achieved in Mr. Lloyd George's little home in Downing Street, after a night long struggle, seems likely to be chronicled as the most momentous event in the history of Anglo-Irish relations. While the agreement still must be submitted to Dail Eireann and the British Parliament for ratification there was a disposition in all quart ers in London this morning to regard the outlook as the brightest. The agreement was signed on behalf of the Government by Mr. Lloyd George, Austen Chamberlain, Lord Birkenhead and Winston Churchill, and on behalf of Sinn Fein by Arthur Griffith, Michael Collins and Robert C. Many young professional men find neer two-room flats above shops or warehouses in the heart of London, and by spending a small sum of money on them turn them into quite olly little homes. One of these young householders, who has a 12 shilling-aweek fiat in the heart of London, declared that nothing would induce him to return to the dressing-for-dinner habits of Hampstead.

"I ask my pater and mater and my kid sisters up to tea once a week, and go home on Sundays," he said. "Otherwise, I do what I jolly well like. I can work here, which is what I could not do at home, with all its scial demands and customs. I've had all I want of family life in the suburbs."

"Sure cures" for tuberculosis are robably as old as the disease itself, says the U.S. Public Health Service. Hypophosphites, cresosote, "lymph," inhalants, serum, and the Friedman cure have all come and gone. Just now ome old devices in new forms are being acclaimed in the southwest. But: I can't say yet what medicine cured me," said the testimonial writer. "I ain't heard from but three sure-cure nies yet an' I'm waitin' for bids the advertising agents of two
