CORONETS THAT ARE WORN BEHIND COUNTERS

Mr. Thornton Hall has written a most fascinating new book on the rise of the coronet-making industry, entitled "Roads to Riches," from which is given some interesting particulars of the rise of some of Britain's greatest families.

DRUG STORE TO DUKEDOM.

"The Duke of Northumberland traces his descent from centuries of Perceps; but his family tree also includes many a tough, hardy, and blood runs equally in his dual veins. It was Hugh Smithson, son of Alderman Smithson, yeoman of the lowest forefathers, who left the paternal farm to serve behind the counter of Ralph and William Robinson, haberdashers, in the seventeenth century; and, by his brains and industry, to wealth, in process of time, a trader, and a baronet, thus breaking his 'birth's ignoble bar.' From the haberdashery's apprentice descended, in the fifth generation, that other Hugh Smithson, who, as the story goes, was serving in a London druggist's shop when accident made him acquainted with the Lady Elizabeth Seymour, only child of Algernon, seventh Duke of Somerset, and representative of the long line of Perceps. How the Duke's daughter lost her heart and gave her hand to the druggist's assistant, and how this descendant of husbandmen blossomed into Earl Percy and Duke of Northumberland, is one of the most romantic of all strange stories.

QueensRink Thronged Last Night

EXCITING EVENTS

Several hundred persons assembled in the Queens Rink last evening and enjoyed the first indoor athletic meet of the season. The various events were keenly contested and the crowd was well pleased with the entire programme.

The Every Day Club team, under the captaincy of George Stubbs, captured the meet, securing in all 54 points. The Y. M. C. A. athletes were a close second, with 43 points, while the High School A. C. surprised the spectators by winning four first events and one second. Finley, W. Walsh, Cunningham and A. Smith were the stars of the High School boys.

The evening opened with the first heat of the 45 yards dash, which was captured by Garnet of the 'Clippers' A. C. by a good margin.

The second heat went to C. Brown, with Covey second. The final of this event was one of the most interesting races of the evening. Brown captured it with Covey second. Garnet finished a close third.

In the high as well as the broad jumps, Fred Finley had things his own way. He cleared the bar at 5 feet 4 inches in the high jump, and Melrose finished in second position. Finley defeated the other competitors nearly a foot in the high jump. His mark was 16.7.

The 220 yard intermediate was a closely contested event. H. Cunningham captured the first heat after a desperate struggle for the honor with R. Smith. In the second heat, Melrose finished in first position and McAllister second. The final of the event was one of the most interesting races of the evening. Cunningham showed considerable speed, crossing the line a winner by several yards.

A only had little difficulty in winning the shot put, throwing the ball 31.5.

Covey captured the two hundred and twenty and four hundred and forty yards in addition to finishing second in the forty-five yard race. He showed much of his old time speed.

Stubbs, Sterling and King divided the honors in the long distance races, the race was most interesting from start to finish. Sterling and King were the distance being done in 5.58 2.5. Smith was second and Gilbert of Rosedale third.

AMERICAN RACE TRACK GROOMS INVADE ENGLAND

Home Fields Not Profitable Now—Will be Closely Watched.

LONDON, April 17.—Scotland Yard has lately received particulars of a number of notorious American race course sharpshooters, who, owing to the restriction which have been placed on betting in their own country, have already arrived in England, and are now making their way as far as possible their movements will be shadowed closely, for the authorities have learned a lesson from the experience some years ago at the time of what was known as the "invasion" of American jockeys. On that occasion British race courses were infested with undesirable characters from the United States, who carried out a number of successful swindles.

Impure Blood Thoroughly Cleansed

Relieve of All Impurities Through the Use of Stuart's Calcium Tablets

The blood is a thick, opaque fluid of a rich, red hue in the arteries, and a purplish blue in the veins. It derives its color from numerous small bodies floating in it, which are called red corpuscles. If the blood is examined under a microscope the red corpuscles appear as thin, circular, disc-like, floating in a transparent, nearly colorless fluid.

These red corpuscles number 5,000,000 to the cubic centimeter; but it often happens that they become very much diminished in number, a condition known as anemia or leukoemia. There are also other circular bodies in the blood known as white corpuscles, which are much less numerous than the red.

The red corpuscles are the stimulant, and animating elements of the blood. They absorb oxygen in their passage through the lungs, and convey it to the tissues of the body, where, combining with food elements absorbed from the stomach, it evolves animal heat.

Whenever the kidneys fail to properly filter the blood of its impurities, or whenever constipation occurs, the foreign matter collects in the blood-current, is carried to all parts of the system in the circulation, and in the bloodiferous system in the form of pimples and other eruptions upon the skin.

