The Scrap Bag.

Here's a good story on a proofreader. It's a true story, too. He had just made the asquaintance of a charming young lady who rode a bicycle, and they were taking a little afternoon spin out the Fort Lee road. They stopped to rest under the spreading branches of an old oak tree, and he had plucked a few wild flowers for her, They were speaking of the language of flowers, a subject upon which he appeared to be well versed. He held up a pink blossom, and moved a little nearer to his fair companion. In doing so, he sat right down on an old dry thistle. he effect was magical. He forgot the lady's presence, and jumping up, indulged in a few choice proofroom exclamations. The young lady was shocked, and, drawing herself up, said, "If that is the language of the flowers, I do not care to hold any further conversation with them," and they rode away in silence.-Union

Opening of the Arts Course of the Western University.

The Hopes of Its Promoters at Last Realized.

A Great Thing for London and a Boon to Western Ontario.

Pupils Already Coming to the City-The Classes Rapidly Growing-A Great Seat of Learning Some Day-The Faculty.

This has been a year of almost revolutionary enterprise in London, and not the least important step in the path of progress is the formal opening of the arts department of the Western University, which will be celebrated tomorrow. The ceremony begins at 2:30 p.m., at the University building, and among the speakers will be: Hon. G. W. Ross, the Minister of Education; Dr. Johnston, vice-principal of McGill University, Montreal; Rev. Provost Welch, of Trinity College, Toronto; Provost B. Watkins, M.A., of the Western University; Mayor Little, the Bishop of Huron, and perhaps Principal Grant, of Queen's University, Kingston.

This is an event far more significant than a good many citizens imagine. The inauguration of the arts course means that London has now a fullfledged university, a seat of learning that promises to become some day a power in the land; which will enormously increase the educational prestige of the city, and (a more interesting announcement to some) will in time be of utilitarian value by reason of the influx of students who would otherwise go to Toronto and Kingsalready being proven; a number of ladies and gentlemen from other places have taken up their residence in the city to avail themselves of the arts course. The business center of the most populous and progressive section of the Province, there is no reason why London should not be the educational center also. To Western Ontario pupils who wish to graduate either in arts, medicine or divinity, it is a great inducement to be able to realize their ambitions so near their homes; while for those who cannot leave them the extra-mural course is open, through correspondence, personal attendance being necessary at examinations only. The medical department, founded in 1882, has proven a gratifying success, and has attracted many students to the city. time when higher education in the "He complains that the hours are professions is becoming more necessary (in divinity it is becoming comthe addition of the arts course is peculiarly appropriate, and to work from 12 to 1, with an hour off rounds out the Western University to a completeness which has long been the aim of its founders and promoters.

Though the arts department will be formally opened tomorrow, the classes have been organized and at work for two weeks. The beginning has been very auspicious. "Before I came said Principal Watkins the me that if I had ten pupils I would be doing better than McGill, for that was the number he had at his first frankness seems to have possessed the in two weeks the attendance has doubled, and is growing daily. pleasant feature is the large number of ladies entering. To studiously in-clined citizens of London, who cannot leave their vocations to take a complete course, the arts department is a veritable boon. They may engage in any special subject or subjects in the curriculum by attending a lecture or two a week and studying at home. For instance, large Winnipeg, Brandon and Portage lo classes in English literature, classics, Prairie, I am told, is this season formed by local people of both sexes, including professional and business men, who have not much time at their They can thus secure a thorough training in the subjects they prefer, by making use of their leisure hours. They have also the privilege of trying the examinations to indicate their progress.

It was the original intention of the faculty to teach only the first and second year courses, but the attendance has been so gratifying that third year classes will be added. Subjects for the first year are: English, Latin; any two of the following languages, viz., Greek, French, German, Hebrew; ancient history, mathematics, physics or biology. The second year subjects: English, Latin; any two of the following languages, viz., Greek, French, ierman, Hebrew; medieval history, logic, psychology, chemistry or geol-The third year: English, Latin; that happy, innocent girlhood is sug- and two of the following languages, viz., Greek, French, German, Hebrew; modern history, English constitutional history, ethics, physics.

In the choice of the faculty, the Senate have been fortunate. The princeived his early education at famous Rugby, and was afterwards a distinguished scholar of Jesus College, Cambridge, of which university he was an honor graduate. He has been for some years professor of classics at Bishop's College, Lenoxville, Que., and comes with the highest testimonials from English and Canadian universities. Principal Watkins unites ripe scholarship and ability as a teacher with other qualities which are bound to render him popular with the students. In manner he is genial and unreserved. He enters upon his work full of enthusiasm over the prospects of his new charge. Prof. Watkins will also fill the chair of divinity in Huron College, which is affiliated with the Western University—a chair endowed by Dr. Peache. of England, for $25,000.

Prof. F. W. Sykes. M.A. Ph.D., instructor of English literature and history is an honor graduate of Toronto University, and a doctor of philosophy of Johns Hopkins University. He has had large experience in the collegiate institutes of Ontario, and for six years was teacher of English and moderns in Parkdale. In recommending him, Mr. John Seath, Provincial inspector of high schools, writes: "I regard Prof. Sykes as one of the very ablest English scholars and teachers in this Province."

