LADIES' QUARTET PLEASES SOLDIERS

One of the big hits of the evening was the "Kitchen Quartet," the clever performers producing excellent harmonies by the manipulation of such novel instruments as teapots, tin pans, baking mugs, bread casters, egg beaters, potato mashers, etc.

Miss Newbury and Miss Metcalfe, readers, were repeatedly encored, Miss Newbury's rendition of "Dora" and "On the Old Porch," and Miss Metcalfe's imitation of grand opera being especially deserving of mention.

The audience was indebted to Mr. Spettigue for arranging the concert.

The board of control will hold a special session on Monday morning to discuss with the London Railway Commission the question of giving a switch to Beattle Brothers' factory in Chelsea Green.

The board will also take up the matspettigue for arranging the concert.

Proud of His City's Contribution of $12,000.

LISTS TO BE PUBLISHED

Names of All Contributors in Two Tory Tickets Likely To Be Last Campaign Soon To Be Announced.

The names of more than 13,000 subscribers to the local patriotic and Red Cross fund will appear in the lists which will be published for distribution in the course of a few weeks, the contributions ranging from 5 cents to $10,-000

A man from an American city of some 80,000 residents was here a day or so ago investigating methods adopted in Canada for raising patriotic funds. Telling of the reorganization and putting of Red Cross work on a big war basis in his own town he mentioned the splendid success met in a Red Cross membership campaign at $1 per member. "We raised $12,000 for our Red Cross in this way," he proudly announced. He was more than amazed when, inquiring what had been done in London, he was told that this city in a fixed days' campaign had raised something over $350,000 for patriotic fund and Red Cross purposes for one year, in addition to raising large amounts for other objects, such as the British and French Red Cross, Belgian and Serbian Relief. Soldiers' Comforts, etc.

HORSES BOLT AND FATHER AND SON

Jack Anderson, a farmer living on the 3rd concession London Township, and his small son had an exciting few minutes Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock when a team of horses driven by Mr. Anderson took fright at a passing motor car on Talbot street near Dundas.

The team bolted down Talbot street and swerved into an automobile at the corner of King street, ripping off the mud guards. The horses were finally turned into the front of the Massey-Harris building, one animal falling down on the sidewalk. Mr. Anderson was thrown out and hurt his hand, while his son was picked up with but a few scratches and bruises from underneath the wagon box that had turned over on him. Broken harness constituted the only damage done.

Robert J. Webster looked after the transportation arrangements, the printing, and the like. He did his work well. The transportation was furnished by the London Railway Commission.

Pte. Jack Cunliffe, secretary of the Great War Veterans' Association, was responsible for getting the men from the Convalescent Hospital to the trains and he had the work well in hand at all times. The boys got back at an early hour, tired but well pleased:

"It was a fine picnic, and the arrangements were perfect," said Mr. Cunliffe.

RALLY AROUND CHIEF

WOMEN AT FRONT IN LARGE NUMBERS.

Wear Khaki With Knickers, and Are Carefully Chaperoned.

British Headquarters in France, June 30—(By Mail).—The feminine section of the British army is growing larger day by day. Khaki-clad young women, at first confined to the Red Cross section of the field army, are rapidly pushing into many departments of army activity, displacing men who in turn are passed along to work nearer the front-line trenches.

Every boat coming from England brings new companies of women workers. At first their work was mostly at the remote bases, but now they may be found working further and further afield, sometimes indeed within hearing distance of the guns. In the clerical departments at the chief bases, women have very largely displaced men. As chauffeurs, they are being employed by hundreds, not only on ambulances and light supply wagons, but also on heavy transport lorries, and with entire success.