Most of these eruptions appear upon the face, for the reason that the skin there is thinner than anywhere else. Many people commit the error of trying to cure the pimples or eruptions by the application of salves and lotions, which is a great mistake, as the cause of the trouble is deeper seated, and the skin disease is simply the outward manifestation of the impure condition of the blood.

Calcium Sulphide is the greatest blood purifier in existence. Instead of driving the blood impurities out through the pores, it sends them through the proper channels—the kidneys and intestines.

STUART'S CALCIUM WAFERS contain calcium sulphide combined with other powerful alternatives, and purify the blood, which act rapidly and powerfully upon the morbid products of the blood, expelling them completely, through the kidneys, bowels, skin, and other skin blemishes.

Call on your pharmacist and secure a trial bottle of this wonderful blood-cleansing remedy. Price 50 cents. Also write us for trial packages free. Address F. J. CHEENEY & CO., 175 Stuart Building, Marshall, Michigan.

H. C. TILLEY AGAIN HEAD

At the annual meeting of the Deacons' Institute last night there was a large attendance. R. Morton Smith presided. Reports were read from Daniel, H. C. Tilley, J. N. Rogers, secretary; J. W. Cassidy, treasurer, and S. L. Gorbek, manager. Also from F. W. Daniel, chairman of the building society, and Miss L. Lovett for the Ladies' Auxiliary.

The chairman in referring to the financial report stated the liabilities for the last year had been met and that the first contract had been completed. They had already paid about $12,000, but would require another three thousand to complete the building. What with the $1,000 promised by Lord Strathcona they would still require $2,000 more. He was pleased to say that the institute had gained the sympathy of the shipping world which had recognized the many benefits derived from its influence. Others also spoke upon the good work being done.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, H. C. Tilley; 1st vice-president, R. Morton Smith; 2nd vice-president, Thomas Graham; 3rd vice-president, F. W. ## OF HUMBLES ANCESTRY.

Godfrey Boleyn, a light-hearted and stout-hearted apprentice of a London merchant, who in turn had for grandaunt a more than Queen Elizabeth, was the first of the family of the Boleyns, who were of the noble strain of the Tudors. Godfrey fled to the city of London, and who was London's Chief Magistrate in 1462, was an honorable ancestor of the Earls of Denbigh; and the veteran Earl of Leicester comes basically from Thomas Coke, who used a yard measure in a city drapery shop, and who had to pay 25,000 of his hard-earned gold, by way of fee, to that rapacious monarch, Edward IV. Earl Brounlow has for an ancestor as also has Lord Onslow, Sir Samuel Fludyer, and the Earl of Warwick, who originally came to London from the West Country in charge of a team of cloth-making pack-horses, and who rose so high above his lowly origin as to find a second wife in the granddaughter of a nobleman and a niece of the Earl of Cardigan; while William Beckford, the descendant of a Maidenhead tailor, married his daughter to a Duke of Hamilton.

Missionaries frequently have good stories to tell of the sporting, as well as the more serious sides of life in the countries they visit. Of the early days of British East Africa a well-known missionary writes:

"In those days of African methods and laboring traveling, when the next train was two or three days behind us, famous bags were made, before the prohibition to shoot within two miles of the railway. If the passenger encountered at some station a man of lions having railed near at hand, guns would be seized and a start made in the direction indicated, whilst the train settled down for a rest, and it would be time enough to go on, and not difficult to make up lost time, on the return of the hunter. One Scotch engineer had one for his share a reputation as holding the record, having shot thirteen lions in four months. But the hunting was not at all on one side. It is recorded of those days that one man-eating lion which had for a long time terrorized the railway camp of Indian coolies, near Tavoa, was responsible for carrying off thirty-nine of his victims. ("These days" in this case were not very long ago; certainly within the last decade or so.) "Some months before our journey up-country a party had been out tracking lions, but returned towards evening unsuccessful, and settled themselves down in their carriages. Suddenly there was a great crash! One of the hunters leapt from the carriage, and, without a moment's warning, seized one of the hunters and sprang out again, leaving the poor fellow's companions alone in the carriage. The recollection of the incident was still vivid among officials along the line as we traveled down."

WON IN COMMERCE.

"And these are but a few of the coronets, the way to which has first been opened by prosperous tradesmen. Merely to enumerate all the titles which have been won directly or indirectly through commerce would be a formidable task. It must suffice to add that among others here has floated several families, such as those of Hindle, Burton and Ives, into the coveted haven of the Peerage; the Masham barony was created in a Birmingham factory; Lord Averbury and Aldenham owe their coronets largely to the bank counter; Lord Alington's path to purple lay over tennis-tables; Journalism has made Peers of Lords Burnham and Northcliffe;
