Sunday World Features

Sept. 19, 20 Oct. 4 the second instalment of the serial ctory, "Buried Alive," by Arnold Bennest, a story of thrilling interest, which should be read from the beginning. Begin now. Another of O. Henry's charming short expectations. Some real excellent specimens of work have been sub-Toronto Summer Girl, which will appear this week.

We emphasize this week's flotion department. We are running es is given this week. It is entitled "Modern Rural Sports," and Mke all of O. Henry's yarns, it compels interest from the start. The Sunday World Embroidery Contest is closed. Owing to the absence of one of the judges we are unable to announce the winners for a few days. The success of this competition has been beyond our mitted . The patterns will continue to appear in The Sunday World. All the regular departments are maintained at their usual standard of excellence. This includes Kit's breezy column of comment and opinion, with correspondence; departments for musical people, mo orists, book readers; a woman's page; a page of humor; comment on affairs of the day, by H. J. P. Good; Mr. Albert Ernest Stafford's sections. Artist Lou Skuce has given us a striking picture of the
