FLOOD IN NEW YORK!

Caused by Bursting of a Water-Pipe—Basements of Costly Buildings Deluged.

New York, Dec. 12.—By the bursting of an immense water supply pipe late Tuesday night an immense amount of damage was done in the residence section of the city between Fifty-fifth and Fifty-ninth streets, and Madison and Park avenues. Some estimates place it at thousands of dollars, but in reality all estimates are at present guesses.

Cellars and basements were flooded, cars were blocked, several buildings, including the First Reformed Episcopal Church, were undermined, and there is danger of their collapse, and the walls of the New York Central Railway tunnel weakened. Thousands of gallons of water that poured into the avenue rushed northward, finding outlets in the side streets, and there inundating the basements of handsome residences. For two hours the water swirled through the streets before it began to subside.

THERE IS DANGER in neglecting a cold. Many who have died of consumption dated their trouble from exposure, followed by a cold, which settled on their lungs, and in a short time they were beyond the skill of the best physician. Had they used Hickey's Anti-Consumptive Syrup before it was too late, their lives would have been spared. This medicine has no equal for curing coughs, colds and all affections of the throat and lungs.

OLDEST MAN IN OHIO

Aged 102, Living at Mount Pleasant, Tells of Service in Mexican and Civil Wars.

Gilead C. Dec. 12.—Jeremiah Gleason, aged 102, who lives in a small log hut near Lake Erie, is the oldest survivor of the civil and Mexican wars, and probably the oldest man in Ohio.

Gleason was born near Londonderry, Ireland, in 1722. At the age of 20 he left his native country for America, on account of political opinions. His desire for a wild life brought him to Ohio, which he has called his home state for more than 80 years. He was captured by the Indians and held prisoner by them for more than three years, and says he grew as wild as any of his captors.

During the Indian wars Gleason fought under Gen. Andrew Jackson. When the war with Mexico broke out Gleason served under John C. Fremont. After the war he came to Ohio, where he has since lived on his small farm with a team of horses.

With a small fortune Gleason returned to his home. When the civil war broke out he took up arms again for his adopted country, serving three years as a Union soldier. He wanted to engage in the recent war with Spain, but was not permitted, owing to his advanced age. Mr. Gleason is now doing light work on his small farm with a team of horses. He says he expects to live to be 115 years old.

TO SPRINKLE CITY STREETS

The Street Railway Company Makes a Proposition.

Would Do Twelve Miles for $2,700—The Plumbing Bylaw Meets With Opposition.

Last night Ald. Stevely presided over the last regular meeting of No. 3 committee. The important matters that were dealt with were the question of passing the plumbing bylaw this year and the proposal to water some of the city streets by the street car system. A deputation from the Real Estate Owners' Protective Association appeared in connection with the former, and during the course of their argument two noteworthy facts were elicited—the first that they protested against the bylaw without having even taken the trouble to read it, a stand that the mayor considered unreasonable, yet in keeping with other actions of the association; and the second was that the real estate owners did not advocate Dr. Balfour's dismissal from the superintendency of Victoria Hospital.

The deputation, consisting of Messrs. John Christie, H. Douglass and Wm. Scarrow, asked that the plumbing bylaw be laid over so that it might be discussed during the municipal campaign. They said that it was too serious a matter to pass upon before the people fully understood it, and said that while the city's sanitary conditions are now sufficiently safeguarded, the bylaw would impede building operations. Mr. Scarrow characterized the bylaw as "an embargo on building" and claimed that the present state of affairs was satisfactory. He said that the health officers had power now to see that plumbing was of the right kind, to which City Engineer Graydon replied that 200 cases of defective plumbing had been reported during the year.

After the three real estate owners had spoken along this line, Mayor Rumball opened up on them. Each had acknowledged that he had not read the bylaw through. So the mayor asked them if they had carefully considered the whole bylaw. He asked this, because a resolution passed by the Real Estate Owners' Protective Association had come before the hospital trust, which asked that Dr. Balfour be dismissed, without giving any reason for so doing. When an important resolution like that, passed by the influential body that the real estate owners should be, gave no reason for the action recommended, what weight had it? the mayor asked.

Messrs. Douglass and Scarrow protested that it had not been the desire of the real estate owners to dismiss Dr. Balfour. They stated positively that if the resolution said that, it expressed what was not the intention of the association.

After some discussion as to the merits of the bylaw, it was decided to recommend to the council that it be laid over until next year. Manager Carr, of the street railway company wrote, saying that to water twelve miles of the city streets four times per day, taking water free of charge from city hydrants, and the city supplying water inspector, who would act as a trolley man, his company would charge $225 per mile, or $2,700 per annum, and for additional mileage, 50 cents per mile. The company submitted two other propositions that differed from the first, according

The "Blighting White Plague." How Catarrh Does Its Deadly Work.

Cooling Off—Taking Cold.

