tre They Bairy Cattle or are They Beel Cattle?—A Good Hog Story—Someone to Bonate $100 to a Toronto Charity—The Editor World; In your issue of to-day is of the 17th of October, which was a reply to letters of Smith Brothers and himself in your nal, in which they charged the judges at ate Industrial Fair with ignorance and bred Holsteins do not take on fat as readily as "that size is not of paramount importance, and fatness and beef-producing qualities are actual detriments in the estimation of Holstein breeders." The issues were plain and I proved by quotations from the writings of and Major Foster knew not whereof they wrote, were in face ignorant of the subject on which they undertook to enlighten your readers. Major Foster in your issue of to-day owns up. He says is hardly required Mr. Leys' letter to prove that Dutch cattle, of which the Holstein-Friesians are an offshoot or branch, make excellent beef, and again, "but the best example of all, because on the largest scale is the almost daily importation of these animals from Rotterdam via Harwich into Great Britain to supply the Metropolitan meat market," We will, therefore, grant that Holstein-Friesian cattle will, if duly cared for and fattened, make splendid beet," I admire Major Foster's honesty. It requires a good deal of moral courage to come out squarely in a newspaper and say "I was wrong;" the Major has done it and he is to be "highly commended." In his first letter he said, "aize was not of paramount importance," Will he allow me again to set him right? I find in the bylaws of the Holstein-Friesian Association, so much admired by Major Foster, that this Association is formed for the purpose of the registration of those "targe black and white cattle imported from Holland and their descendants." In the bylaws of the Anerican branch of the North Holland Herd Book, I find almost the same words used; and again in a Canadian North Holland Herd Book, I find almost the same words used; and again in a Canadian association, of which one of the Smiths is President, you will find in their Articles of Association, "Thorough-bred Holstein-Friesians shall be held to mean and refer only to those large improved black and white cattle registered or hereinafter to be registered in the Holstein-Friesian Herd Book of America and their descendants etc., etc." Now, surely Major Foster will admit his error, but lest he should not be able to bring himself to do it, I will quote for his instruction from an article which appears in the November number of the Holstein-Friesian register, especially written by Smith, Powell and Lamb for The Ohio Farmer. They, after giving the good qualities of the Holstein cow for the dairy, say she is "primarily a dairy cow of large size."

qualities of the Holstein cow for the dairy, say the is "primarily a dairy cow of large size." I suppose the meaning of that is plain, and coming from the owners of "Netherland Prince," the grandsire of Major Foster's herd, won't be gainsayed by him, in fact it cannot be by any one, because the Holstein cow is first and foremost a cow of large size. Small ones may have some good qualities, but they fail to be good much less fine specimens of the breed. Our friend will no doubt in time admit his error in this as frankly as he has done in the other.

And now, sir, a word in reply to Smith done in the other.

And now, sir, a word in reply to Smith Brothers. Major Foster in his letter reminds us of the story told of an Irish attorney named Smith, who wrote across the brief he was giving to counsel, "No case, blackguard the plaintiff's attorney." I fancy this attorney must have been related to Smith Brothers, because the characteristics of the breed are the same. Smith Brothers abuse the various associations who appoint the the various associations who appoint the judges, vilify the judges at every fair and insinuate all sorts of things against myself. I am a bad man because I am a member of the legislature; the Oakfale herd has gained prizes through improper means: they accuse the directors of appointing judges who will favor me and charge the judges with favor me, and charge the judges with partiality and ignorance. Having no case they seek to draw the attention of your they seek to draw the attention of your readers from the issues and try to gain some cheap advertising by giving the pedigrees of their cattle and telling how many prizes one sow won at a number of country fairs in the wilds of Michigan. They say that they bought six head of cattle from Thomas B. Wales and that Meroedes Prince, at one time owned by Mr. Wales, brought over $2000 as auction. I have before me "The Country Gentleman," containing a short account of Mr. Wales' sale, and though a large number of his fine cattle went for high prices, not one of them was bought by the Smiths. They bought the low priced ones and did not pay for the six what one really good one sold for. Now every one knows that a man selling of his artisp head, expecially if it he a large pay for the six what one really good one sold for. Now every one knows that a man selling off his entire herd, especially if it be a large one as Mr. Wales herd was, will have some inferior animals possibly with long pedigrees, and men like the Smiths, who have a craze on pedigree, buy them because they are going for a small price and then they abuse the judges at every fair they show at because their scrubs do not take prizes. They exhibited at the a small price and then they abuse the judges at every fair they show at because their scrubs do not take prizes. They exhibited at the Provincial this year, and one of the oldest breeders of Holsteins in Canada was the judge there and they were beaten all over. They got a few minor prizes, but were beaten both in the milk test and for the herd prize—result, a round of abuse of Mr. Williams because at one time a helad owned a cow, then belonging to Mr. Folger, and which was exhibited at that fair. The Oakdale herd had come into competition with Smith Brothers three times: first at Toronto Industrial in 1886, when they had a judge after their own heart, a Yankee expert, and the Oakdale herd won twice as many prizes as Smith Brothers' herd. At that exhibition, their time was so much taken up in abusing me and the Oakdale herd that they had not time to go, for the judge, or doubtless they would have done so. It was at this exhibition that they entered into the agreement with a would have done so. It was at this exhibition that they entered into the agreement with a number of other owners of Holsteins not to exhibit in 1887, unless the directors of the Industrial would exclude from competition for prizes all animals not registered in the Yankee herd-book. Failing to terrorize the directors of the Industrial, they broke their word, cast benor to the dogs and exhibited here in 1887. They deny in your columns having made this compact. I am authorized by the Messrs. henor to the dogs and exhibited here in 1001.

