

Books That Will Interest You

Bi-Centenary Edition, 1703-1903

The Heart of John Wesley's Journal. By Percy Livingston Parker. Introduction by Hugh Price Hughes. Appreciation by Augustine Birrell. Illustrated, 8vo. $1.50, net.

There is no book in existence that gives so exact and vivid a picture of the Eighteenth Century England as this record Wesley kept of his daily experiences. It is a work of astonishing interest, ranking in permanent historical value with Pepys' Diary or Newman's Apologia. As heretofore published the Journal filled four volumes, a prohibitive bulk that Mr. Parker, with scholarly editing, has condensed to this single cover.

The Life of Joseph Parker. By Rev. William Adamson, D.D. His lifelong friend. Fully Illustrated. Large 8vo, cloth. $1.75, net.

"Like Beecher and Spurgeon, Joseph Parker swayed men by the genius of eloquence. His life is replete with incident, and covers an amazing energy and industry. Mr. Adamson is a sympathetic biographer."—Commercial Advertiser.

"An admirable, thrilling sketch of the man in his environment. It contributes fresh material for the history of the times."—The Congregationalist.

The Teachings of Jesus Concerning Wealth. By Gerald D. Heuer. Studied in the light of His environment and compared with His contemporaries. Introduction by Herrick Johnson, D.D.

12mo, cloth. 75 cents, net.

A distinct contribution to Christological literature. Clear, vivid and forceful, and, above all, it is timely.

The Spiritual Life. Studies in the Science of Religion. By Prof. George Albert Coe.

12mo, cloth, $1.00.

"As free from prepossession, and as careful in the recognition of all the accessible facts as any piece of work done in the chemical or physical laboratory."—Sunday School Times.

Studies in Christian Character, Work and Experience.

By Rev. William L. Watkinson. Author of "The Blind Spot," "The Bane and the Antidote," etc. 2 vols. 16mo, cloth. Gilt top. Each, $1.00, net.

"This author has what this poor world needs—vision."—Newell Dwight Hillis.

"Mr. Watkinson excels in apt illustration of his themes, and shows an uncommon power of drawing fresh and instructive lessons from familiar texts."—The Outlook.

Methods of Bible Study. By Griffith Thomas, B.D.

12mo, cloth. 50 cents, net.

Dr. Thomas outlines as clear as sunlight, a plan of study that will enable a student to concentrate his efforts on a line of work that cannot fail to produce definite results.

The Workingman and Social Progress. By Charles Stelzle.

12mo, cloth. 75 cents, net.

The chapters treated include "The Workingman and His Environment," "The Saloon," "The Leader," "Shop Ethics," etc.

Individual Prayer as a Working Force. By Rev.

David Gregg, D.D., Pastor of Lafayette Avenue Presbyterian Church, Brooklyn. 16mo, cloth. 60 cents, net.

Dr. Gregg presents a telling exposition and a timely one. He draws his conclusions from the Biblical biographies of Abraham, Paul, Jesus and the life of Christ in his followers and the church, and applies them to the Christian of to-day.

The Sunday School Teacher.

By Prof. H. M. Hamill, D.D. A Practical Manual. 16mo, cloth, 50 cents.

This book relates more especially to the practical work of the Sunday School. The author, a teacher of day school training and of wide experience in executive Sunday School work, has kept steadily in mind that the Sunday School teacher covets and needs the art rather than the science of teaching.
