

at that time and which has been developing since to a tremendous degree both at sea and on land.

We have to stand in awe before the remarkable technological development which has taken place whereby ships are racing across the seas to deliver to unit crates which are racing across the land. This will alter our shipping requirements, and we in Canada want to be modern. I would like to see this report released, though we would be obliged to remove from it certain information given in confidence by firms concerned.

Proceedings on Adjournment Motion

Motion agreed to and the House adjourned at 10.30 p.m.

---