Bulgarian Town of Petrich Destroyed by Greek Gun Fire—Nova Scotia Swept by Storm—Arthur Henderson's Address to Combined Clubs Cancelled.

BRITAIN'S HOPE IN SCHNEIDER AIR RACES CRASHES.

BAYSHORE PARK, Balt., Oct. 23. Great Britain's mystery plane, the "Supermarine Napier" S-4, crashed this morning during navigability tests. Developing wing trouble, 200 ft above the water, Commander Napier attempted a landing, when the plane nose dived and sank. The plane was saved. The plane was England's star entry in the Schneider Races, scheduled for to-morrow.

BULGARIAN TOWN DESTROYED BY GREEK BOMBARDMENT.

PETRICH, Bulgaria, Oct. 24. A mass of ruins last night was all that remained of the town of Petrich, which is completely deserted except for the Mayor and town officials, as a result of a twenty-four hour bombardment by the Greeks. The fighting between the Greek and Bulgarian soldiers in this part of Macedonia, following the frontier encounters between the guards of both sides seemed to be ending. The Bulgarians claim 25 killed, 15,000 rendered homeless, and 20 square miles occupied by the Greeks. The League of Nations' Council will consider the problem Monday.

INSTRUCTION OF PETRICH CONFIRMED.

Takes Exception to John Cabot

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—In last night's issue of your paper, a writer advocates "John Cabot" as a name for the new hotel now building on the site of Fort William. Why "John Cabot"? Is it because of the myth that John Cabot anchored in the port of St. John's? If so, I would say, no. There is no historical evidence that John Cabot ever saw St. John's or that his ship was anchored in Newfoundland. Among the names of places in Newfoundland that appear in Sebastian Cabot's map, St. John's is not found, and it does not appear on any map until 1546 or forty-nine years after Cabot's voyage. The first recorded notice we have of St. John's is in Rutt's letter of 1527, although it was known to the fishermen of the Norman Isles long before that. I would advise writers about Newfoundland to study Biggar, Harrisson, Dawson and other authorities respecting the Cabot voyage. These men have had access to the records in Spain, Portugal, France and Italy and all of the ancient maps in existence. Anspach, Pedley, Harvey and Prowse did not have such data hence it is that much they have written respecting the discovery of Newfoundland is heresy or guess work.

Yours truly, VERITAS.

Our Dumb Animals

REPORT OF CHIEF AGENT WEEK ENDING OCT. 23.

Humanely put to death a horse for a West End teamster. The horse was suffering from a greasy leg; humanely put to death three dogs, owned by residents of Duckworth Street, the Higher Levels and Torbay Road. The latter was reported to me by the police. The dog had bitten a child and the owner wished to have it destroyed. Humanely put to death a number of cats. I should like the owners of these animals to understand that they are supposed to contribute something towards the funds of the Society. Five horses were sent in this week suffering from lameness. Attended two sales at the Abattoir Coy's premises; also to the landing of twenty-five head of cattle from the "Ceuta." Several complaints about dogs being out all night. These dogs are the cause of considerable annoyance. These reports have been received from John St. and Pennywell Road. I would like all cattle owners to understand that the time has come when all cattle are to be kept in at night. I would also like to call the attention of persons making purchases on Saturday to make them early enough so that it will not be necessary for expressmen to be out early on Sunday morning. In most cases the horse has been in harness all day. It is a common occurrence for people to make their purchases at 9.30 and have them sent to all parts of the city. I do hope the general public will take notice of this fact and do all in their power to remedy it. The bolt which was found entangled in a barbed wire fence on Topsall Road was delivered up by Mr. James to the rightful owner, Mr. Gordon Miller. All cases have been attended to.

Great Feature Programme at the Nickel

Padre Nangle Seen in "Pathe News" With Earl Haig on Canadian Tour.

The Pathe News which is one of the extra attractions at the Nickel Monday contains views of Earl Haig's Canadian visit accompanied by Padre Nangle. The feature of the program is the big special which we called your attention to a few days ago, namely "Unguarded Women" starring Bebe Daniels and Richard Dix. We may therefore look for the ultimate in screenplays when this production is flashed on the local silver sheet. China, with its age-old civilization, is the interesting background of this gripping photoplay which James Creelman adapted from the Saturday Evening Post story "Face" by Lucy Stone Terrill. Those who know something of the story will recall that it concerns a man who sacrifices himself to save the widow of his friend whose death he inadvertently caused on the battlefield during the war. There have been many post-war stories but none as dramatic and soul-stirring as this.

We can think of no one who is better fitted for the part of the gay and reckless widow than vivacious Bebe Daniels; handsome, virile Richard Dix is the ideal type of "the man of honor"; and Mary Astor, with her winsome beauty is perfectly cast in the appealing role of the "true-blue" fiancée. The others in the strong supporting cast include Walter McGrail, Frank Losco, Harry Mestayer and Joe King.

Doctors Watch Pin Pass Through Boy

LONDON—For two days doctors at the Metropolitan Hospital, Kingsland Road, E., watched, by the aid of the X-rays, a pin passing through a five-year-old boy's body.

Albert Smith, of 4 Watson place, Kingsland Road, swallowed the pin which he was using as a toothpick when he was left in the house alone. He went to a neighbor's house and told what had happened.

He was taken at once to the Metropolitan Hospital, where he was kept without food for two days, while the doctors watched the progress of the pin.

Then he was discharged cured and went home to a big meal. If he had eaten anything after swallowing the pin, he might have pushed the point into the wall of his stomach and set up peritonitis.

Says British Hope in Empire's Hands

COL. AMERY SAYS TRADE WITH DOMINIONS HAS DOUBLED VALUE.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—(Star Special Cable)—Col. L. C. Amery, in addressing the City of London Debating Club, declared that Britain's hope rested with the development of the unlimited resources of the Empire, and in giving direction to British trade which would enable those resources to be fully developed. The Empire trade is worth twice as much to Britain as the European, he said, and declared that he had no patience with the people who said that the Dominions' preferences were shams.

"There is not the slightest ground for pessimism," he said, "and if we only realize the opportunities Britain's future will be infinitely greater and more prosperous than her past." Lord Birkenhead, who addressed the Constitutional Club, went even further, saying, "What ought never to be forgotten is that the Conservative party made it perfectly plain that it had certain advice to give the country, which it believed would afford the greatest alleviation to depressed trade and unemployment, and that advice was a reconstruction of the fiscal system. It has never abandoned that for a moment. The Government has made some progress by means of safeguarding the Industries Act. Information which is being accumulated will convince the nation that the course that the Conservative party has advocated, since the days of Joseph Chamberlain, is a wise course. There are many indications that the Socialist party is gradually undergoing an educational conversion regarding economics."

They Won the War!

Paris Solr (Social-Communist): Not a Frenchman of intelligence will agree to the kind of colonization, dishonorable for all parties, which the pious Coolidge and his henchmen propose to make us endure. The whole country will learn with grief and wrath that, in less than ten years after the victory "which" saved civilization, a victory won at great sacrifice which buried in the blood-stained mud of the trenches the flower of ten generations and left us a people which had been tied white, America, the chief beneficiary of the war, gorged with gold, bursting with wealth, is pressing exorbitant claims and seeking to bend us beneath the iron will of her financiers.
