tional Manufactury constantly kept up in bigb Credit.

IV. Their excellent Roads, their navigable Rivers and Canals, are of fingular Advantage to their Trade.—Their great Roads are always in good Order, and always carried on in a fireight Line, where the Nature of the Ground will permit; and made at a most prodigious Expence; each Province being obliged to make and repair their own Roads. And yet there is no Expence for Turnpikes from one End of the Kingdom to the other.

THEIR Rivers are indeed, for the most Part, the Work of Nature: the Seine, the Loire, the Garonne, and the Rhone, with all the Rivers which fall into them, help to carry on a Communication with most of the great Cities of the Kingdom.

BUT their Canals are their own proper Praife; and equally deferving Admiration on Account of their Grandeur and Contrivance, as for their Ufefulnefs to Trade, in lowering the Price of Carriage. Among thefe, that of Languedoc, and the two Canals of Orleans and Briare, are worthy to be particularly mentioned. By means of the former, a Communication is opened between Bourdeaux and Marfeilles, between the Ocean and the Mediterranean, without paffing through the Streights of Gibraltar,
