wounded him. The elephant knelt, some soldiers approached and took the boy-king off, and sent him to his mother. The elephant was then forced to rise, and when the animal stood up, several shots were fired at Jowahir Singh, who was still on its back. The affrighted Wuzeer attempted to parley, and made great promises, but the soldiers were irritated at the reported death, by one of the Wuzeer's agents, of Peshora Singh, and they speedily killed the Wuzeer. Two of his favourites were soon after slain, and the three bodies were burned. The queennother and her son, the king, remained prisoners in the camp for one night, but were permitted on the following day to return to the palace. The troops wish Gholab Singh should become Wuzeer, but he has declined the dangerous honour. They are dewildered as to whom to trust the Government to, and they have been obliged to request the queen-mother to perform the duty until they can find a man that will satisfy their demands. They have several times threatened to depose Dhuleep, (whose cy as the son of old Runjeet they stoutly deny), and to raise Dewa Singh, a son of Shere Singh, to the throne. of the sources of their hatred to Jowahir Singh is stated to be a rumour, which was believed, that he had applied for aid to the British Government of India. It is said, that this atrocity mmitted by the Sikh soldiers is calculated to have some influence on the decision of the Governor General, who was to have reached Agra on the 20th of October.

MEMORIAL TO LORD METCALFE. - We understand it is alemorial to Lord Metroaler. — We understand the intention of the friends and supporters of Lord Metcalfe, forthwith to commence a subscription, to erect some memorial or record of the estimation in which he is held. We are gratified to learn the fact, and so will the country be. — Montreal Heavil?

We trust that this will be done without delay. With the feeling which animates the country, thousands of pounds would be collected. All that is required is, that steps should be taken to organize a Committee. If this were done in Montreal, we are certain that there is hardly a district in the Province in which the example would not be followed.—Montreal Transsering.

THE LATE LIEUT. COL. ELLIOT.—This distinguished geneman and officer was seized with paralysis on the 6th instant, soon after he had performed his invariable custom of reading morning prayer. In a few days he partially recovered from the attack, so much so indeed as to give hopes that his valuable life would be spared, but a relapse occurred on the 16th, which terminated fatally on the evening of the succeeding day.

On reference to the Army List, we find that this lamented officer has been in the service from his boyhood. He entered as Ensign on the 26th September, 1807, and has ever since been actively employed with the execution of been actively employed, with the exception of a year and a half, during which he was upon half-pay. He served in the Peninsula with the 29th Regiment, and was present at the battle of Vimiera, passage of the Douro and capture of Oporto, battles of Talavera and Busaco, first siege of Badajoz, and battle of Albuera. He served also in America in 1814, and was present at the captures of the Penobscot, Castine and Machias. When the Royal Canadian Rifle Regiment was embodied, he was appointed its commanding officer; and the difficult duty of organizing it could hardly have been placed in firmer or abler hands. The high state of discipline to which the regiment has attained is the fruit of his unceasing watchfulness, of his untir-ing labours. The service has sustained a heavy loss in the departure of one who was ever ready to use his power for their

His remains were interred in the burial-ground of St. Mark's Church, on Saturday last. The procession was an imposing one. At its head marched the firing-party of upwards of 150 men, with arms reversed, followed by the band playing "The David March 150 men, a sleich containing the Dead March in Saul." Then came a sleigh containing the coffin, the pall borne by six officers of the Royal Canadian Rifle Regiment, followed by the chief mourners—the two sons of the deceased, supported by the Rev. Thomas Creen; Lieut. Fitzgerald, a connexion of the family; the medical officers of the regiment, accompanied by Dr. Lowe; the charger of the deceased, covered with black cloth and led by two orderlies; the Staff and Staff, and a long concourse of civilians. The shops were closed stan, and a long concourse of civilians. The shops were closed as a token of the regret universally felt, and it was gratifying to observe the American flag on Fort Niagara at half-mast; we understand that the officers at that post were only prevented by the large quantity of ice in the river from being personally