They deny in your columns having made this compact. I am authorized by the Messrs.
Scatcherd of Wyton, gentlemen whose word is as good as their bond, to say that the Smiths and he shall at the end of the second week make his award. The loser to pay all expended make that agreement with themselves and did make that agreement with themselves and pay $100 in a similar way. There were the second week make his award. as good as their bond, to say that the Smiths did make that agreement with themselves and others, and I believe that Mr. Schunk of Vaughan, Mr. Gifford of Meaford, and Mr. Cook of Aultsville will corroborate what the Messrs. Scatcherd say about the matter. The Messrs. Scatcherd exhibited here in 1887 for the Dominion prizes, but declined to exhibit for the Industrial prizes because of that compact. As honorable men they felt bound by their promise. The result of the competition at that fair was that the Oakdale herd took all the highest awards, herd prize, silver medal for best built and diplomas and nearly all the money prizes, the Smiths not getting enough Messrs, Scatcherd exhibited here in 1887 for the Dominion prizes, but declined to exhibit for the Industrial prizes because of that compact. As honorable men they felt bound by their promise. The result of the competition at that fair was that the Oakdale herd took all the highest awards, herd prize, silver medal for best bull and diplomas and nearly all the money prizes, the Smiths not getting enough to 1994 car fare. The herds again met this year at the Industrial, and the Oakdale herd made practically a clean sweep. The Smiths then charged the judges with incapacity and ignorance of the characteristics of Holstein cattle. They said the judges made their awards as if they were judging beef cattle, and that cattle. They said the judges made their awards as if they were judging beef cattle, and that "pure bred Holsteins do not take on flesh as readily as common animals." I confuted that and then they turn round and say, "Oh, we didn't mean that at all, we meant that a pure bred Holstein cow when giving milk will not take on flesh as readily as common animals." Well, poor fellows, it is probable that they never say what they mean; and it is quite swident, as proved in the case of their agree-evident, as proved in the case of their agreement in 1886, that they never mean what they say. No one but a fool would suppose that a cow of any breed when giving a large quantity of milk will at the same time take on flesh The story they tell of the young man who brought the Oakdale Herd to Canada to pay expenses is on a par with the rest of their The story they tell of the young man who brought the Oakdale Herd to Canada to pay expenses is on a par with the rest of their statements, it is a pure fabrication, an absalute falsehood manufactured out of whole cloth, there is not a word of truth in it from beginning to end. But if it were true the young man would have displayed good judgment in his purchases because Presto, at the head of the herd, was a first prize winner at the great Fair at Alkmar in the Netherlands and is the only bull in Canadawianer of a first prize at any of the great Fairs in Holland. Col III was pronounced by the Xankee expert here in '80 so perfect in points that he did not care where she was exhibited she must be a first prize winner, and although shown in '87 and '88 from Ottawe in the east another of this lot, was awarded first in her class by the same expert. She is now owned by Capt. Bunbury of Oakville and is the best Holstein heifer of her age in Canada. These animals imported from Holland, winners here, judged by one of their own kind, are according to the Smiths only grades because not registered in their pot Herd Book. The Smiths, no doubt, have a Family Bible containing the family register and they are therefore the only pedigreed Smiths; none others are entitled to use that illustrious name. There are at the present time four herd books in Holland and all these are acknowledged by the North American-Holstein-Friesian Association. There is no Holatein herd book in Canada. There are two Holstein herd book in Canada. There are two Holstein herd book in Canada. There are two Holstein herd book in the United States, the one just mentioned and the American branch of the North Holland herd book. The difference and the only difference between the two is that in the first members only can import from Holland and register the cattle, and you cannot become a member except as a favor and on payment of a fee of $100. No Britisher or Hollander can become a member. They are absolutely debarred. They say that Canadians may become markable fact that none have been admitted. I know certainly that none had been kindly allowed to join up to a late date. No Canadian can therefore go to Holland, mport animals and register them in the Yankee Heul Book so much belauded by the Smiths and Major Froster. The object of the rule was to prevent Canadians, small American breeders or me content with moderate profits on importations from going into the lusiness and keep it in the lands of men like B. B. Lord & Son of Sinclairville, New York, of Molly Stork fame. Some importers but his account on the North Holland Herd Book was established with head office in New York, the rules of which permit any importer, whether a member or to, to registered in the Herd Book of that association. Had Kilgour, Adamson & Co, the well kn