It is just the same old story of exposure to cold. The neglected cold becoming chronic catarrh. Catarrh extending along the delicate mucous membrane to the bronchial tubes and developing chronic bronchitis, causing coughing and expectoration. Still neglected, further extension, the lungs are reached, catarrhal consumption is established. The "White Plague" scores another victory and the grave conceals the record of neglected catarrh. A well-worn road to a withering and untimely death. Thousands of people have traveled it, and thousands upon thousands more will travel it. Every year develops a multitude of new victims.

Consumption the life destroyer is most alarming in its frequency and dire in its results for human beings to their long rest over 30,000 victims in the United States alone. It is a disease which spares neither age, nor sex, rank or fortune. It is like the vampire that drinks up the vital stream and stills within its wings the hopes which perpetually flutter in the hectic breast. It is a terrible and insatiable tyrant, marching down the aisles of time, blasting, devastating, destroying, establishing a gloomy empire of misery and death.

Catarrh is a forerunner of most cases of Doctor Says It Is Catarrh.

The presence of catarrh is evidence of a predisposition to the "Blighting White Plague." Do not let it progress, stop it, cure it, before it has reached the lungs you can do this with very little effort and expense. Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are a sovereign remedy for the peculiar constitutional condition or systemic dyscrasia that permits of chronic catarrh. They drive catarrh out of the system and heal the evidences of its ravages so long as the destructive processes have not been allowed to progress to a point beyond possibility of repair. They will cure catarrh of the head, nose, throat, ears, bronchial tubes, and the lungs, or any tract, but if once lung substance is destroyed and in the checks the hectic spots burn brightly like signal lamps of death, then they are powerless to save. There is a point in the destructive process of progressive catarrh beyond which no medicine can cure, where no agency yet discovered will arrest or cure.

Be timely wise, cure your catarrh while yet it may be cured. Take no chances of some obscure fancying the smoldering fire of chronic catarrh into a devastating conflagration of consumption. You can buy Stuart's Catarrh Tablets at any drug store for 50 cents

Mr. A. R. Fernbank of Columbus, Ohio, says: "I suffered so many winters from Catarrh that I took it as a matter of course, and that nothing would cure it except a change of climate, which my business affairs would not permit me to take. My catarrh was almost always clogged up, and I had to breathe through the mouth causing an inflamed, irritated throat. The thought of eating breakfast often nauseated me and the catarrh gradually getting into my stomach took away my appetite and digestion.

"My druggist advised me to try a fifty cent box of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, because he said he had so many customers who had been cured of Catarrh by the use of these tablets, that he felt he could honestly recommend them. I took his advice and used several boxes with results that surprised and delighted me.

"I always keep a box of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets in the house and the whole family use them freely on the first appearance of a cough or cold in the head.

"With our children we think there is nothing so safe and reliable as Stuart's Catarrh Tablets to ward off croup and colds and with older people I have known of cases where the hearing had been seriously impaired by chronic catarrh cured entirely by this new remedy." THE CANAL TREATY

Discussed in Executive Session of the United States Senate.

Washington, Dec. 12.—Two speeches on the Hay-Pauncefote treaty were made in the executive session of the senate today—one by Senator Bacon, in opposition to the treaty, and the other by Senator Cullom, the prospective chairman of the committee on foreign relations, in support of it.

Mr. Bacon summed up his objections in the statement that he could not freely accept any treaty which does not place the isthmian canal entirely under American auspices and American control. This, he said, the pending treaty does not do, nor does it do anything like it. He contended that the only power given to the United States which was not given to Great Britain, was found in the last sentence of regulation two, providing that "the United States shall be at liberty to maintain such military police along the canal as may be necessary to protect it against lawlessness and disorder." This, he said, was not sufficient to make the canal an American institution. In conclusion, Mr. Bacon announced that while he had no intention of voting for the treaty, he would do nothing to obstruct its ratification.

Senator Cullom congratulated the senate and the country upon the fact that there are two things in connection with the new treaty upon which, he said, practically all are agreed. One of these was the desirability of the suppression of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty, and the other that of the necessity for the construction of an isthmian canal. He said the treaty would permit the United States under international law to own, manage and defend the canal in any way it may choose. In other words, in a war with Great Britain or with any power the treaty would be suspended, under the law which governs nations until the war should be concluded, when it would be revived and again enforced. He admitted that the new treaty retains the general principle of neutralization, as did the original Hay-Pauncefote treaty, but he urged that it does not re-enact or keep alive any of the provisions of the treaty of 1850. While it retains the doctrine of neutralization, the provisions making that retention applies, the Senator contended, to all nations alike, but to them they observe the regulations prescribed by the United States. When they should fail in their observance, we would close the canal under the terms of the treaty. All nations would be treated on terms of fairness and equality by allowing all to use the canal in time of peace, and shutting out all in time of war in case it should be found desirable to do so.