With these effective aids, travelling could be made as expeditious and as cheap, as in any other portion of her Majesty's dominions; and these roads we shall probably live to see constructed.— British Whig. COMMON SCHOOL TEACHERS .- The folly of allowing American Common School-masters to instil republican prejudices into the minds of Canadian children simultaneously with their daily tasks has at last received a check, and no alien can be legally appointed Common School Teacher after the 1st January next. This step should have been taken years since, and better condition. There is one thing yet wanting to cleanse common schools from the accumulated nuisances of republicanism—it will be of little use removing republican teachers unless republican school books are banished from every common school throughout the country. This is a subject deserving the attention of every one British in feeling, and desirous that the youth of Canada should be so likewise.—Woodstock Monarch.

THE NAVIGATION of the Gulf of St. Lawrence this year has been most disastrous. Six fine vessels have been wrecked on outward voyages. The aggregate amount of produce, constituting their cargoes, which has been lost is 18,548 bushels of wheat, 9,803 barrels of flour, and 836 tubs of butter. The last vessel which left Quebec this season was the Laurel—she is a vessel which left Quebec this season was the Laurel—she is a total wreck. Mr. Brady, on his way up from visiting the wreck, states, that four men had been frozen to death at St. Jean Port Joli. They landed from a schooner that had put into that place during the night: one of them had left the others on the beach, in search of houses, to procure assistance; but overcome by cold and fatigue, he had laid down and perished.
The other three were found on the beach. One of them is said to be a wealthy farmer of St. Anne. - Examiner.

By the American papers we are informed that on the occa-sion of the blockade of Buenos Ayres being declared by the British and French Plenipotentiaries, the United States diploby the order, it is surmised, of the Government at Washington, for the purpose of giving a pretext for any demand which might be hereafter made on the score of damages sustained by

This is a new feature in the state of public affairs. The ed States by their representative protest against the inter-nce of France and England in the affairs of two petty States, who have for years been endangering the peace as well as the commercial security of the world by their sanguinary brawls and cut-throat conflicts, because, forsooth, the trading interests of the United States may be injured during the time the pacific intervention of the above named powers is in operation. Instead of entertaining a prospective view to their own interests in this matter, common humanity alone ought to prompt a cordial cooperation with the European powers in preventing a continuance of this disgusting warfare. The New York Commercial Advertiser, in arguing the propriety of this protest on the part of the United States, maintains that intervention is in most cases more injurious to commerce than the continuance of war, and very coolly acknowledges that although great inhumanity has been perpetrated by these South American warriors, yet, on the whole, the war has been more profitable than otherwise.

We have no doubt that this latter consideration has had no small effect in producing the protest. The Advertiser winds up by modestly suggesting, as a salvo for this grievance, that the precedent thus established by England and France would he of advantage to the United States government fifty years ice, when being the mightiest nation on the face of the earth, she would be able to prevent war, not only in America, but over the entire Continent of Europe. -Kingston Chronicle. We were yesterday shown a diagram of the town of Dresden, drawn by Mr Richard Parr, and executed in a manner equally to that gentleman, and to the profession. town of Dresden is situated at the head of navigation, on the east branch of the river Sydenham, in the township is 11 miles from the town of Wallaceburgh, on the forks of the river Sydenham, and some 15 miles from the town of Chatham the location is extremely healthy, and possesses the advantage of having a well settled country around it. The position offers ntages to the young mechanic, and the proprietors, Messrs. Vanallens, desirous of obtaining certain respectable persons connected with the various handicrafts, most liberally offer to offer to present to any such individual, a free gift of a building lot, providing the person shall become an actual settler, those who are acquainted with the fertility of the soil, and the vast quantities of valuable timber which surround this stream, will not think we say too much, when we say the town of Dresden will one day be a place of no little importance. We would here remark, that the introduction of steam propellers into the waters of the W several parts of the country, is a strong indication of our pros-perity, the names of Morpeth and Wardsville are getting quite familiar to our ears, and much more so to the farmers, who have already learned that the price of both wheat and pork is higher at either of these places than at Chatham, this is a truth and sorry we are to avow it, but duty compels us, the agricul-tural interest is the predominant one, and here we see and feel the effect of neighbouring towns, vieing with each other in obtaining the trade of the country, what is their gain is our loss, and will be so until we adopt a system to counteract it, and this system will reduce prices to their proper level, both on our own staple and foreign produce, the farmer has too long been hood winked, his industry has been too slightly rewarded, he feels it, and we may rest assured that he will seek that market which offers the highest premium, - Chatham Gleaner.

