dignity that is a factor in every-day life.

Co you know any friends radiate sunshine? Aren't the Public Gardens look ing lovely just new? We owe a great deal to Superintendent Pawer

Fashions just now are as fickle as the weather. Several pretty weddings next ocial items of interest and other pleasant happenings.

A noted author in one of his recen books asks. "Have you a grandmother! If not, you miss one of the most beautifu influences in your home that could pos-ably be there. One might almost say that no house is complete without one. Her ellver hair, her quiet voice and man-ner, her old-fashloned courtesy call for our deepest respect and admiration." One agrees with the statement. There is a dignity that goes with old age, and it is good to have that dignity a part of our eryday life. The very presence of everyday life. The very presence of a wonderful old lady in a room glorifies the room itself and makes the home complete indeed. Young people learn to express a natural courtesy and an amount of con-siderasion in her presence, and the youth-ful observance of these finer instincts stand them in good stead in after years. Yes, grandmothers are wonderfully useful and ornamental and are to be cherished accordingly. Be thankful if you have one. The tragic partof it is that we cannot keep

Some of us seem afraid to tell even our best friends, much less our own kindred, the pleasant compliments we my shave heard about them. I always tell every one I know all the pice things I hear bout them, said a woman the other day, You believed her, for she was one of those people who radiate sunshine. I don't think she needed others to advertise her friend's good qualities; she couldn't har-bor any but kindly, generous thoughts of the people she meets. She was one of those who pass on the good word.

Suppose you try it. For instance, suppose you give some one an unexpected brightening a whole day that might other wise have been without a rift in the clouds. Repeating pleasant things is surely a more desirable habit than the wretched one, so generally in practice, of retailing unpleasant things others have

The Public Gardens are looking very ttractive these beautiful June days. The band stand is being painted, and when fluished will look very handsome. The tulip beds have been replanted with ger aniums, which will soon be a mass of gay color, and all around the evironment is very charming indeed. Superintendent Power has certainly exquisite taste, and ence our beautiful Gardens are second to

In conversation with an qid and observant citizen he told me that we owe mos of our beautiful trees on South Park strees and in other parts of the city to Saperin tendent Power, and also that he is one of the most powerful allies of the Civic Improvement League. With his experi-ence he recognizes fully not only the artistic value of beautifying the sity, but how much it adds to the commercial side.

Common and who this year filled up the holes and levelled off the ball grounds on the Common that the players might have a better field for their games.

A keen lover of nature and what a facto it is in health, morals and education, Mr Power believes in spacious play grounds for the children, and speaks enthusias tically of those in Boston and the splend athods by which they are managed.

A specially energetic committee ladies are busily preparing for "Tag Day," to be held in two weeks, on Saturday June 28th, in aid of the supervised play grounds. It is a big work and means a tremendous amount of detail beforehand Those who give their services in the car

I understand that lots of young ladie are in demand to act as "taggere. order to arouse a spirit of emulation the when about $12,000 was collected in single day. Nearly all the society ladies in the capital gave their services as chaper, ones, while their daughters did the "tag-

In addition to the play-grounds the ladies of Halifax want to establish milk stations in the city so that mothers can get pure, clean milk for their babies dur ing the hot months. These will he set up in the congested districts and will mean much in keeping down the infant death rate. The funds collected on tag day are to be divided between the play-grounds and the milk stations. Surely the object is a worthy one and deserving of most enerous donation.

Footipassengers are not allowed much sideration with the pavement torn on both sides of Spring Garden d. One requires more than one pair of eyes to evade motors and various other vahicles passing in all directions to say nothing of the array of drays and carts

Fashion, which is as fickle as our Spring weather, is at the present time, so the latest Paris modistes tells us, making a desperate effort to design something en-tirely new and different. The latest model gowns are described as showing a deter mined tendency to get away from the modernization of historical costumes and to reach out to something quite new and

Creations are of course not perfected f a day, a month, or even a year sometimes. More frequently a novel gown will be tried on some actress noted for her popularity in the middle of the season. Probably the beginning of the next season the same model will be seen in the collections exhibited to the foreign buyers, a little modified and perfected, perhaps, but built on exactly the same lines. Fashion is a
