
ADVERTISEMENT.

IN order to make the expense of printing as cheap as possible, I have omitted to put down chapter and verse, when I have used the words of scripture. And I have also omitted the names of those authors, to whom I am indebted for various observations.

If what is said is truth ;—that is all any person can want. If it is not truth, it ought not to be received, although it were recommended by an author of the first character.
