ON MAKING FRIENDS.

Suggestions Useful to Those Wishing Permanent Relationships.
It is well to be genial to all, but one should be careful in the choice of friends. It is not a matter of numbers. A few friends, well chosen, are a joy for ever. A true friend is for life. Some young folks choose their friends because they are schoolmates, or in the same neighborhood or church, and when removing to other positions they drop them and find new friends. Higher reasons should govern the formation of lasting friendship.
Friendship is not of a mushroom quality, growing up in a few hours. Slowly formed friendships are likely to be permanent. A friend should be one you can love, trust, and respect. It takes time to know who may be trusted, who should be respected. It takes experience to tell the strength of one's professions of friendship. One should not, therefore, hastily divulge the secrets of one's heart in sudden friendship. Wait till tests have been made through adversity or other things that try men's souls.
Choose for a friend one whose character influences to better things, not one who is careless of right and wrong. Be faithful always to the right kind of a friend. To keep friends one must show one's self friendly. Never betray a confidence. Advise a friend with care, and listen to his advice with care. Help and comfort in time of need. Be a friend if you would have one—Milwaukee Journal.

THOUGHT CHILD WAS DYING

"Cholera Infantum"
DR. FOWLER'S
EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY
CURED HER

Mothers should look well after their children during the hot summer months, as this is the time of the year this trouble is most prevalent. It begins with a profuse diarrhoea, the stomach becomes irritated, vomiting and purging set in, and the child rapidly loses flesh, and becomes weak, prostrated and languid.
Mrs. R. A. Currell, Rosway, N. S., writes: "I can recommend most highly Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. A friend of mine whose little daughter was ill with cholera infantum was given up by the doctors. The little one's mother asked me to come in and see the child. I told her I had a bottle of 'Dr. Fowler's' and asked her if she would try it. When the bottle was half used the child was well. This cure was a miraculous one, for I thought the child was dying at the time."
There is nothing can take the place of Dr. Fowler's.
Do not accept a substitute, and thus endanger your life.
The original is 85c. per bottle, and put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

PROHIBITION ENTRY IN RACE FOR MAYOR IN NEW YORK ELECTION

Suffrage, Food, White Slavery, Harbor Improvement, and City Ownership, as Well as No Liquor

New York, Aug. 30.—Another mayoralty ticket has been put in the field, a combination Prohibition-Progressive ticket with candidates for mayor, controller, and president of the aldermen. The remnant of the Progressive Party has not yet gone over to the Republicans when the party virtually went out of existence last year because it failed to get a sufficient number of votes to get a place on the ballot threw in their lot with the Prohibitionists, hoping that the disgruntled Republicans and Democrats will line up with them.

The candidate for mayor is D. Leigh Colvin, vice-president of the National Temperance Council and an official of the Intercollegiate Prohibition Association. He was born in Ohio in 1880 and came to New York in 1905 to take a post-graduate course in Columbia University, where he received the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in the School of Political Science. He is the author of a treatise, "The Bismarck Principle in the New York Legislature," and an authority on the lawmaking system of New York State. John Robert Taylor, a member of the bar and patent lawyer, Dyer Taylor, 81 Nassau street, is the candidate for controller. He is state chairman of what is left of the Progressive organization. The candidate for president of the aldermen is William E. Moore, of Evergreen, L. I. He is a resident national prohibition as defined in the St. Louis platform, the platform on which the mayoralty fight will be fought. He is a member of the National Prohibition League, a former mayor of his town, a frugal, food conservation, white slavery, harbor improvement, education reform, municipal ownership of transit facilities and public utilities, efficiency and economy, and enforcement of the law. That the reform in the Tammany organization on the part of leaders who are dissatisfied with the ticket selected by Leader Charles F. Murphy is still active is shown when friends of Richard J. Delaney of the Fifth Assembly District started a movement to nominate a ticket in opposition to the Tammany candidate, David H. Kopt. Delaney is an undertaker and was an unsuccessful candidate for mayor four years ago. Although beaten, he ran 6,000 votes ahead of his ticket.

NEWS OF OUR SOLDIERS

Elbridge H. Gilmore, of Keswick Ridge, has received word that his youngest brother, Corporal Frank S. Gilmore, has been admitted to a hospital in France, suffering from gunshot wounds in the right thigh and ankle.
Private William Ingalls Fullerton, of Lower St. Mary's, who was reported killed in action recently, enlisted with the 102nd Battalion. He was a son of Mrs. William H. Sewell of Lower St. Mary's. Sylvanus Maher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Maher, of St. George's, has been killed in action; Hugh McGrath, also of St. George's, has been reported wounded; Roy Eldridge, of Beaver Harbor, and a young man named Bradford, of Black's Bay, are both reported wounded. The secretary of the committee on the part of the National Prohibition League, a former mayor of his town, a frugal, food conservation, white slavery, harbor improvement, education reform, municipal ownership of transit facilities and public utilities, efficiency and economy, and enforcement of the law. That the reform in the Tammany organization on the part of leaders who are dissatisfied with the ticket selected by Leader Charles F. Murphy is still active is shown when friends of Richard J. CORBETT TO TEACH SOLDIERS

Responding to an invitation of the War Department, James P. Corbett, once a heavyweight champion prizefighter, has accepted the chairmanship of the Committee on Athletic Instruction, which is to teach soldiers in the United States army cantonments how to box. The other members of the committee are Norman Selby (Kid McCoy), Mike Donovan of the New York Athletic Club, Richard Nelligan of Amherst College, and Robert Edgren of New York. The committee met in the office of Dr. Joseph R. Raycroft of Princeton University, who is ex-officio member of the committee and a member of the Commission on Training Camp Activities.

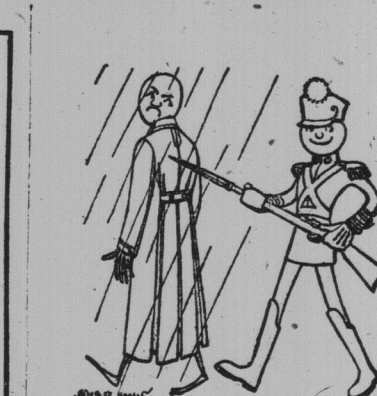

"Many of the movements in boxing are similar to those used in bayonet charges," Dr. Raycroft explained, "and for this reason the government feels that the best way to school the soldiers in bayonet drills is to teach them the tricks in boxing."
More than fifty famous boxers and boxing instructors will act under the direction of the committee and give instructions at the camp. Included in this group will be Benny Leonard, Johnny Dundee, Packey McFarland, Johnny Kilbane, Mike Fitzsimmons, Ted Lewis, Joe Chynski, Tommy Ryan, Abe Attell, Freddy Welsh, DeWitt Van Court, and others.

Motion pictures will be taken of Corbett and Selby going through the boxing movements of use in bayonet work, and these will be shown at the various camps and serve as a guide for the work of the pugilists.

WORK THE BEST TONIC.

London, Aug. 30.—G. M. Barnes, pension minister, in opening a hostel here provided for men who have been disabled in the war, declared that England was just beginning to find out that the problem of the disabled soldier was psychological as well as medical.

"We must ease," he said, "dosing men with stuff, which sometimes did them no good, and leaving them in hospitals where they may be irritated by the sight of and all that discipline meant, and let them go into the workshop where they can apply their hands and their skill, and lose the feeling that they are a burden to everybody."
