There are 26 patients now in the General Hospital, nearly all of whom are doing well.

Miss McLean was removed from the Merrill House to St. Joseph's hospital on Saturday.

John Mohun, of the C. P. R. hotel, continues to improve, and will leave the hospital this week.

Mrs. Robillard, Lansdown avenue, who suffered a paralytic stroke on Friday, is getting better.

to-day.

Dr. A. W. Thornton yesterday resigned his position as teacher of the Park street Methodist Bible class, owing to ill-health.

Rev. Wm. McDonald, in a sermon at London, said that dancing was one of the most contemptible of sins; that it was brutish animalism.

Yesterday Chief Young arrested Andrew McSherry, on a telegram from Ingersoll, where he is wanted on a charge of robbery. Chief Skirting took him away this morning.

There is nothing out of the ordinary routine of business to come up at the public library meeting on Wednesday evening, so far as known. New books are here for selection, and will soon be placed in circulation.

Beatrice Irene, infant daughter of

This is "Patriotic evening" at the Park St. Methodist Epworth League.
The Victoria Ave. League have accepted an invitation to spend the evening with them and, an excellent time is looked forward to. A good program has been prepared, in the course of which C. C. McPhee will give an address on "Our Faith."

The many patrons of the Hotel Rankin are to-day bestowing an elaborate welcome to the good Elder Chas. Rutley, who has returned to resume his duties as managing clerk. Among the preparations which signalize his welcome is the proposed re-organization of the earnest and eloquent Deacon's class.

Mrs. Wm. Nevills is now resting in comparative comfort after her very painful accident at the laundry. It is a marvel that every bone in the hand and arm were not crushed. Yesterday it was feared that amputation of the arm, the right, would be necessary and it is not yet known whether or not this fear is to be realized, though present prospects are that the arm will be saved.

THORN'S SIDE OF IT

How Mrs. Mack Murdered Wm.
Guldensuppe.

He Describes in Detail the Carving up and Disposal of the Body.

New York, Nov. 29.—In his evidence this is how Thorn says Guldensuppe was murdered:

"Augusta Mack planned and accomplished the murder. When I got to the Woodside cottage that Saturday morning she met me at the door and said: 'I have got Guldensuppe up stairs. He is dead. She had shot him in the face and stabbed him in the breast, she said. I was not even in the house at the time. I knew nothing of her purpose that day. She asked me to come to Woodside. She was afraid the saw would go through the wrong place in the body, but she finally got the right place. She mentioned at the time that it was a good thing she knew something about surgery, or else it would be impossible to get rid of the body properly.

"Before she cut the body up, the clothes were taken off. Afterwards the body was rolled up in the oilcloth and clothes that Mrs. Mack bought at Mrs.
Kluge's. They were taken over the place to get rid of the body. She arranged for the surrey drive and the throwing away of the pieces. She gave me the money to hire the surrey. She gave me the money to hire the Woodside cottage, where she said she was to start a place to treat women who were in trouble, and who wanted to keep quiet.

"She wanted to run a baby farm, too, so as to make lots of money. After we threw the head into the river and disposed of pieces of the body, as the papers have stated, she took Guldensuppe's clothes and burned them in a stove. It was nothing but my love for Mrs. Mack that got me into all this trouble. I helped her get rid of the dead body to shield her and to save her from being arrested.

LATEST NEWS

THE TUNNEL A DEATH TRAP.

Sarnia, Nov. 29.—An inquest will be held on the bodies of the men suffocated in the tunnel.

GREAT BRITAIN'S AWFUL STORM.

London, Nov. 29.—The greatest gale ever known on the English coast has been raging here for two days. Wrecks have occurred everywhere and the shores are strewn with bodies. The sea wall at Scarborough has been washed away; the quays and esplanades at Lowestoft, Yarmouth and other places have been destroyed. The loss to life and property everywhere is simply enormous.

THE MARKETS.

(Via L. J. Atwater's Private Wire.) Chicago, Nov. 29.—There was a weak market to-day, and this occurred in the face of a pretty general opinion at the close on Saturday that the chances were in favor of an appreciation in prices. General dullness of the trade was, perhaps, the most potent factor in the decline to-day, because, as exports were fairly large, and receipts at primary points, not as great as some had figured they would be, the natural effect should have been a steady market.

Friday's sharp bulge has scared a good many people who had been selling the bullish ones so that a good many trades that under ordinary circumstances would have been carried over Sunday were closed out, and not taken on again to-day. First Liverpool cable showed a shade of 3-4d, and the closing 1-3d lower than that, making the total drop for the day 11-16d.

Visible supply showed an increase of 948,000 bushels, which was twice as large as had been looked for. We shall need something very soon to cause more buying or the market will sag to a lower level.

Corn.—Liquidation in the December options assisted by weakness in wheat, caused corn to rule lower. There was a decrease of 1,283,000 in the visible supply. The demand from abroad shows strong indications of being strong. After the December liquidation is over prices will advance.

There was very little change in oats, the cause being a shade lower. Weakness in the other markets caused what little decline there was. The position of oats is very strong and we advise purchase.

Provisions ruled steady. What little trade there was consisted of changing over December contracts.

CROSSING THE EQUATOR.

The Unusually Experience of Mark Twain Upon That Occasion.

Speaking of Mark Twain's work, "Following the Equator," a reviewer says:
"Here is a bit from Mark Twain's diary which may prove interesting: 'Sept. 2.— Crossed the equator. In the distance it looked like a blue ribbon stretched across the ocean. Several passengers looked at it. We had no fool ceremonies, no fanfares, no hoarse yells. All that sort of thing has gone out. In old times a sailor dressed as a clown, and came in over the bows with his suit and latrine and shaved everybody who was crossing the equator for the first time, and then cleaned them from the paragon and ducking them three times in the sea.

"Sept. 3.—Sunday.—We are moving so nearly south that we cross only about two miles north of longitude a day. This morning we were in longitude 178 west from Greenwich and 57 degrees west from San Francisco. Tomorrow we shall be close to the center of the globe—the one hundred and eightieth degree west longitude and the one hundred and eightieth degree of east longitude.

"And then we must drop out a day—lose a day out of our lives, a day never to be found again. We shall all die one day earlier than from the beginning of time we were foredoomed to die. We shall be a day behindhand all through eternity.
We shall always be saying to the other angels, 'Fine day today,' and they will always answering: 'But it isn't today.
It's tomorrow.' We shall be in a state of confusion all the time and shall never know what true happiness is.

"Next Day.—Sure enough, it has happened. Yesterday it was Sept. 3, Sunday.
Today, per the bulletin boards at the head of the companion way, it is Sept. 10, Tuesday. There is something uncanny about it, and I am not comfortable. In fact, nearly unthinkable and wholly unrealizable when one comes to consider it. While we were crossing the one hundred and eightieth meridian it was Sunday in the stern of the ship where my family were, and Tuesday in the bow where I was. They were there eating the half of a fresh apple each, and I was the only one time eating the other half of it on the 10th, and I could notice how stale it was already. The family were the same age that they were when I left them five minutes before, but I was a day older now than I was then."—Detroit Free Press.

STRENGTH WAS RETURNED.

"My whole system was run down. I was so weak I could scarcely get around to do my work. I finally began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, and after using five bottles I found that my strength had returned and my appetite was better. I now feel as strong as ever." Mrs. Knolly, 9 1/2 Eglinton Avenue, Toronto, Ontario.