We were much gratified the other day on viewing a piece of machinery recently completed and in operation at Thomas Kirkpatrick, Esq.'s, for the purpose of drawing water from the Lake to Mr. K.'s Dwelling house; and as the good people of Kingston, have long and loudly complained of the want of good water, we feel that we shall be doing them a service by drawing public attention to the complete success which has crowned the efforts of the ingenious artist who has done so much for Mr. Kirkpatrick, in order that the authorities of the town may be induced to avail themselves of his services for the benefit of its inhabitants. On inquiry we found that Mr. Kirkpatrick's Dwelling house 467 feet distant from, and 41 feet above the level of the Lake; at 300 feet from, and 31 above the level of the Lake there is a Force Pump fixed in a Frost proof building worked by a rotary motion, and the water is brought to this point from the Lake by forming a vacuum 300 feet in length in a metal pipe of 13 inch bore. From thence it is forced the remaining 167 feet to the Kitchen of the Dwelling-House where it supplies a large filtering cistern—thence it is forced to the top of the Building and this another elstern to supply the upper rooms and water closets, and which in case of fire would be of great service. The metal pipe is carried some distance into the Lake, the object being to secure an unlimited supply

We sympathize with the sufferers, but the inhabitants of Port Stanley have cause to rejoice that the fire extended no farther. This fire, we consider, will render the property in the store-houses more safe, as the building was directly opposite to them, and they only escaped conflagration through the activity of the inhabitants. The portable engines, we are told, were of much service in preventing the fire from spreading.—St. Thomas Standard.

Our readers will have seen that we have ourselves arrived at the conclusion, from circumstancial evidence, that war, as a consequence of the tone of the Executive Annual Expose to Congress, is not within the contemplation or calculation of the President; the correctness of which conclusion the Govern-

DISGUSTING OUTRAGE. - A general sensation of disgust It was soon discovered that four persons were seriously injured, and wheat contained in the Mill.

The fire from the Woollen Factory had in the meantime extended to the roof and side of the Saw Mill adjoining the factory on the West. This mill has been recently leased to an enterprising American, N. W. Lister, Esq., of Syracuse, N. Y., who had made extensive repairs thereon, by the addition of new wheels and gearing, making it the most perfect saw-mill into the District. The Engines were withdrawn from the Grist Mill and travel areas the sawer mill into in time to save it.

and did all that men could do. The loss by this fire to different parties has, we regret to say, been very severe. Mr. Reed's loss is estimated at £1,000. The factory, with Carding machines and other machinery, wool cloth &c. would make the loss to bis action of the second several makes the loss to bis action.

Factory, which caused sparks to communicate with the oiled wool.—Belleville Chronicle. FIRE AT PORT STANLEY.—The house belonging to the estate of the deceased Thomas Hutchison, Esq., occupied by James Adkins as a Tavern, was on Sunday night consumed by fire. Mr. John Bostwick, who was on the roof of the adjoining tavern, spreading wet blankets, slipt from the top, and would have been killed, had he not caught hold of the eave-trough in his descent. Mr. Gregory, we are also informed, escaped in United States.
