What China Will Ask

The main points in China's case as he conference will be: 1. Insistence on the open door, America's policy with regard to the Far Cast since 1900.

2. The abolition of "special spheres" of influence claimed by different na

3. Control of her own resources, na tural and artificial, including railways operating within her own borders.

4. Non-recognition of any treaty between foreign powers which infringer Equal treatment before the law of Chinese citizens. 6. A scheme for the gradual abolition of extra territoriality.

7. A "Pacific Court of Arbitration." or kindred plan for settling such disputes as may arise between the powers interested in the Far East in the fuuestion of principle is involved.

"Obviously," he told me, "if the olicy of the open door, as propounded American Secretary of State John Hay, is really put into effect in China, there can be no 'special privi-leges' in Manchuria or anywhere else or any particular nation.

"If no nation is to have a 'special phere of influence' on Chinese soil. there is no need to argue the Shantung matter. Shantung automatically reurns to China unconditionally. "If it is agreed that China should have control of her resources and that no foreign government should be in a position to refuse China the use of a rail-way through Chinese territory, questions like the South Manchurian Railway, owned by Japan, disappear.

The Pacific Court.

"And so it goes. 'As to consular jurisdiction in China. we will not ask its immediate abolition. Nor will we endeavor to fix precisely the terms of years it is to continue in effect.

"Still China wishes to retain her sovereignty and so will suggest the eventual removal of extra territoriality —at some time in the future when China hall have perfected her judicial system I don't say 10 years, 15 years, 20 years hence—it all depends.
