JULY 13.—Although the usual midsummer quiet prevails in society circles there was no lack of entertainment in town last week. First the summer school of science, the delegates of which are holding their annual meeting in Moneton this year were given a reception in the opera house on Thurreday evening and cordially welcomed to the city, Mayor Cole making the formal speech of welcome. The platform was occupied by Dr. Inch Chief Buperintendent of Education for New Brunswick, Dr. McKay who occupies the same important position in Nova Scotia, Dr. Balley of the University of New Brunswick, Principal Oulton of the Moneton schools, who is also president of the summer school of science, Rev. W. W. Lodge, Rev. W. B. Hinson, Rev. J. E. Brown, Mr. F. A. McCully-secretary and superintendent of the Moneton schools, Mr. D. Grant, C. W. Robinson, M. P. P. and other distinguished citizens. The evening was most enjoyably spent as the more serious business of the meeting was pleasantly interspersed with music, Prof. Watts orchestra rendering some fi e selections and Mr. and Miss Wetmore kindly favoring the audience with some delightful vocal music. Both were in excellent volce and Miss Wetmore's beautiful soprano was heard to great advantage and her selections much enjoyed. Addresses of welcome and replies were in order, and Dr. Inch, Dr. McKay, and Dr. Bailey expressed their warm appreciation of the cordial wel-ome which the delegates had received from the citizens of Moneton. Mayor Cole read a communication from the Y. M. C. A. Placing their rooms at the disposal of the members of the school during their stay and the meeting closed shortly after ten o'clock.

It was not until we came up to it and were on the TO THE ROOF point of stepping over it, that one of my Make Sure of Durable, Economical Protection, by Using Our Famous Eastlake Steel companions started back with a suppressed cry and signed to us to stop. We obeyed and none too soon; for there, lying Shingles. right across our path, was the eleeping body of a gigantic crocodile. Not a word was was spoken. Each silently raised his rifle and fired. The bullets glanced harmlessly off the hard scaly back, and in an instant the creature was on its feet, instant the creature was on its feet, with its enormoos jaws open to their widest extent. I was directly in front of it and shall never while life lasts forget the horror with which I looked right down into the creature's very gullet. Instinctively I let fly down its throat, whilst almost simultaneously the gentleman next to me aimed and struck it tull in the eye. That shot saved my life. The crocodile gave one spasmodic heave and fell dead. The body was preserved and is now in the Berlin Museum, where it may still be seen, and is considered one of the finest specimens ever caught.
