, the well-known evangelist, accidentally fell overboard and was drowned while sailing in a small boat near Adolphstown on Thursday last. Many years ago His Lordship relinquished the aristocratic circles of the Old Country and that he regarded as the "pumps and vanities of the world" and devoted his fortune, talents and talents to the work of evangelization. Religiously he belonged to what are known as the "Plymouth Brethren" but he preferred to be simply known as "Christian." Many times he visited Toronto, and during last fall he preached several times in the Alexander-a street meeting-room, also in that at the deacon-corner of Queen and Dundas-streets and in Temperance Hall. He was deeply read in the Scriptures and was an earnest expounder of the Word and a successful preacher of the Gospel. Unostentatious in his character, plain to shabbiness in his attire, lowly in manner, he had a big heart for the service of God and souls. He will be missed in many circles in Canada, and with deep regret his friends on both sides of the Atlantic will learn of his death.

Canada's Champion Oarsman. Champion William O'Connor landed in Toronto on Friday morning after an absence of five months on the Pacific slope, where he has been doing good work with the oars. The Toronto oarsman looks the picture of health and in the pink of condition. He will remain in Toronto a week or so before starting for England to row Sculler on the Thames.

The Coming "Electrocution." An execution that will be the subject of unusual interest is that of Joseph Kemmler who is to be put to death by electricity in the New York State prison at Auburn some day during the week beginning June 24th. The mechanical details are all ready. The electric current will be generated by an ordinary Westinghouse dynamo.

HEALTH NOTES.

Giving Medicine to Children.—The method of fixing the needle with the thumb and finger is advised, firstly, with the thumb, because it is a means of securing the first essential in deglutition; and secondly, because it leaves the natural respiratory channel unaffected, and thus prevents that terror arising from the confusion in the child's mind between the process of respiration and deglutition, so commonly induced by nipping the nose.

Effects of Opium.—Sin Le, a Chinese author, has thus described the effects of opium:—1. It exhausts the animal spirits; hence the youth who smoke will hasten the termination of their years. 2. It wastes flesh and blood; the faces of the weak who smoke become pale and cadaverous. 3. It dissipates every kind of property. 4. It renders the person ill-favored; mucus flows from his nostrils and tears from his eyes. 5. It promotes obscenity. 6. It discovers secrets. It violates laws. It attacks vitality. 7. It destroys life.

Tight-lace Diseases.—The "Medical Annual," a scientific record of the year, develops a good deal of space to those diseases of women which are generally believed to originate from tight lacing. "During the last few years," says the Annual, "several affections which are found in women with much greater frequency than in men have been claimed by independent writers in different parts of the world as the result of compression. The most important are anæmia, ulcer of the stomach, gall-stones, movable kidney."

Thirst in Young Infants.—It is a mistake to suppose, says a medical paper, that because milk is a liquid food it is at the same time a drink which is capable of satisfying the thirst of infants. Although milk appeases hunger, it makes thirst more intense after it has remained some time in the stomach and digestion has begun. It is thirst which causes healthy, breast-nourished infants to cry for long periods of time in many instances. There are many cases of indigestion due to weakness or insufficiency of the child's gastric juice, which would be greatly benefited or even cured if a child were allowed an occasional drink of water.

Bloodless Treatment of Ingrowing Nail.—A doctor recommends the following procedure for removing an ingrowing nail, which he has employed with excellent results in all his cases. After thorough cleansing of the nail, a solution of gutta serena, ten parts in eighty of chloroform, is applied with a brush to the interstices between the nail and the granulations. This is repeated several times on the first day, and subsequently at longer intervals. By exercise of care and patience it will be found that the nail is gradually lifted from the underlying parts, and can then be removed without pain with the scissors. If a properly fitted shoe is worn, no recurrence need be apprehended.

Nerve Tortured. "I suffered with neuralgia and yellowed no relief until I used Hagar's Yellow Oil. Since then I have also found it an invaluable remedy for all painful burns and cuts, rheumatism and sore throat." Dr. F. Cameron, 137 Richmond street West, Toronto, Ont.

