

Lynn Park Gardens

You Should Buy Lynn Park Gardens

TO=DAY

Land 400 or 500 miles from Vancouver in the Kootenay or Okanagan Districts costs over $300 an acre—just what we are asking for this Vancouver property. A few years ago acreage at Central Park could have been purchased at $300 per acre. Now it is hard to secure at $3,000.

Now there can be no reason, and there is no reason, why Lynn Park Gardens should not be worth as much as Central Park within two years' time.

Lynn Park Gardens have a soil equal to anything in British Columbia; the land is free from stone and level. It is only four and one-half miles due north of the projected Second Narrows bridge across Burrard Inlet. Seymour River bounds the
