

Prince Royal Black Foxes, Ltd.

of one litter of any female in Prince Edward Island. This female is mated with a high grade Tuplin Fox. This pair of foxes are being ranched in the Dinnis Ranch, near Charlottetown; and this ranch has the reputation of producing the largest average of pups of any ranch on Prince Edward Island.

The pair B are an exceedingly fine pair of high grade foxes. The male is of the Oulton stock, from the original Oulton Ranch at Alberton, P. E. I., and his mother ^{his relatives} littered the pups whose pelts sold on the London market in 1910 for the record prices of £500, £530, and £540, respectively, for each pelt.

The female is from the stock of F. Tuplin, whose foxes are noted for their productiveness.

This pair produced in the spring of 1913 five pups, which is above the average of production.

The Pair C.—The male is a two-year-old fox of the Tuplin strain, and the female is a 1913 fox from the pure Oulton stock, and a relative of the male in pair B, which has the highest quality of fur and best blood on Prince Edward Island.
