It could not be answered by simple "yes" or "no," said he. 33 Stanley street. When they found that He did not think any church or convocation, preacher or priest, had the right to lay down a specific rule in regard to such a question. It must be looked on in a personal relation. One must ask himself: "Is attendance at the theater making me a better Christian?" There was another aspect to it-the effect of one's example If by yielding to the inclination to attend the theater a person thought Mr. Peter Anderson, a pioneer of the his example was injuring somebody else Forest City, died at his residence, 745 Elias | then he should resist the temptation for the sake of his influence upon others. THE WILLIAMS MURDER.

A Man in Montana Says He Is the Culprit.

Makes an Amdavit and then Escapes-Detective Greer, of Toronto, Sent to Montana.

Bozeman, Mont., April 2.-A stranger will entertain the council of the associ amed Robert Dutton, aged 48, entered a tion at dinner, and have as his guests his law office here Friday night and requested Excellency the Governor-General, Sir John that an affidavit be taken.

The attorney complied and the stranger made this deposition: "I, Robert Dutton, being first duly sworn on my solemn oath, do say and depose that I, and I alone, did kill a farmer and his wife, who were old people, and are the same people as one MacWherrell was a short time ago found guilty of murdering at Brampton, Canada. I swear that the man MacWherrell, who has just been found guilty, does not know any more about the killing of the old farmer and his wife than if the judge himself was accused. I have just seen an account of Mac-

Wherrell being sentenced to be hung in June, and I make this statement in the hope that it may be the means of saving from the dreadful death of being hung a man who is utterly guiltless. The other man, Walker, cannot know anything about it, for, as I said before, I did it alone, and am guilty alone. The farmer was called Williamson, or some name like that, I think it was Williamson or Williams, and he used a stick. I hope you will not hang the man who is sentenced as he is innocent. I am 48 years old past, and am

Stevenson, notary public." After signing and swearing to the above instrument Dutton backed to the door and made his escape. Mr. Stevenson, the attorney, dared not undertake to stop Dutton, but as soon as the office door was closed he stepped to the telephone and rung up the chief of police, J. W. Ponsford. There was some delay before the officer could be informed, and Dutton made good his escape. Sheriff Caldwell and his deputies and the chief of police and entire force started out in search of Dutton. But thei search has been unavailing. Stevenson says that Dutton is rather tall, that he wore a dark suit and was fairly well dressed. He weighed about 175 pounds, had a stubby, unkempt beard and very bright eyes. Dutton was in the office with Notary Stevenson about 25 minutes. During that time he seemed nervous and excited. He asked Mr. Stevenson to send his deposition to MacWherrell's attorney. He said he thought the attorney's name was Robinette, or some such name. Mr, Stevenson sent the deposition by mail. Mr. Stevenson is himself a Canadian, and with others of this city is familiar with the published accounts of the crime which Dutton confesses, as well as the trial that was so lately finished. They all say that Dutton's story is probably true, and that there is no good reason for doubting it.

TORONTO, April 2. - Detective Greer has been sent to Bozeman to look into the story of the confession which was wired to Attorney-General by the sheriff of Gallatin

GOOD NEWS.

The Missing Steamer Ems Turns Up-Broke Her Screw.

LONDON, April 2 .- The North German Loyd steamer Ems which sailed from Bremen for New York on March 17 was towed into Fayal, Azores, this morning by the British steamer Wild Flower, from Wilmington. The propeller screw of the Ems broke a few days after she left South. ampton on March 18, and the big ship was forced to proceed as best she could under canvas until the Wild Flower was sighted and took her in tow. A steamer will be sent to Fayal to take the passengers of the Ems to New York.