The site comprises fourteen acres of land, beautifully situ-The principal, who takes a healthy interest in athletics, is delighted with the ample playgrounds, and hopes the students will cultivate body as well as mind, by making full use of the fields. A gymnasium is being provided, and a football club is or-ganizing. The University building is large enough to meet requirements for years to come. The internal arrangements are admirable; there are far more lecture rooms than are at present needed. It is announced that scholarships

Asphalt Pavement in Great Favor in Progressive Western Cities.

"It was our good fortune to miss the storms both going up and coming down the lakes," said Mr. William Thompson, Dorchester township, to one of the "Advertiser" staff on reaching the city from a visit to Minnesota, via Duluth. "Capt. Robertson, of the Beattie steamship Monarch, a very prudent skipper, lay in at Detour, Mich., for the night on the down trip, and so avoided the gale that I notice wrought considerable havoc to shipping on Monday night."

"How is the lake traffic now?"
"Very brisk, I should judge, as the end of the season draws near. There has been less Manitoba wheat coming down to the Fort William elevator than last year. Farmers were holding it for higher prices and securing advances from the banks. Of course, the siderable moving for all that, besides great quantities of other freight. I understood from the captain that he had still some 400,000 bushels of Manitario, which is a rather new line of agricultural export from that country The tourist business practically ended several weeks ago.

"The new lock at the Canadian 'Soo" is now regularly in use and is giving the boat people satisfaction, greatly facilitating traffic through that crowd-

"A few new houses are going up at Port Arthur, but neither there nor at Fort William is any great progress apparent; there seemed to be very little doing at either harbor when we called, though it happened to be Sunday on each occasion. However, I

"Yes, Duluth bids fair to be the great city of Lake Superior, having already some 60,000 people, with every evidence of commercial progress and general thriftiness. Immense mining, milling and general shipping interests are centering there, and it has a magnificent harbor. It is expected that the railway to Winnipeg will be completed ere long, which will drain vast quantities of Manitoba and Northwest grain through that part east-The Northern Pacific Railway, carrying several mullion bushels of wheat to Duluth. There is talk of double tracking the C. P. R. from Winnipeg to Fort William, but I heard they would also have a controling interest in this Winnipeg and Duluth Railway, which seems rather significant. I noticed enormous quantitles of iron ore from the mines northward of Duluth being deposited near the docks. The harbor is skirted with elevators, flour and saw-mills, acres of lumber and coal. "I looked through their high school building, said to be one of, if not the finest of the sort in the world, costing half a million dollars. London has not touched high water mark in that respect yet. The Duluth high shood has an attendance of about 1,000 pupils.

"To one accustomed to the superb agricultural districts of Canada, much of the rocky, forest stripped land immediately southward from Duluth does not present an inviting appearance, but judging from the vegetables I saw the available soil must be pro-

"Did you go far into the State?" "To the twin cities of St. Paul and Minneapolis, which now have a combined population of over 330,000, the being about 50,000 in the lead. A combined city and county building and court house is now being completed in Minneapolis, at a cost of a couple of million dollars. "By the way, I noticed that asphalt is coming into general use on the principal streets in these two progressive cities, paving being under way now in St. Paul similar to what is being done on Dundas and Richmond streets here. I drove over some brick pavement in St. Paul, but it does not seem to have grown in favor as a result of actual use. The bricks chip, and it is less smooth. Summit avenue, the most beautiful residential street in St. Paul, where Jim Hall and all the wealthy nabobs live, is asphalt paved. On some of the old streets near the freight depots, flagstone pavements are still in use. "For sidewalks the popular material is artificial stone, made of cement and sand moulded in various sizes, from one to three feet square, or diagonal, and two or three inches thick, sometimes colored to add to the appearance. It appears to be superceding all other styles of walk.

"Yes, there are thousands of Canadians in these Northwestern cities, occupying with honor to their native land various positions of importance in professional life and otherwise."

> It is Not Stylish, However, When Ladies Are Obliged to Wear It All the Time.

Saffron, Chrome, Old Gold and other shades of yellow are the ruling fashionable colors. There is one exception and that is when the popular color is worn in the complexion.

It is much noted that sallowness of complexion, yellow in the whites of the eyes, etc., is increasing. Our best types of womanhood are afficted to a great extent in this manner. A woman prizes more than anything her freshness of eye and complexion; her youth and beauty, and in the present day these points are much neglected.

If the bowels move regularly and habits to this end are contracted, it means a great deal. There will be no biliousness or indigestion; no dizziness, or headache; no melancholia, or sleeple ness; all forms of ills will be provided against. There will be youthfulness, beauty and cheerfulness. There will be no necessity to use artificial beautifiers. Nature in all her beauty will reign supreme.

The researches of an eminent scientist were for years directed to producing a certain cure for constipation and bowel irregularities. After much experimenting "Karl's Clover Root Tea" was produced, and it is one of the greatest of modern discoveries.

Nature furnishes remedies for all ills to her creatures, man and beast, and they are always more effective, the nearer they approach to a natural state. "Karl's Clover Root Tea" is pre-
