BAY SHORE, Aug. 1, 1904.

To the Editor of the Star:

Sir—In reference to paragraphs which have lately appeared in the daily papers stating that rowdyism had occurred at Sea Side Park last and the will welcome an early clean.

Fielding poured oil on the troubled waters by agreeing in part with the opposition leader's position, and Borden endorsed this view in that the best defence of Canada might be to sometimes strike a blow outside of our best defence of Canada might be to sometimes strike a blow outside of our best defence of Canada might be to sometimes strike a blow outside of our best defence of Canada might be to sometimes strike a blow outside of our best defence of Canada might be to sometimes strike a blow outside of our best defence of Canada might be to sometimes strike a blow outside of our best defence of Canada might be to sometimes strike a blow outside of our best defence of Canada might be to sometimes strike a blow outside of our best defence of Canada might be to sometimes strike a blow outside of our best defence of Canada might be to sometimes strike a blow outside of our best defence of Canada might be to sometimes strike a blow outside of our best defence of Canada might be to sometimes strike a blow outside of our best defence of Canada might be to sometimes strike a blow outside of our best defence of Canada might be to sometimes strike a blow outside of our best defence of Canada might be to sometimes strike a blow outside of our best defence of Canada might be to sometimes strike a blow outside of our best defence of Canada might be to sometimes strike a blow outside of our best defence of Canada might be to sometimes strike a blow outside of our best defence of Canada might be to sometimes strike a blow outside of our rential tariff question and welcome an early election, considered that he knows it must be considered that he knows false and malicious, and reflects diswhat he is talking about. If Fitzpatrick had a bad hour, the balance of the afternoon was still more severe on Sir Frederick Borden, when he brought up his militia bill changes, the opposition taking firm ground against the clause making the calling together of parliament necessary before the Canadian militia can be employed for the defence of Canada or ployed for the defence of Canada or the British Empire outside of the bor-ders of the dominion. That a man who makes such claims to broad statesmanship as Sir Wilfrid does could descend to the use of such vicious appeals, so calculated to work for the lasting injury of Canada, is almost incredible. But there are the words as they were and are being printed in the two leading papers in Quebec which are inspired and supported by the government of which Sir Wilfrid is head and front.
