BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES

(McDougall & Cowans)

New York, April 10.—The market yesterday indicated nothing except that there was no liquidation. Several factors which were probably holding the market back were the impending steel wage advance and the cut in crude oil. The dragging market may rum for a while yet but by the end of this month there should be another move forward which will carry prices to new high levels. There has been no indication of the end of the bull market as yet and we do not expect it to new high levels. There has been no indication of the end of the bull market as yet and we do not expect it to sef years on every $100 invested, or $24 to $65 yearly appeals to you, write M.
