PARSONS' PILLS

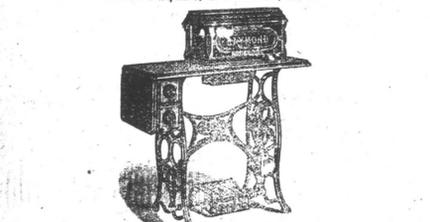

These pills were a wonderful discovery. No others like them in the world. Will positively cure or relieve all kinds of disease. The information around each box is worth ten times the cost of a box of pills. Find out about them, and you will always be thankful. One pill will do more to purify the blood and cleanse the system than any other remedy yet discovered. If people could only be made to realize the value of these pills, they would have a great deal to be thankful for. Send for it; the information is very valuable. I. S. JOHNSON & CO., 22 Queen Street, BOSTON, MASS.

FARMERS' ASSOCIATION.

An Extended Report of the Meeting at Andover.

ANDOVER, July 4.—Pursuant to call a meeting of the Farmers' Association was held in the court house, this afternoon at 3:30. Pending the arrival of Prof. Fletcher, Dr. Twitchell and other distinguished agriculturists from a distance, the meeting consisted of a temporary organization, with George E. Baxter as chairman, and Jas. T. Fletcher as secretary.

Mr. Baxter briefly outlined the objects of calling this meeting of farmers, which had been fixed for a date between hay and grass, and which, thanks to the efforts of the provincial farmers' association, had taken the place of a more purely local meeting. He stated that several others had been in view for some time. It would be appropriate for the farmers before separating, to organize an association in this district. He then read the report of the Crawford to read his paper on "The Stock for the Farmers of New Brunswick to Raise."

MR. CRAWFORD, after briefly introducing his subject, proceeded as follows:

The animal the farmers of New Brunswick need is one suited to several purposes. The majority of our farmers cannot afford to keep animals for show. While they should be first-class in every particular, they are required more for utility than ornament. As regards our relations with the outside world, we are in close proximity to the great markets of the world, full, energetic, enterprising and with ideas—one whose ambition is not only to supply all her own wants, but also those of the world. In order to do this she must produce a surplus of goods and needs of all nations, and spending money without stint to produce heavy draught horses and other large animals for market. A portion of the surplus she must be able to export for, and she must be able to do this, and she must be able to do this, and she must be able to do this.

What is New Brunswick doing? She has been trying to improve her stock for the past 50 years, and at a great expenditure of time and money, both public and private, in importing and rearing some of the most celebrated breeds of Europe. The result was some very fine animals, a great many scrubs, and a great deal of disappointment. Why? Because she has been reared under different conditions and for a different purpose. For instance, a farmer may want large cows and get one of the best breeds. She gives little thought to the fact that she is disappointed. Who does the difficulty lie in trying to improve stock in New Brunswick? All our thoroughbreds or improved breeds, have been bred in a foreign climate and for a special purpose, while the majority of our farmers require them for general purposes. This brings us to the point, what does he need?

As the horse is the most costly, we will consider him first. He must have a good constitution, not only to stand the climate, but also the change from one climate to another. He must be a good feeder, and live on good hay and oats, for the farmer cannot afford to import feed. He should be of medium size, good style and action, spirited and endurance, good bone and make, with a good enough to make him smooth; and this is the kind of horse New Brunswick is best adapted to produce. In order to produce such horses, let the farmers and horse breeders form an association for the purpose, which should be liberally assisted by the government. This association, not the government, should have the selection of the horses for breeding, and these should be bred to two matured horses, which also should be selected by the association. Should they breed the true type, they should be retained for breeding, and none of these colts allowed out of the province until a selection has been made for breeding purposes. This would give us a class of horses better suited to our circumstances, cheaper for our purposes and sell at good prices, and bring us into a systematic way of breeding them.

As the days of working oxen have passed, and we are now using the cow only for the value of her milk and beef. The thoroughbreds do not meet our wants in these particulars, as they have been bred exclusively for a certain purpose, and cannot be brought to blend the two in one animal, and produce both milk and beef. Breed up, not down. If you have fair average cows breed them if possible to a good bull four years old, or over, for in my opinion there is no one thing that has retarded the improvement of stock so much as breeding from immature males. A word or two about sheep. It has been said that the ram is the half of the flock, but one might suppose some people think he is all the flock and more too. They get one from a man who has good sheep and think they should have just as good sheep as are in the country without any care, only to get another one next year. Now if any one class of animals need constant attention it is sheep, for if poor it is weak, and if fat it is weak, and it will be weak, and it will be weak, and it will be weak.

Mr. Watts of the Sentinel, spoke briefly in advocacy of the interests of the farmers, and speaking from a newspaper standpoint was glad the provincial association was to hold a session here. Without a strong bond of union the farmers would never be able to influence that properly longed for.

Mr. Bonis of Kinrossville felt that farmers did not interchange their views enough. In the old land where he came from they had good unions. Fourteen years ago we had our first exhibition and our cattle show were scarce. Last year our stock compared favorably with that shown at Woodstock. His hobby was sheep. The colony got two of the government sheep, and he had derived more benefit from one of them than from anything else he had put his hand to. The country owed much to the government for its judicious importations of sheep and cattle. The colony sold beef mostly. For beef they must stick to the short horn and for milk be favored a cross between short horns and the common cow of the country.

We will leave the poultry to the ladies, as they count the eggs, only let me men furnish suitable buildings and feed.

JOHN HARPER of Jacksonville, discussed the paper briefly commending it for the manner in which the writer had touched on many points. He (Mr. H.) had felt some disappointment in not finding stock not stopping up with what he expected. For general purposes of the country, the Darhams imported from Ontario were in a great manner worthless for ordinary farm purposes. One from Farm, near, another from Bow Park Farm, were an injury to the farmers, as far as milking purposes went. Again, three Darham bulls were bought in Maine, and one only gave good milking stock. It was really worth $1,000 to any neighborhood. A good milking strain of Darhams had struck his section of Darhams. He knew of good Darhams that were raised in these two years ago by Hon. Mr. Perley.

David Irvine, ex-M. P., was called on. He said as a farmer he always preferred to order such stock as there was money in.

Mr. D. Robertson of Kinrossville, agreed largely with the sentiments of the paper. They had adopted short horns for their milk cows, but they had deteriorated, and he would like to learn where both good qualities could be got. Ayrshires did not pay for the extra feed required.

The speaker a brother farmer. It seemed remarkably strange that great as was the power they could wield, the farmers did not combine for their own interests. Compared with all other interests the farmers were strong. Our agricultural exports were large. The lumbermen, cotton makers, etc., did not own the country. Still there is no hope of union among the farmers. This is a matter that the organization we are discussing is a sample of the general apathy as to all matters affecting their own interests. To keep up our own herds and importations are necessary. We have made rapid strides in this line. He saw no obstacle to success, if agriculturists can get good prices, but for the past two years the prices have been too low.