Nearly eight hundred colored converts were baptized in the James River, Virginia, recently, 285 belonging to Rev. John Jasper's church, and 500 to the church of the Rev. Richard Wells, who across the "sun do move" doctrine of Brother Jasper and his adherents.

Consumption Surely Cured. To THE EDITOR:—Please inform your readers that I have a positive remedy for the above named disease. By its timely use are thousands of hopeless cases being permanently cured. I shall be glad to send two bottles of my remedy free to any of your readers who have consumption, if they will send me their Express and P. O. address. Respectfully, Dr. T. A. Slocum, 37 Yonge St., Toronto, Ont.

Mr. Spearbury, of the 4th con. Goderich township, had quite a lot of potatoes stolen from his root house the other night; Mr. B. Yao lost about 75 bushels of oats, some time ago; other parties have had similar losses, and as a pretty good idea prevails as to the identity of the thief, he will be rigorously dealt with if the practices are continued.

Gives Instant Relief. "I have been troubled with asthma and a bad cough for years. I get nothing to help me like Hagar's Pectoral and Balsam, and would recommend it to those who are troubled with asthma, cough and colds, as it gives instant relief." Tract from letter from Walter McAuley, Ventnor, Ont.

The Churchman, speaking of the death of Damien, the leper priest, says that outside of the walls of Jerusalem is a lepers' hospital tended by the deacon-corn from the German religious houses. "Year after year these heroic women, without pretensions, without any trumpeting of their work, almost unknown to the world, have waited upon lepers, while themselves literally dying by inches. Their courage has only come to light by the chance notices of travelers."

Will Power.

The right exercise of will-power and of self-control is far more an element in health than is generally supposed. We are all conscious of states of mental feeling which have to do with physical health. It is equally true that there are conditions of physical feeling which are quite dependent on the state of resistance or submission which the will exercises. Whatever there is of good result from "faith cures" is a system of practice comes from the fact that it puts in suspension the wayward will of the person concerned, and allows the strong will-power of some decided character to act as a substitute. The same is true as to "Christian Science," in which it is distinctly a matter of the faith of the operator, if used with energy and with submission thereto, will be effective. There are many cases of relief in which some strong will has simply moved in, taken possession, and asserted itself. This is a very valuable aid to health, where physical conditions, there is need that there should be this form of substitution or strong assistance. But even this should be a system of training. The design is so to assist the person that there may be a return to self-control and to normal conditions. In many of the best class of institutions for nervous ailments the success of treatment depends upon the full conception of this idea on the part of attendants as much as it does upon the usual routine of hygienic methods. There are many sick persons who could not be cured by the best of medical treatment, but by regarding their ailments as visionary, but by knowing them as functional and partly the result of habit, and so realizing that they are curable by discipline rather than by food or medicine. But a still greater difficulty is that many have this imperfect organization in childhood, or have it forced upon them by school life, or by errors of dress, of precocity, or of too early reception in society, or too early marriage. From this standpoint far greater attention should be given to such exercises as tend to put the child in possession of self-control. The boy or girl who runs with terror at some little fright should be unconsciously trained in the art of coolness. The emotional giving way to excitements should lead to a distinct effort to make stronger bodies, to regulate the exercise of functions, and to train in possession of physical strength which will leave quite out of sight history, science and the fine arts. It is better to be thoroughly healthy and good than to be smart. The first two largely depend upon this education of the will, so that it shall know how to give commands to the person, what to do and how to do it, and to resist them. There are numbers of people in the world at present who have too much of mere acquisition in its mental sense. Themselves and the world would have been far better off if they had had less education in its usual sense and more training in the will, such freedom of will would enable them to control it and to use it for physical as well as mental health and vigor. The physician sees a great amount of willfulness as a cause of ill-health. It is deliberate on the part of the individual only when it comes to be enjoyed as an indulgence. It is often an unconscious condition brought about by heredity, by ill direction in childhood, or by yielding to the various forms of abnormal habit. It is to be found in all degrees, from that of simple willfulness of temper to such as regards conduct and the will to give, with muscle and brain, the training of self-control, and which shall secure for the life a poise and a mastery that will make the person resistful of all indulgences that jeopardize health or vigor, and energetic and ambitious for all that effort which secures freedom of purpose, and the power to execute what it rightly undertakes.
