

SIDNEY A. FREIFELD

Mr. Freifeld was born in Toronto on September 2, 1910 and graduated from the University of Toronto in 1932. He studied at the London School of Economics from 1932-34, at the Institut International d'Epargne, Milan in 1935 and at the International Institute of Agriculture, Rome in 1936.

In 1937, Mr. Freifeld became the Rome correspondent for the "New York Herald Tribune", and in 1938 the New York correspondent for the "Toronto Daily Star". From 1939 until 1941, he served as Press Officer to the American Jewish Committee in New York. In 1942 he joined the U.S. Office of War Information, and then later in the year the Wartime Information Board, and the Canadian Information Service.

Mr. Freifeld joined the Department of External Affairs in 1947 and served concurrently as Information Officer to the Consulate General and to the Canadian Permanent Delegation to the United Nations in New York until 1951 when he returned to Ottawa. In 1955 he was posted to Mexico City as First Secretary and in 1958 to Dublin, where he became Counsellor in 1960. He attended the National Defence College in Kingston in 1961, returning to Ottawa the following year, and in 1964 was appointed Counsellor to the Canadian Permanent Mission to the United Nations.

Mr. Freifeld is married to the former Crenia Sandler and has two children.

CHARLES STURDY GADD

Mr. Gadd was born in Fort Frances, Ontario on November 23, 1915 and graduated from Carleton College in 1953.

After serving in the Canadian Army from 1940-47, Mr. Gadd joined the Department of External Affairs while in Berlin and has subsequently served in Bonn, Bogota, Havana and Djakarta where he became First Secretary in 1961. In 1963 he was transferred to Port of Spain, returning to Ottawa in 1963. He is currently Deputy Head of the Transport, Communications and Energy Division of the Office of Economic Affairs.

Mr. Gadd is married to the former Ann Houston and has two children.