

FIRST NIGHTS AT TORONTO THEATRES

NEW HENRIETTA
A FEAST OF FUN

Wm. H. Crane and Amelia Bingham Scored a Great Success.

AN ALL-STAR CAST

Sparkling Dialog and Diversity of Character Are Strong Features.

No one would suspect that "The New Henrietta" was the work of a generation ago, who saw it last night at the Princess, brought up to date and modernized and with a company which has had no superior in Toronto during the past season. There are some things that cannot be done better or improved upon, and Bronson Howard's plays are among them. For plot and story, for lively incident and diversity of character, for sparkling dialog and dramatic situations, for kindness of heart and effective love making, there is nothing to beat them, and in "The New Henrietta" all these are at their best. The central interest turns on a big stock-broking deal. The theme may have been handled with greater attention to technical probabilities, but never to greater dramatic and comedy advantage than in Van Alstyne's office, when the old bull recovers his holdings in a bear panic. W. H. Crane—"Billy" Crane—took the part of the old stock broker in splendid fashion and enlisted the sympathy and the laughter of the audience from the start. As the play proceeded it became evident that Mr. Crane could give a lifelike stage portrait of a certain provincial premier, if anyone were clever enough to embody him in a play. Mr. Crane's only rival on the stage was Douglas Fairbanks, who, as Bertie, presented a study as laughable and as likeable as anything of the sort that has ever been created. "I'm good," he confesses to Agnes, "I never told anyone before. I've tried. I've tried hard. There's not one wicked thing I can do. I still say the prayers my mother taught me every morning before I go to bed." The roars of laughter that follow almost every word of his remarks are evidence of his ingenuous stupidity. He is the happy means of saving the family fortunes with the help of Musgrave, the private secretary, humorously played by Malcolm Bradley. The villain of the piece, Mark Turner, is most capably portrayed by Lytster Chambers, who makes the disagreeable personality life. Halbert W. Brown is excellent as the fashionable New York clergyman, and Edward Zoland, Arthur S. Hall, J. H. Huntley and Bud Woodthorpe are all up to the high standard of the cast. Of the ladies, Miss Agnes Bingham as Mrs. Opeyke, the society widow, brings the very atmosphere of the "four hundred" with her, and plays with rich humor in the last two acts. Miss Patricia Collinge as Agnes is a charming ingenue, and deserves nothing from the fun of Bertie's love-making. Her scene in bridal costume, when the old stock broker melts to his "little riddle," is delightful. Mrs. Eileen Errol was charming as Rose Turner and Miss Keffe Tibbity made the most of a small part. The players give the performance the thorough quality of the performance. The staging was exceptionally handsome, the fine reception room, with other rooms, being back, all richly furnished, being quite metropolitan in costly detail. The clean ball, the very cordial, especially after the great third act climax. It is a feast of fun.