In that beautiful climate his hogs throve far beyond his expectations. The next season, finding that he had the finest pair that he had ever owned, he decided to enter them at the forthcoming fair. The day came. His pets attracted great attention. The old man received kind words from many a visitor. It was a foregone conclusion that Farmer James ceived kind words from many a visitor. It was a foregone conclusion that Farmer James Brown would win the prize.

The judges came round and made their awards. Great was the surprise when it was found that the honors had gone to the owner of one of the native hogs of the breed known as "razorbacks."

Thinking there was some mistake, Farmer James Brown accosted the judge and asked him on what points he made the award. The answer was:

"Speed, sir, by gad, speed, sir!"

The Smiths and Major Foster would in a like case answer:

The Smiths and Major Foster would in a like case answer:

"A Yankee pedigree, sir, by gad, a Yankee pedigree, sir!"

Major Foster and the Smith Bros. claim that the normal condition of a Holstein cow is (when in milk) to be reduced to skin and bones, or to be at death's door, or if otherwise that she must be of inferior quality as a darry animal; what rubbish! I contend that a cow to do her best must be in good flesh and condition, and as proof of the correctness of my view I will quote from a letter in The Agriculturist of an eminent Scotch breeder and writer, W. Davidson, in which he says:

"A cow cannot be a great milker and be run down very low in flesh as has been proved by the lifetime experience of intelligent dairymen. Condition and heartiness are to a great extent necessary to enable a cowfto keep to her milk."

That is good sound common sense and will commend itself to any intelligent man or woman interested in dairy cattle. Now, ir, the Smiths and Major Foster say that the Oakdale Herd is composed of fine beef producing animals; I know that the cows are heavy and rich milkers, and that the animals are individually superjor to those of their berds.

dale Herd is composed of fine beef producing animals; I know that the ows are heavy and rich milkers, and that the owns are heavy and rich milkers, and that the owns are heavy and rich milkers, and that the owns are heavy and rich milkers, and that the the individually superior to those of their herds.

They say that they did not get fair play at the Toronto Industrial and that the judges were all wrong in their awards. To prove the soundness of the judges' wards, and to end all controversy, I make these proposals: Major Foster owns a bull, two cows and two calves. I will select a like number from the Oakdale herd and they shall be scaled by President Mills of the Ontario Agricultural College, or by President Smith of the Ontario Veterinary College, and the scale of points shall be that adopted by the pet association of the Smiths and Foster. The Smiths got the second herd prize. The first prize Oakdale herd shall be tested in the same way against their second prize herd. The loser in each case to pay all costs attending the test and donate $100 to ome charitable institution in Toronto.

I also make this further proposal to Major Foster: He has two cows; I will take two from the Oakdale herd, and the four shall be placed in charge of Professor Robertson of the Ontario Agricultural College, or some one, appointed by him, the animals to be under his entire control for two weeks, to be fed on the same food, each one to get all she will eat, the food to be weighed and a correct account kept of what each consumes; the milk after the first week to be weighed and analyzed.

as in the other offer. Both proposals, if any, to be accepted.

Now, sir, I have done. I know that the judges at the last exhibition were as nearly correct as judges are ever likely to be, and unless the grumblers at their awards are prepared to accept my proposals let them forever after hold their peace.

JOHN LEYS.

There is danger in neglecting a cold. Many who have died of consumption dated their troubles from exposure, followed by a cold which settled on their lungs, and in a short time they were beyond the skill of the best physician. Had they used Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup before it was too late, their lives would have been spared. This medicine has no equal for curing coughs, colds and all affections of the throat and lungs.

RISING TOWN

This property is beautifully located in the western part of the town within 2 of a mile from the Ship Canal and 2 mile from the Water Powes Canal (which latter will be completed during the summer of 1889), and will undoubtedly increase in value very rapidly as during the next 3 years over 1000 men will be steadily employed on Public Works alone, and as these are the most desirable lots that can be acquired anywhere, near the canals, they will be sought after by the employed many of whom will build or rent houses. The savantages of the "Soo" are too well known to require any enlargements upon and few new doubt its almost immediate advancement to the ranks of a city. Land at the American Sault, situated in the same relative position to their canal as these lots are to our canal is selling as high as $50 per foot. A boom like that on our side means a fortune to any purchaser at this saile.

Plans of the property can be seen at our office and full particulars obtained.
