Christ's Ascension From Hades

Text: "He led forth a multitude of aptives and gave gifts unto them." phesians iv., 8). BOSTON, Mass., March 27.—Pastor tussell spoke to-day in Tremont temple. He said: As Christendom brates the resurrection of the Lord Jesus Christ, it is appropriate that our hearts and minds should intellievent commemorated. St. Paul laid great stress upon the resurrection of the dead, declaring that if there be no resurrection of the dead all those whom we counted as asleep would never have an awakening, and consenever have an awakening, and consequently would be as dead as are brute beasts. Note his emphatic statement to this effect (I Corinthians xv, 12-18). For here as elsewhere his words contradict the thought that the saintly dead pass immediately to giory and the unsaintly to purgatory or to eternal terture. al terture.

According to the Gospel of Christ, of which St. Paul declares that he was not ashamed, the dead are to be esteemed as tho they were asleep-at rest from all the commotion and turmoil and strife, ignorance and su-perstition and sin and trouble incident They have truly entered into rest, whether they were saints or sinners. When the time for their awakening shall have come in the millennial morning of Christ's reign of righteous-ness, surrounding conditions will be very different from what they are to-day, thank God! Then Satan will be bound, the Bible assures us (Revela-tion xx, 1-3), and the ignorance and which have for centuries marked his reign will gradually draw to a close, for the glorious Messiah-King will not trary, will be marked with the true the result will be, as foretold; namely, "Every knee shall bow and every confess to the glory of God"

Gradually the world will be brought to an Edenic condition, in harmony with the divine promise. Indeed, this work may be said to be already be-ginning. Already, by artesian wells and irrigation processes and highways of travel and good roads and intelligent cultivation of fields, the earth be-gins to bloom and the wilderness and solitary place to be glad, as foretold by Isalah the prophet (Isalah xxxv, 1). Under these blessed conditions "All that are in their graves shall hear the forth" (John v. 28, 29)-not all at once, but "every man in his own order" Corinthians xv, 23). The saintly believers, who alone are fully pleasing to God, will come forth in the first, or chief, or preferable, resurrectioncome forth perfect, on the spirit plane, like unto the angels and like unto their glorified Redeemer, to be His joint-heirs in His millennial kingdom and its great work of resuscitatinstructing and ruling and uplifting all the "groaning the earth (Romans viii, 22). Thus will be fulfilled God's promise to the spiritual seed of Abraham, "In thy seed shall all the families of the earth be blessed" (Galatians iii, 29). Gradually, after dealing with the living nations to some extent, the sleeping world will be awakened, "Every man in his own order" (I Corinthians xv. 23).

Our Lord assures us that all except the saintly few will come forth from the tomb that they may have a resurrection-a raising up out of sin and death conditions to righteousness, to the image of God that was lost by Adam; and that eventually, if willing and obedient, they will receive God's our Lord. But the rebellious under those favorable conditions, we are assured, will be cut off from life en-tirely in the Second Death (Acts ill,

In speaking of the world's resurrection our Redeemer designates it a resurrection by judgments (Rev. Ver. John v, 28, 29). Messiah's righteous judgments will then be abroad in the world. The light of knowledge will be as clear as the noon-day sun. Every good deed and endeavor will receive reward and every wilfully evil deed will receive chastisements, corrections, to the intent that they may learn the advantages of the way of holiness and go up thereon to life eternal, which the willing and obedient may reach by the close of the millen-

Thru the prophet Daniel, the Lord declares that many of the worldly who now sleep in the dust of the earth shall come forth unto shame and lasting contempt. We can readily realize the shame that will be theirs when the light of full knowledge shall prevall and all of their past shall stand revealed to themselves and to others in its true colors. We can well un-derstand that this will bring contempt to many now highly esteemed amongst men. But we can rejoice in the thought that the millennial kingdom then to be in power will deal graciouspunishment will be tempered with mercy; and gradually by their change of character the contemptible ones will cease to be contemptible. The transforming power of grace and Truth now operating in the church will be equally forceful then, operating upon the world of As perfection is gradually attained the shame of the imperfection will gradually abate, while all of the shameless will be destroyed in the Thus we see the divine purpose of the resurrection of the dead and our glorious hope, far different from all the fears that were taught us by the musty traditions of men, from the "dark ages." And thus we force of the apostle's words that if there be no resurrection of the dead our hope is vain, our faith is vain (I. Corinthians xv, 14-19). The apostle argues, "If the dead rise not," if that is an impossibility so far as the world in general is concerned, then it is an impossibility so far as Christ is concerned. And "if Christ he not risen," then all hope, all faith, is vain. And all preaching is not only fcolish, but worse. (See I Corinthians xv. 14). "But now is Christ risen from the dead and become the first fruits of them that slept." The mere awak-

A better translation reads, "Our Lord picture representing a great King as a conqueror returning from a victory over an opponent. The victor rode in

Thus the great Redeemer and Deliverer will not only present the saintly church blameless and irreproachable before the Father in love, but likewise will liberate all who will of Adam's race, now asleep and degraded. No wonder the Scriptures declare of the end of His triumphal procession, "He shall see of the travail of His soul and be satisfied (Isalah iv., 11). ccunted as resurrection except the full, complete raising up out of death. Our Lord was the "first that should rise from the dead" (Acts xxvi, 23), in this full sense. And He was a first fruits, or proof, that others still sleeping will come forth by divine power to be exercised by Him in the resurrection morning—the millennial morning. The church will be the next in order—she is to be the bride-consort of the great king and to participate with Him in His glorious work of uplifting the race which fell from the divine image into sin and death thru Father Adam. The redemption-price has been provided in the death

All the blessings which, in God's providence, are not coming to the church during this gospel age, and all the blessings that in the millenniol age will flow to natural Israel, "the rebellious also," and all the blessings that will flow thru Israel and its new covenant to all the families of the earth, proceed directly or indirectly from the great victory which our Lord Jesus gained over sin and death. Our text and context, as well as the Psalm from which the quotation is made, bears out this thought. It is because our Lord descended, because He left the heavenly glory, and because, in harmony with the Father's will, our Redeemer left the courts of heavenly glory and humbled himself to become a man, and then "humbled" become a man, and then "humbled himself to death, and even to the death Preaching on the Day of Pentecost, St. Peter declares that God raised Christ from the dead. Then in proof that this was the divine intention from the beginning, he quotes from the prophetic Psalm of David, "Thou shalt not leave my soul in hell." The Apostic's quotation (Acts ii 27) is in of the cross," that His exaltation came as a reward of His loyalty to the Father's will.

And in the divine plan it from the beginning, he quotes from the prophetic Psalm of David, "Thou shalt not leave my soul in hell." The Apostle's quotation (Acts ii, 27), is in the Greek, in which the word hell is hades. His quotation is from the Helical through the prophetic psalm of David, "Thou are reward, a blessing—His earthly body and nature and rights had not been forfeited thru disobedience—that He had the latter with all its privileges to bestow upon Adam's dead and dying race. He gave the merit of that sacrifice, first imputedly, on behalf of all desirous of walking in His steps of I am not stating this as something self-sacrifice even unto death, that new, altho I am confident that it these might be, in the Father's good is new to many of my hearers and to pleasure, counted as His members and pleasure, counted as His members and companions on the heavenly plane. many of the eighteen millions who will read my discourse in to-morrow morning's papers.
